A Delightful Entertainment ment at SchoolMARKED CLOSE OF YEARFinal Exercises Will be Held Tonight

The opening night's entertainment in connection with the commencement exercises of the Sacred Heart parochial school was held last evening and was fully up to the high standard ever maintained by that successful institution.

Among the guests were Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., pastor and director of the school, whose careful preparation in its welfare has been a factor in its success; and his assistants, Rev. Frs. Robert Barrett, O. M. I., Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., and John O'Brien, O. M. I. This evening the guest of honor will be Very Rev. Fr. Fallon, O. M. I., provincial of the order.

The hall and stage were prettily decorated with the national colors with the front of the stage set off with potted palms.

Last evening's entertainment was by the younger pupils and the program was as follows:

When Softly Dawns the Golden Light,
Opening Hymn

Welcome to All.....Recitation
Little Misses L. Plunkett, A. Heaton, M. Kinnear.

Pantomime, Spring, Summer, Autumn, and the Flowers.

TO RHEUMATISM SUFFERERS.

Scientific Treatment That Costs Nothing Unless It Cures.

Neuralgic Anodyne's remarkable cures of rheumatism has probably caused more favorable talk and comment than any other rheumatism cure ever put on the market, as it seems untiring in curing this dread disease.

It is much more successful than ordinary rheumatism remedies, due to its action being entirely different. It is taken in small doses internally, reaching the nerve centers and driving the uric acid from the blood. At the same time, it is rubbed on the affected parts and thus its curative power goes through the pores of the skin to the aching tissues and throbbing nerves, giving quick relief and cure.

So reliable is the Anodyne in curing rheumatism, neuralgia, and all aches and pains that it is sold under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if not satisfactory.

A large-sized bottle costs 35c; nothing if it does not cure. It is made by The Twitchell-Chapman Co., Portland, Me.

There wasn't a week number in the entire program and the little ones showed careful training while artistic taste was displayed in selecting the program.

The pantomime, "Spring, Summer, Autumn and the Flowers," was a beautiful number, the flowers being 60 tots dressed in white and wearing wreaths of flowers. These, apparently, were asleep until five little girls dressed in grass green, representing spring, came on the stage singing spring songs, when the flowers slightly raised their heads. Then advanced five more girls dressed in green covered with flowers, representing summer, and singing, when the flowers rose and sang; autumn represented by five more girls dressed in green, covered with autumn leaves and wearing tinsel crowns to represent frost, came on the stage and sang, and the flowers drooped their heads, and fell asleep. One of the best numbers was the tableau, "Grandma's Birthday," with 40 little girls. In Miss Ethel Sheehan singing a sweet solo while she crowned grandma, in fact all the numbers were worthy of special praise, but special mention should be given Masters J. Harron, L. Rogers, P. Sharkey and G. Rogers, who took individual parts in the "Boys' Patriotic Operaetta."

Between the numbers there were artistic piano selections by the talented accompanists of the evening, Misses Helen Kerwin and Frances Parker. The program this evening will be given by the older pupils.

The Tabernacle society, which exhibited such excellent needlework Sunday in the vestibule of the church, is comprised of the following pupils: Augusta Barr, Mary Bassett, Elizabeth Bassett, Alice Belanger, Mary Craig, Rose A. STATE ARMORY

NOW SHOWS STATE AND NATIONAL COLORS.

According to the order of the governor both the state and national colors now grace the state armory in Westford street. The rule governing the locations of the flags require that the national flag be at the right and the state flag at the left of the main entrance coming out.

The state flag on the armory is 6x12 feet, and the national flag 9x15. They were raised June 17 and will be so daily hereafter.

Armorer Carr, speaking of the flags, said that the meaning of the Latin on the state seal had caused some discussion at the armory. The Latin reads: "Euse Petit Placatum sub Libertate Quietum," the translation reads in English: "With the sword she seeks calm peace under liberty."

RATIFICATION HOLIDAY.

CINCINNATI, June 23.—A general holiday for the day when William Howard Taft will be formally notified of his nomination as republican candidate for the presidency is planned by the local organizations. The celebration is to be entirely non-partisan.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

The theatrical season at the Lakeview theatre was opened last night and the presentation was the comedy drama "The College Girl." The Adam Gault company, which held the board down last year and will do likewise this year, told tales to excel its work of last year which was criticized only in the last chapter by theatrical writers.

"The College Girl" is somewhat similar to "The College Widow," but it is a better play, the favoring people at the present time favoring the lighter form of entertainment. The piece has to do with Gail Haddock, an under-graduate, as portrayed, and Billy Blunk, the coach of the football team at the Gardner College, who is a member of the present company. The piece presents features and attributes of present, everyday college life, and all in all, it is very entertaining.

Bessie Overton, who has many friends among Lowell theatregoers, made a pretty, pleasing, Gail Haddock, while Billy Blunk was one of those real, professional football coaches which we need to see more of. Billy perhaps dreamt of being a coach about mathematics and he thought that a little trick or two would keep football from end to end and that way be taken so important a part.

The last play presented on a Lowell stage, James L. Dempsey, who has presented the character of Gail Johnson, a postgraduate. Mr. Dempsey's efforts were especially pleasing to his friends. The success of the play was a comforting look ahead.

"The College Girl" will be given twice daily during the remainder of the week.

PRINCE OLAF.

Little Prince Olaf, the heir to the throne of Norway, is most popular with the mass of his subjects, and bids fair to make a fitting successor to his royal father. The little chap is as sturdy as any of the peasants who inhabit his future dominions. The Crown Prince was born on July 2, 1903, and will be five years of age in a short time. He was christened Alexander, but the Norwegians denominated that he be known officially as Prince Olaf, after a celebrated ruler of Norway centuries ago, and their wishes have been followed by King Haakon, a democrat and political ruler.

MAYOR FARNHAM

Charged With Ducking Appointment

PENSIONS FOR FIRE-MEN CRITICIZED

Ludicrous Example of System Exposed

The committee on ordinance and legislation met at the city hall last night and one of the members, Councilman Fred Welch, accused Mayor Farnham of "ducking" in the matter of appointing a successor to Engineer Salmon.

Mayor Farnham's recommendation that the membership of the board of fire engineers be reduced from four to three was turned down by the committee. Mayor Farnham says that the recommendation came originally from Fire Chief Hosmer.

Among other things the committee discussed the question of pensions for firemen and the committee members said they would like to get a bill at an ordinance which advances an engineer's pay from $100 which he receives while in active service to $150 when he's on the pension role.

Chief Hosmer informed the committee that the city had grown so large that permanent assistants should be appointed. He was not prepared to say, however, that there should be three permanent assistants at the present time, but he was not in favor of filling the vacancy now existing, for the reason that such action would have a tendency to check his plans for permanent assistant engineers.

Relative to Engineering Chief Hosmer said that the members were given a list of territory to cover. At the present time the first assistant, who is a permanent man, receives $1500 a year. A former Welch moved that the membership be reduced from four to three. It was stated that of the four assistant engineers, one has been a permanent man.

Algerman Welch's motion was not seconded.

Councilman Welch moved that the present ordinance be not changed. The question of a pension for the assistant engineers was discussed and the committee to a man declared that the ordinance which provides half of the first permanent assistant's pay for an assistant call engineer upon his retirement, should be changed.

Councilman Welch said the ordinance should not be changed. "Mayor Farnham is ducking on this thing," said Councilman Welch. "He's made so many promises that he can't fulfill them and now we ought to make him show his hand."

Councilman Dexter finally seconded the motion made by Councilman Welch which was put and carried, unanimously.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The members of the Betsey Ross Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., held an enjoyable social and supper last night at the residence of Sister Clark in Powell street. The company was entertained with refreshments by Sisters Clark, Washburn and Baldwin and recitation by Sister Clark's granddaughter, Gladys Colbourne. There were remarks by other sisters of the circle. A rising vote of thanks was extended Sister Clark for the pleasant evening.

COURT MCDONALD, F. OF A.

The regular meeting of Court McDonald, Foresters of America, was held last night, there being a large attendance. During the meeting considerable business of importance was transacted. The feature of the evening was the election of officers for the ensuing year, the new officers being as follows: Chief ranger, John H. Condon; sub chief ranger, Charles J. Martin; executive secretary, James H. Hickory; senior warden, Terrence Quinn; junior warden, Gustave A. Anderson; recorder, Thomas F. Quinn; junior warden, Francis E. Quinn; and John H. Lowndes. The installation will take place at the next meeting and refreshments will be served. Three propositions were received and four candidates nominated. Interesting remarks were made by the warden and means committee, J. H. Condon, chairman, as to how to further the court's prosperity also by visiting brother courts on the order in general.

DIED OF INJURY

Young Man Hurt in Collision

PASSED AWAY AT HOSPITAL

Case Involves Charge of Manslaughter

James Stavaropoulos, the young man who, while riding a bicycle in Suffolk street Sunday night, collided with a wagon driven by Mathias Vasilzon, died last night at the Lowell hospital. He was suffering from a puncture of the tissues of the right leg and his death was momentarily expected from the time he reached the hospital until he passed away.

As a result of the young man's death, Mathias Vasilzon, owner and driver of the horse which collided with Stavaropoulos, who was arrested Sunday night and booked for reckless driving and assault, will now face a charge of manslaughter. Vasilzon has been remanded to jail without bail.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Paul Hervey Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shaw, and Miss Ruth Kilburn Pease, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Pease, were united in marriage last night at the home of the bride's parents, 31 Warwick street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, of the Eliot church, and Rev. Ransom J. Greene, D. D., of the Grace Universalist church. The bride was Miss Grace T. Childs of Brookline, Mass., the bride's cousin, and the groom's brother, Mr. Warren W. Shaw, was best man. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white mousseline silk and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses, while the bride-maid wore light blue crepe de chine and carried white marguerites. It was distinctly a house wedding, the walls and ceilings of the house being decorated with white daisies, while large tubs of them ornamented the floor.

There was a most beautiful display of presents, including a large solid silver service, the gift of the Union National bank. Only the near relatives of the two families and a few intimate friends were present. After a summer honeymoon tour of the New England points of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will be at home at 34 Canton street, this city, after September 1.

FULLER-ETHRIDGE.

Mr. Ethridge E. Fuller and Miss S. May Fuller were united in marriage Saturday evening at 1521 Gorbam street by Rev. George E. Tomkinson in the presence of friends and relatives from this city and out of town. Miss Phoebe Ingraham, a cousin of the bride, acted as maid of honor, and Harry G. Lawson was best man. Little Beatrice Robinson of Melrose was flower girl and Josephine Dows played the wedding march. The bride, being comfortably attired in white silk and veil, and carrying a bouquet of white carnations, was given away by her twin brother, George Ethridge, of Epson, N. H. After the ceremony an informal reception was held and light refreshments were served. Many valuable presents were received.

The bridal couple, accompanied by friends, left amid showers of rice and confetti for Wallham, where they will reside. The touring car was gaily decorated with white streamers and bannants.

KELLEY-McPHERSON.

Mr. A. G. Kelley and Miss Jane McPhereson were married at Brookline, Wednesday, June 11. Mr. William Kelley was best man and Miss Jennie McDonald was bridesmaid. Mr. Kelley is well known in Tewksbury, being an attaché at the state hospital. After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Kelley will live in East Tewksbury.

CARTER-MILLIGAN.

A very pleasant home wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Milligan, Wilmington, on the 18th inst. when their daughter, Emma Mabel, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry H. Carter of Lynn. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. T. Martin of Wilmington, assisted by the Rev. John H. Benson of Topsfield, the double ring service being used, under an arch of June roses, evergreens and daisies. Behind the wedding party were Lunked trees of spruce and potted plants. The open fireplace, mantel and table were decorated with roses and trailing vines of evergreen. The bride was charming in her going away gown of mauve with waist of white point d'esprit and carried pink roses for the bridal bouquet. The maid of honor was Miss Anna Quinn, cousin in law to Mr. Carter, being attended by Mr. Edmund Adams of Lynn. A dainty collation was served after the ceremony. The gifts were beautiful and admired by all, comprising cut glass, fine silver, gold and hand decorated china. Many other useful and valuable gifts showed the esteem in which the young couple was held.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Miss Kate Milligan, Gloucester; Mrs. Carter, mother of the groom; Miss Maria Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Eams, Reading; Mrs. Bridges and Miss Bridges of Tewksbury; Mrs. Littlefield of Wamesit; Mrs. John Addison and Miss Addison of Wilmington; Miss Kate Marsh, Mrs. Prior, Mrs. Frederick Tufts of Winchester; Master Earle Blackburn.

The happy couple departed on their wedding journey to New York amid a shower of confetti, and upon their return will reside in Lynn.

DIVED FOR BODY

OF BOY DROWNED IN BROOKLINE RESERVOIR.

A diver worked about two hours in the waters of the old reservoir on Boylston street, Brookline, yesterday afternoon, but was unable to locate the body of Andrew Cuniff, who was drowned while taking a swim shortly after midnight yesterday morning. All morning and up to the time of the diver's arrival, members of the Brookline police force dragged the waters with a grappling iron from a boat, but they were unsuccessful.

The news that the body of young Cuniff was still in the water soon reached the lower section of the town and when the diver, George Stone, got ready for business, a crowd of over 500 people had gathered along the bank on the Dudley street side to watch the work.

CRICKET NOTES

The annual interstate game between Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be held this year at Providence on the usual day, July 4. The executive committee of the state league held a meeting in Boston on Monday and decided upon the team to represent Massachusetts. Capt. David Bird of the Mohawks was chosen to captain the team while John Priestley was chosen as wicket keeper. William Croft of the Zions would have been given a place but could not accept as he will be out of the state on his vacation.

BRYAN'S REQUEST

NOMINATION TO BE SECONDED
BY GOVERNOR SWANSON.

RICHMOND, Va., June 22.—Governor Swanson of Virginia has been invited by Wm. J. Bryan to second his nomination for president at the Denver convention. The invitation came by mail yesterday and Governor Swanson, once made reply, saying that he would be very happy to perform that service for his former congressional colleague. Mr. Swanson is a delegate at large.

PLEASANT REUNION OF GRADUATES

The Affair Wound up With Sociable

In the town hall, Billerica Centre, yesterday afternoon, before a capably attendance the graduating exercises of the Howe school, class of 1908 took place. Those graduated were Minnie Seton Dyson, Marion Gertrude Gleason, Harriet Elizabeth Baker, Eleanor Harriet Blackie, Anna Jaguth, Alice Gertrude Jones, Helen King, Ellen Elizabeth Schull, Lucy Schwartz, four years and Mary Harrington, Evelyn Irene Higgins and Arthur Clarendon Wright, three years.

After a selection by the orchestra and the opening prayer by Rev. T. E. Rogers of the class of 1893, the first honor, "The Genesis of the World" was given by Miss Minnie Seton Dyson. The class essay, "Nature's Magic," a clever composition, was delivered by Miss Alice Gertrude Jones, and the prophecy by Miss Eleanor Harriet Blackie, while second honor "Calas Jubaes Caesar" was given by Miss Marion Gertrude Gleason. Frederick S. Clark conferred the diplomas and J. Nelson Parker spoke for the trustees of the school.

The address of the day was delivered by Rev. Charles E. Park of Boston. Following the exercises the 12th annual reunion of the Howe School Association was held in the banquet hall where a fine dinner was served at 6 o'clock. Prayer was given by Rev. Harry Lutz after which President Charles H. Kohlrausch welcomed the graduating class as members of the association. Reports were heard from the treasurer, E. S. Bull and the acting secretary, Albert H. Richardson. The election of officers resulted in the following being named: President John A. Richardson; vice presidents, J. Frank

FIRE IN POOL ROOM.

A small fire was started in Joseph Boissert's pool room in Meady street, near the junction of Gershom avenue, early this morning, by a cigar or cigarette stub. The fire was the occasion of an alarm from box 75 at 2:15 o'clock. The damage was very slight.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE.

The Independence league conducted an enrollment in City Clerk Dugan's office last night and took seven new members to the fold. The league has now a total membership of about 40.

EDSON SCHOOL

BOYS PRESENTED TROPHIES OF BALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Nine members of the Edson school baseball team, the winners of the championship of the grammar school league, were presented loving cups at the Young Men's Christian association last night for excellence at the national sport. The names of the members of the team are as follows: James McGovern, John Roane, Frank Roane, Wm. O'Connell, Lester Parson, Thomas Breen, Wm. Curtis, James Gallagher, and Andrew Donohue. They have a record of not one defeat, although very close games were played with the Butler, Highland and Vacuum teams.

The cups were presented by Mr. H. Harris of the Vacuum school. In his address to the boys he emphasized the contrast between the games of the English speaking boys and those of other nations, and that it was through that physical training that the English speaking people had been able to advance to the position of the leaders of the world. The greatest need was of being clean, of clean sport, clean speech, and clean smoking, and it was sure to develop any into a cleaner man inside and outside.

In closing Mr. Harris said that the boys had deserved their cups because they had striven for excellence with all their might, and had succeeded by playing the best baseball. Ice cream and cake were served to all present.

FOR HARVARD

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL.

In the Lowell high school yesterday was held the Harvard university entrance examinations. Mr. Henry H. Harris, principal of the Vermont school, acted as reader. The final candidates are Edgar F. Fay of Lowell, John S. Huntington of the New Haven, Connecticut high school, all of whom are trying for entrance with advanced standing. These taking the preliminary examinations are Eugene S. Hyland Jr., Samuel K. Gibson, Edwin Stuart, Joseph M. Donoghue, George F. Seader, Edward J. McVey and Clifford A. Wells, all of Lowell, and Franklin F. Spaulding of Tewksbury, and George Van Dyke Trull of this city.

THE GREAT FLEET

Assembling for Start Around the World

FROM SAN FRANCISCO JULY 7

Atlantic and Pacific

Fleets to Celebrate

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—Assembling of the Atlantic fleet of 18 warships and six auxiliaries in this harbor for the start on July 7, on the voyage around the world from San Francisco to Hampton roads already has begun. Seven of the battleships, including the flagship of Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, the Connecticut, are here, and all of the auxiliaries are in this vicinity. Besides the Connecticut, the battleships in the harbor are the Louisiana, Ohio, Minnesota, Kansas, Vermont and Georgia. The West Virginia is at Mare Island. Supplies are already being taken aboard the supply ship Chicago and the refrigerated supply ship Panther. The latter ship, Relief, and the despatch boat Yorktown are being put in readiness for the long voyage.

By July 8 at the latest, all of the warships of the Atlantic fleet will be in this port, and the ships of the Pacific fleet also will be assembled here before the date to remain until after the departure of the Atlantic fleet. The Virginia, which is now at Bremerton navy yard, will arrive here the latter part of the month. The Nebraska, New Jersey and Rhode Island are now at Bremerton and will arrive here together, June 26. The Wisconsin, now at Puget Sound, is due the 26th, the Illinois the 27th, the Kearsarge the 28th, and the Kentucky July 2. Either at Bremerton or Hunter's point, the battleships have been hauled out and cleaned, or have yet to undergo that operation.

July 4 the combined fleets of the Atlantic and Pacific will take part in the celebration here, and three days later the battleships of the Atlantic fleet will depart for Honolulu, where they are scheduled to arrive July 14. The auxiliaries will have preceded them by one week and will have unloaded supplies for the fleet and steamed away from Honolulu before the battleships arrive.

The entire Pacific fleet under command of Admiral Swinhurn, who will succeed Admiral Dayton soon, will depart August 5 for a cruise to Samoa and the Philippines. The cruisers will take in tow on the cruise the little black vessels comprising the Atlantic and Pacific torpedo flotillas. Previous to the start, the torpedo craft will be taken in tow by the cruisers on a trip down the coast as far as San Diego, and possibly to Magdalena bay as an experiment.

At Honolulu plans for the entertainment of the officers and men of the American fleet are assuming definite shape. One of the features of the program will be an old-fashioned Hawaiian hula. This is a ceremonial bestowal of gifts. These may be of various kinds, but in the present instance it will be gifts of fruits. From all over the islands, fruits of every sort which grow there and are ripe at this season of the year will be sent to Honolulu while the fleet is there. Very great interest is being taken in this part of the plans by the native Hawaiians all over the islands.

RAILROAD SUIT

Has Bearing on Corporation Holdings

WILL TEST LEGALITY OF MERGER

And Double Holdings of New Haven Road

NEW HAVEN, June 23.—A suit has been brought by a number of security holders by which Mackay & Co. of New York, which firm has been handling the securities of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company, seeks of the supreme court of errors of Connecticut an affirmative decision sustaining the action of the New Haven company in issuing securities of the company and securities of the subsidiary companies issued under special authority of the general assembly of Connecticut, but without first obtaining permission of the legislature of Massachusetts.

This suit is brought, it is understood, because of attacks made upon the securities of the New Haven company during discussion of the various bills bearing upon the proposed merger of the New Haven company with the Boston & Maine system.

Frank T. Brown of Norwich, who is of counsel retained by the security holders interested, says he expects to argue the case before the supreme court in October. He further says that the suit is one of the most important, if not the most important, that has ever come before the courts of this state, as it affects many millions of securities in value.

Inquiry in railroad circles here goes to show that the suit is not only of very considerable importance as bearing upon the subsidiary issues of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company, but also is of much importance in connection with the status of the corporation as the holder of double charges in this state and in Massachusetts. It seems highly probable also that this suit, depending upon the final decision of the Connecticut supreme court, will be of great significance as raising clearly an interstate issue between Massachusetts and Connecticut. This would bring up a federal question and result presumptively in a final appeal of the case to the United States supreme court.

$500,000 FIRE LOSS

AT PORT CHESTER, N. Y., LATE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., June 23.—Delaying the efforts of firemen from this and several nearby towns, a fire, raging uncontrolled for two hours late yesterday before it was checked, destroyed a block of buildings, occupied chiefly by business firms, rendered forty families homeless and entailed a loss of $500,000.

The fire broke out in the large building of the Burns Buggy stables, occupying a part of the Borden's Condensed Milk company, and was soon beyond the control of the firemen. The sparks from the burning building were communicated with adjoining buildings, which were also partially burned.

CAPT. MCCREA ILL.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Captain Henry McCrea, who commanded the United States battleship Georgia on the cruise of the battleship fleet to the Pacific, is seriously ill at the naval hospital in Brooklyn suffering from communicable with adjoining buildings.

Anty Drudge Enjoys Nature.

Mrs. Hardwork—"My, but it is awful to stay indoors and bend over a steamy washtub this beautiful weather."

Anty Drudge—"You are foolish to do it Mrs. Hardwork. Fels-Naptha is doing my washing while I am going out to sit under the trees. If you would try washing the Fels-Naptha way you would have plenty of time to enjoy Nature on wash-days as well as other days."

Summer washing means a day's discomfort every week--unless you use Fels-Naptha soap.

A hot fire on a summer's day is heart-breaking; every woman knows it. If you wash with Fels-Naptha you don't need a hot fire. Boiling is unnecessary.

Fels-Naptha will clean the clothes better and quicker in cold or lukewarm water than any other means. That is why Fels-Naptha is not only a soap, but a different way of washing.

No boiling. No hard-rubbing on a washboard to heat you up. No time wasted. Makes your white clothes whiter and sweeter than you can get them in any other way. Wet the things, soap freely with Fels-Naptha, let them soak for thirty minutes; then rub lightly, rinse and hang out to dry.

Sounds easy, doesn't it? And it is easy. If you have tried it, you know. If you haven't, try it next washday. But be sure and use Fels-Naptha the Fels-Naptha way. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

THE AMES TROPHY

FOR THE AUTO RACE WILL BE UNIQUE.

If the request of the Lowell Automobile Association that certain roadways in Lowell and Tyngsboro be set apart for the Labor day races be granted, the Butler Ames trophy will be given to the winner of the 50-mile automobile race.

The drawing for the trophy was recently in Lowell. The trophy, of silver, will be 4 inches high, surmounted by an American eagle, and will have upon its base the name of the city of Lowell and the name of the winner. The inscription will be: "50-mile road race over Merrimack valley course for Butler Ames trophy."

CHELMSFORD

The town hall, Chelmsford Center, was last night, the scene of an unusually large assemblage, the occasion of the graduating exercises of the Chelmsford High school, class of 1908. The hall was prettily decorated in its interior. The class motto, "Nil sine Labore," in letters of gold occupied a conspicuous position over the arch of the stage platform.

The program was as follows: Selection, Chelmsford orchestra; invocation, Rev. Wilson Waters; salutatory essay, "Girls of the Past and Present," Ethel P. Parker; songs, "The Rosary," (Newby) "Dry Ye Eyes," (Landsberg) school chorus; essay, "Success," Ruth Adams; selection, Chelmsford orchestra; essay, "Little Things," Ellen A. Cudworth; musical selection, "Doris," violin, M. Marion Adams, cello, Ruth E. Adams, voice, Della B. Baker, piano, Bernice M. Knowlton; essay, "Glimpses of Norway," A. Augusta Paasche; song, "Nursery Rhyme Suite," (Custance) school chorus; valedictory essay, "Toward the Setting Sun," Mark W. Reed; presentation of diplomas, Supt. F. L. Kendall; benediction, Rev. L. L. Greene; selection, Chelmsford orchestra.

The graduating class was as follows:

Three years' course: Ruth Elizabeth Adams, Hurlan Bridgman Brown, Fred Edmund Card, Ellen Achsa Cudworth, Guy Gardner Files, Bernice May Knowlton.

The class officers were: Raymond W. Dunn, president; Catherine E. Dunn, secretary; Ethel P. Parker, treasurer.

The ushers for the evening were: Ralph P. Adams, Alvin H. Fletcher, Homer W. Sweetser, Charles Perham, Roy Kittredge.

Miss Della Baker, a popular member and vice president of the graduating class was the surprised and much pleased recipient of a gold watch, the graduation gift of her uncle, V. H. Gower at Boston.

CEMETERY TRUSTEES MET.

The trustees of the Lowell Cemetery association met yesterday afternoon and voted to place upon the records a formal vote to the effect that the association hopes that the president of the association, Major Charles A. UNION MEETING

OF THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR AT FAIR STREET CHURCH.

The Christian Endeavor Union of Lowell and vicinity held a meeting last night in the auditorium of the Fair Street Free Baptist church. After a beautiful supper in the vestry, provided by the entertaining committee, President F. J. Spooner called a fair-sized gathering to order at about 8 o'clock. Important business was transacted, including the incorporation into the union of the Interstate Junior Society of the First Presbyterian church. The union voted to hold an open-air meeting in July, on the lawn at the Chelmsford Congregational church, with the Christian Endeavor Society there. The roll call consisted of 27 different societies from the vicinity of Lowell. Rev. S. W. Matthews conducted a short devotional service, which was followed by an address by Rev. Elijah Humphreys, D. D., of Fall River, the speaker of the evening. His subject, "The Christian Endeavor Union," was very helpful as well as eloquent.

The meeting was in the hands of the following officers: President, F. J. Spooner; vice president, Rev. S. W. Matthews of the First Primitive Methodist church; secretary, Miss Ella M. Penn of the Chelmsford Street Free Baptist church; treasurer, W. A. Chase of the Fair Street Free Baptist church; auditor, Albert W. McPherson of the Western Street Baptist church; Junior superintendent, Miss J. M. Crater; Junior secretary, Miss Anna Wylie, both of the First Baptist church; and Rev. A. E. Krayon of the Chelmsford St. B. church, counsel.

Miss Clara Chapman presided at the table.

TO AMEND DECREE

IN CASES AGAINST CENTRAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

PORTLAND, Me., June 23.—After a preliminary hearing before Judge Fred C. Chase, the court of Maine yesterday ordered that the decree in the case of the Central Life Insurance Company, to vacate the receivership and appoint a new receiver, be amended so as to include the Central Life Insurance Company, as a party to the receivership.

The company was declared insolvent and placed under receivership by the Maine court in 1906. It was then ordered that the company be liquidated and the assets be sold to pay the claims of the policyholders.

The amendment was made at the request of the Central Life Insurance Company, which had been appointed receiver of the company's assets. The company had been in business for many years and had a large number of policyholders. The amendment was made to allow the company to continue its business and to pay the claims of the policyholders.

JUDGE HOUGH

CONFIRMS FINES AGAINST STEAMSHIP COMPANIES.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Deciding that under the immigration law the secretary of commerce and labor has the right to impose fines upon steamship companies bringing to this country aliens afflicted with a dangerous disease, Judge Hough of the U. S. circuit court yesterday filed a decision dismissing the test suits brought by two steamship companies to recover fines imposed under this clause in the law and paid under protest by the companies. The suits were those of the International Mercantile Marine company, and the Ocean Steam Navigation company, Limited, against Nevada N. Stranahan, collector of the port of New York. The companies claimed that judicial powers were conferred by this act upon the secretary of commerce and labor--powers which under his appointment he does not possess. Judge Hough's decision is that the imposition of the fines was an administrative and not a judicial act.

As the sum involved in fines collected is more than $500,000, the matter will be carried on appeal to the United States supreme court.

PELHAM

Children's day exercises will be held at the church next Sunday, June 28. Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Marsh are now at home for the summer.

Sometime Sunday afternoon a thief entered the home of Conductor Will Burt in this town and stole a gold watch valued at $35. The owner, at the time of the theft, was dining at the hospital in Nashua, where she is under treatment.

TEDDY, JR. GOES TO WORK.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., it is understood will have his first experience of actual work this summer as distinguished from the labor involved in study, and will act that experience as an employee of the United States Steel Corporation.

NEED OF A SWIMMING POND

NOW THAT THE HOT WEATHER IS WITH US WE MAY EXPECT A NUMBER OF DROWNING ACCIDENTS AS A RESULT OF BOYS AND MEN TAKING DANGEROUS CHANCES WHILE BATHING. THERE IS SCARCELY ANOTHER INLAND CITY IN THE UNITED STATES WITH SUCH SPLENDID RIVERS MEETING, WE MIGHT SAY, AT ITS VERY CENTRE, THAT HAS SO FEW OPPORTUNITIES FOR BOYS TO LEARN TO SWIM WITHOUT UNDERGOING THE RISK OF DROWNING.

THE CONCORD AND MERRIMACK RIVERS MEET WITHIN A MINUTE'S WALK OF MERRIMACK SQUARE, THE BUSINESS CENTRE OF THE CITY, AND YET THERE IS NOT ANYWHERE ALONG THEIR BANKS WITHIN A MILE OF MERRIMACK SQUARE A PLACE SUITABLE FOR BATHING PURPOSES.

WE HAVE ARTIFICIAL PONDS IN TWO OF OUR PARKS, BUT THESE ARE MERELY ORNAMENTAL AND NOWHERE IS THERE ANY ATTEMPT MADE TO PROVIDE A PLACE WHERE BOYS CAN BATHE OR LEARN TO SWIM WITHOUT RISK OF DROWNING OR CONTRACTING DISEASE FROM THE POISONED WATERS.

IT WOULD REQUIRE BUT A SMALL EXPENDITURE TO PROVIDE A SWIMMING POND TO BE MAINTAINED ONLY DURING THE HOT WEATHER. THE ABILITY TO SWIM IS SOMETHING OF VERY GREAT IMPORTANCE. WHILE A PERSON WHO IS ABLE TO SWIM MAY BE OVERCOME IN THE WATER BY CRAMPS OR CHILLS, YET SUCH OCCURRENCES ARE RARE. THE PERSON WHO CAN SWIM, ESPECIALLY IF ACCOMPANIED BY OTHERS IN THE WATER, IS USUALLY IN LITTLE DANGER OF DROWNING. EVERY SUMMER OUR CITY HAS HALF A DOZEN DROWNINGS AS A RESULT OF BOYS BATHING IN CANALS AND AT VARIOUS POINTS IN THE RIVERS, STEALING A MARCH, AS IT WERE, ON THE POLICE, AS BATHING IN SUCH PLACES UNDER PUBLIC VIEW IS FORBIDDEN.

TO PEOPLE OF PHILANTHROPIC TENDENCIES IT MUST APPEAR WORTH WHILE TO PROVIDE FOR A CITY LIKE LOWELL, SOME PLACE IN WHICH BOYS AND EVEN GIRLS CAN LEARN TO SWIM WITHOUT DANGER OF DROWNING. NO PUBLIC BENEFACTOR COULD USE HIS MONEY FOR A BETTER PURPOSE THAN TO PROVIDE A SWIMMING POND OR PUBLIC BATH HOUSE FOR LOWELL THAT IN ALL PROBABILITY WOULD SAVE SIX LIVES EVERY SUMMER.

TO CONSTRUCT AN ARTIFICIAL SWIMMING POND WOULD BE COMPARATIVELY EASY AND INEXPENSIVE. IT COULD BE MADE OF CEMENT IN BOTTOM AND SIDES AND THE CITY WOULD SUPPLY THE WATER. THIS COULD BE TAKEN EITHER FROM ONE OF THE CANALS OR FROM THE CITY MAINS. THE POND AFTER BEING FILLED COULD BE KEPT SUFFICIENTLY CLEAN BY KEEPING A GOOD STREAM ENTERING AND ANOTHER PASSING OUT CONTINUOUSLY WHILE IN USE. A DEPTH VARYING FROM 3 TO 5 FEET WOULD BE SUFFICIENT AND THE SHAPE MOST DESIRABLE WOULD RESEMBLE A STRAIGHT SECTION OF ONE OF THE CANALS.

IT IS REALLY PITIABLE TO SEE BOYS BATHING IN THE CONCORD RIVER, BACK OF THE TANNERY ON PERRY STREET, WHERE THE WATER IS ACTUALLY THICK AND BLACK WITH FILTH. IF THE LADS DID NOT GO SWIMMING THERE THEY WOULD, PERHAPS, HAVE SELECTED THE WAMESIT CANAL, WHICH ON ACCOUNT OF THE DEPTH, THE WALLED SIDES AND THE SWIFT CURRENT WHEN ANY OF THE MILLS ARE WORKING IS EXTREMELY DANGEROUS.

GOOD FOR PRESIDENT ELIOT

IT SPEAKS WELL FOR THE DISCIPLINE OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY THAT NOT EVEN THE APPEALS OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IN BEHALF OF OARSMEN FISH AND MORGAN HAVE MOVED PRESIDENT ELIOT TO RESTORE THEM TO THE CREW FROM WHICH THEY WERE REMOVED FOR WHAT IS TERMED DISHONORABLE CONDUCT.

THE INTERFERENCE OF THE PRESIDENT HAS ONLY GIVEN THE MISBEHAVIOR OF THE TWO MEN GREATER PUBLICITY. IT IS A PITY THAT SOME PEOPLE ARE ALWAYS MEDDLING WITH OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS.

IT WOULD CERTAINLY ESTABLISH A BAD PRECEDENT IF PRESIDENT ELIOT WOULD RELAX THE DISCIPLINE OF HIS UNIVERSITY AN iota BECAUSE OF INFLUENCE FROM HIGH SOURCES. EVERYBODY WILL SAY THAT PRESIDENT ELIOT'S DECISION IS RIGHT.

An Englishman who had undertaken to represent a London firm in New York gave one of his business cards to a stranger in town.

"Thank you," said the stranger. "Now will you kindly tell me how to get down to your office?"

The Englishman pointed to the back of the card.

"There is a map of the immediate neighborhood," he said. "It shows how to reach my street from Broadway."

"What a new way," whistled the stranger. "Isn't that a new wrinkle?"

"It may be here," said the Londoner, "but cards of that kind are by no means rare at home."

"Well," the stranger admitted, "there are a few things we Americans can learn from you Britishers, after all."

A couple of wild ducks in Central Park was a sight that startled me the other day," said a former westerner, now a resident of this city, yesterday.

"The sort which of course since my boyhood duck shooting days, in the Missouri river bottoms, and looking up I saw a pair of ducks flying just over the treetops. They looked like wildgeese, and I presume were a couple of strays that had wandered far from the beaten paths of wild ducks and found a temporary haven on one of the park lakes. The last I saw of them they were circling over the Museum of Natural History."

"It is curious," remarked the greener on the corner, "that there is no fruit in the world which people are such poor judges of as cantaloupes, and what is more curious is that they do their best to spoil them after they buy them. The first thing a woman does with a cantaloupe is to stick it into the ice box. Now cantaloupes, like most of our fruit, are picked a trifle green, and when they come from the greener's they should be put out in the sun for a while, turning them over every few hours, and then putting them into the ice box at night."

They were two sewer men and they were working in Prescott street. The quiet of a moment was broken by the penetrating shrieks of a woman.

"Be gorrah he's kicking her," said one.

"Kicking whom?" said the other.

"Don't you hear that terrible shriek? Some drucker husband is flailing the life out of his poor wife."

Another shriek, louder than before, rent the air and fairly raised the roof of the Swan building.

"Is there no officer around at all at all?" said the sewer man who first spoke.

"Oh, the one you can find when there's trouble around," said the other.

Another shriek that seemed to go with a broken heart or a punctured tire shook the currents on the wires and bored a hole at the feet of the sympathetic sewer men.

"I'll see to that myself," said one of them. "I'll not have it said that a woman was killed while I was in hearing of her cries for help."

That's the way to talk and I'm with you," said the other fellow and up in-

Worth Knowing

To remove Pimples, Blackheads, Blisters and all forms of skin eruptions, is, according to a well known physician, a very easy matter; he says that many are afflicted with some one of the above ailments, and are subject to a great deal of embarrassment on account of the unsightly appearance which they present, and recommends the following simple harmless and inexpensive treatment. Go to your druggist and get this prescription filled: Clearol one-half ounce, Ether one ounce, Alcohol seven ounces; mix, shake well and apply to the parts affected night and morning, allowing it to remain for at least ten minutes, then wipe off the powder from the skin. Use a soft cloth or sponge in applying the mixture and in from ten days to two weeks your face will be smooth and clear as a marriage bell. Get the Pure Clearol, which is only put up in one-half ounce packages. Ask to see it.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Fru Hennings, who has just retired from the royal theatre at Copenhagen, after a service there of 25 years, is accepted as without question the foremost Danish actress of her day. In recent years she has given herself mainly to the plays of Ibsen, notably "A Doll's House," "The Wild Duck" and "Ghosts."

A Mrs. Maynard of Meriden, Conn., had seven sons and seven daughters, and they married seven sons and daughters of a man named King.

The last ship which headed for the coast of Alaska carried a shipment of 1000 Leghorn chickens for a man at Fairbanks. He is going to sell them to people who want to start chicken coops of their own and pay less than 25 cents apiece for eggs.

M. Armengaud of Paris has offered a prize of 1000 for the first aeroplaneist who remains in the air for 20 minutes.

Mrs. Carleton G. Peris of Detroit has given $2500 toward the establishment in Indianapolis of a missionary training school by the Christian woman's board of missions of the church at Christ.

In addition to this donation $1500 has been raised toward the proposed school. The board is also seeking to raise funds for a school among the mountain whites of Tennessee.

General Lord Grenfell, who was recently promoted to the rank of field marshal, accepted high praise at the hands of Miss Eunice Maynard of Lowell, speaking in the peace society in England. "He has been a soldier for about 15 years," she said, "and his men have killed human beings in many parts of the world. But let us remember to his credit that he published an order as general commanding the forces in Ireland against cigarette smoking by the troops."

Pennsylvania has a law enacted 72 years ago which requires road supervisors to erect and maintain guide boards at the intersection of public roads for the guidance of travelers. The law has never been repealed, but it has been sadly neglected in recent years. Judge Swartz of Montgomery county has resurrected the law, and, assembling the justices of the county, has instructed them to see that the road supervisors put up the proper signs.

Following the wedding at Haverhill of Paul R. Dickson of Cambridge to Miss Vera M. Moore of Haverhill, the newly married couple left for Castle P. I., where Mr. Dickson ranks as "leading man" and is under contract with the United States government in the naval construction and repair department in that place. They will sail from San Francisco July 6 on an army transport.

Mr. Dickson, after his graduation from the Kings manual training school in 1898, took a special course in naval architecture and marine engineering. Leaving Technology in 1902, he was employed in San Francisco in his profession and going to the Philippines he was appointed a member of the board of inspection of the navy. He resigned from that position in July, 1907.

A department of immigration has been instituted as one of the agencies of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, and Rev. Charles Seitzle has been placed in charge of it. Mr. Seitzle has been for several years at the head of the same board's department of church and labor, and he is known all over the country among workmen because of his many contributions to the pages of labor journals.

He will continue in charge of the labor department, adding the immigration department to his present duties. The plan of the department of immigration is to establish mission work among immigrants in the many centres where they settle, and also to arouse the people of the churches to a realization of their obligations in this regard.

This new bureau will emphasize, it is said, the patriotic as well as the religious aspects of work among the alien peoples and its office will constitute a clearing house for information, methods, suggestions and literature for other churches, and religious bodies which purpose to undertake this new form of mission effort. The office of the bureau will be in New York, where is the headquarters of the Presbyterian Home Board.

The physician of Governor William W. O. Dawson of West Virginia has informed him that he has developed tuberculosis. He has left Charleston for Asheville, N. C., where he will spend several months.

Auntie Becky Young, said to be the first woman to offer her services as a nurse when the Civil war broke out, died recently at her home in Indiana on the fortieth anniversary of her marriage.

She was a school teacher of 20 when the war began by making bandages for her country.

After a few months she decided to go to the field as a nurse for the sick and wounded. It was something new in this country, although Florence Nightingale had done it during the Crimean war in the middle '50s.

Auntie Becky's friends did all in their power to dissuade her, but without avail. She went direct to General Grant, who accepted her services.

Miss Agnes McAllister, a Methodist missionary in Africa, died the other day in Paris, where she had gone in the hope of restoring her health. For a number of years Miss McAllister lived at Buffalo, N. Y., where she was the head of the Methodist missionary work, and to the Swan building they went, three steps at a time. They didn't have any use for an elevator and if they thought of it at all they allowed they could beat it to the top floor.

The yelling continued and was still in session when the sewer men, breathless as well as hatless, arrived at the scene of the supposed tragedy. It was simply a case of voice culture. The lady was taking a singing lesson.

We would like to tell you what those two sewer men said, but we don't dare to.

AN UNKNOWN MAN

Ground to Pieces Under a Train

BARRINGTON, R. I., June 23.—An unknown man, evidently from his clothing a fireman, was struck down and ground to pieces beneath an electric train on the Bristol branch of the New Haven railroad between Cranston park and West Barrington at about 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning. His legs were severed, his head battered in and he received multiple bruises about the body. The stricken man was treated by Dr. Russell Church, a passenger on the train, but died a few minutes later.

TAFT'S PROGRAM

AS ARRANGED FOR THE NEXT FEW DAYS.

NEW HAVEN, June 23.—The secretary met Mrs. Taft and their second son, Charles P. Taft in New York yesterday and they just caught the 11 o'clock train for this city at the Grand Central station. Robert A. Taft, Yale '10, the elder son, is already in town, having returned directly from the Chicago convention.

An informal dinner was tendered Secretary and Mrs. Taft last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Farnham at whose home they will remain until Thursday. Mr. Taft will tonight attend the banquet of the class of '72.

Mrs. Taft will be the guest of President and Mrs. Hadley this evening.

On Wednesday a formal dinner will be given Secretary and Mrs. Taft at the Farnham residence. The guests will include Dr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Hadley, Admiral and Mrs. Sheffield Cowles and others.

SPELL BINDERS

AND LITERARY PRODUCTIONS WILL WAGE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The republican campaign book will be out unusually early this year, probably six weeks sooner than it was issued four years ago. The book will follow quite closely along the lines of the last campaign book except that some new issues will be introduced and others that have seemed to be of interest will be dropped out. Considerable space will be devoted to the questions of injunctions. At the latest the book will be issued Aug. 1. The committee is planning its work with the idea that this year more than ever before the campaign will be waged by means of literary productions through the press and by pamphlets and speeches and by the active work of spell binders.

AT AMHERST

CLASS REUNIONS AND SWIMMING EXHIBITION.

AMHERST, June 23.—Class reunions and a swimming exhibition followed by a ball game between Amherst and Williams in the afternoon met up yesterday's events in connection with commencement week at Amherst college. Carleton B. Blodgett, captain, and a team of twelve Amherst students exhibited their ability in many forms of swimming and diving in the Fox natatorium. At the close of the exhibition Ralph Smith of New London, Conn., one of the team, was awarded a certificate by the Massachusetts Humane Society for his ability to swim a mile in less than 32 minutes and for his general efficiency in methods of rescuing drowning persons.

The classes of '83 and '85 had luncheons and the class of '02 defied the class of '88 in a baseball game.

LADIES' AUXILIARY

OF BROTHERHOOD OF RAILWAY TRAINMEN HELD MEETING.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen held their meeting Sunday afternoon in Pilgrim hall. Routine business was transacted. The committee on excursion reported the affair a success.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a lawn party in the near future.

AMERICAN ICE CO.

GIVEN SHORT TIME TO MEET FIVE INDICTMENTS.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Counsel for the American Ice company yesterday were given until next Friday by Justice Rogers in the supreme court, to file a reply to the five indictments found against the company last week. The case will be tried next fall.

STOCK TRANSFER TAX.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 23.—State Controller Martin H. Glynn announced yesterday that he has begun an investigation to compel corporations to pay the law taxing the transfer of shares of capital stock. Mr. Glynn said the investigation already has disclosed that there has been a wholesale disposition of the law on the part of corporations to the state. There are about 1000 such corporations in this state which work under the provisions of the stock transfer tax act.

RECEIVERS APPOINTED.

PITTSBURGH, June 23.—F. H. Skilling, president of the First National bank, and H. W. McMillers, of the Allegheny railroad, who were recently appointed receivers of the Wabash-Pittsburgh railroad were yesterday also appointed receivers for the West Side street railroad, the United States circuit court. The receivers were appointed a portion of the Wabash Railroad company.

GREAT RECEPTION

To Sec. Taft at Yale

Commencement

HE MEETS HIS OLD

CLASSMATES

And Shows Interest in

His Alma Mater

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 23.—Secretary of War William H. Taft returned to Yale, his alma mater, yesterday, to attend the reunion of his class, that of '78, and although his intentions were to join his classmates as Taft of '75, he found himself to be the chief guest of the commencement exercises, and scarcely had he entered the shadow of the university buildings, before he took up the duties of a member of the corporation. Very few opportunities came to him to elude the hands of the many '78 reunionists, who had gathered in the old Edwards mansion on Elm street, selected as class headquarters, for he was immediately escorted to Woodbridge hall for the corporation meeting, then into Commons to speak to the young men, who are about to be given their law school sheppenskins, then to the law school and finally to the college hall, where the medical school exercises were held.

MET AT THE STATION.
Mr. Taft reached the city at 1 o'clock accompanied by Mrs. Taft and Master Charles Taft, having reached here on an earlier train and gone to the home on Prospect street of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Farnham, whose guests they are to be until Thursday. Mr. Taft was met at the station by a delegation from his class, and after an exchange of greetings, he stepped into an automobile and was whisked away to the Edwards house where about 40 '78 men were ready to extend a welcoming hand.

After a short day, Secretary Taft went to Woodbridge hall, where the corporation was in session. He left this a little later and walked across the university campus to the side door of the Commons and passing in was met by a cheer from those who first got a glimpse of him.

NINE TAFTS AT MEMORIAL

Mr. Whitney, the toastmaster, had risen to introduce Judge John Proctor Clark, when the entire alumni body rose and cheered Mr. Taft with nine "Tafts," which made Memorial echo and re-echo. Later on, Mr. Taft spoke to the young men, who, in caps and gowns, sat at a long table in front of him. The alumni then went to Hendrie hall, where the class day exercises were held. Secretary Taft returned to the corporation meeting, and at its conclusion, he walked to the law school of laws, and walked to the law school. As he passed into the auditorium, John W. Foster was making an address, but the audience rose and wildly cheered. At the close of these exercises, Secretary Taft, accompanied by President Hadley, and escorted by the faculty of the medical school, walked through the overhanging eaves was a charming sight. At College hall, Secretary Taft was joined by his brother, Horace D. Taft, of Watertown, Conn., who accompanied him back to Woodbridge hall, when the exercises were ended. This, in effect, ended Mr. Taft's first official day at Yale.

The Lowell Opera House was the scene last night of the graduation exercises of the Lowell High School and every seat was taken. The relatives and friends of the seniors were gathered there to witness the farewell to the school by the graduates, and while the occasion was tinged with the sorrow of parting, the relegating of the pleasures and sweet companionships of four years, yet there was the inevitable future to be looked squarely in the face and the young men and women who have been honorably discharged from that very valuable seat of learning, the High School, are the possessors of a foundation sufficiently solid to build a future upon.

Last night's little army of graduates, 163 in all, presented a very striking picture, not the blue and the gray, but the black and the white. To the left of the stage were the young ladies in white, while the young men, in black, occupied space to the right. Between there was the ever beautiful folding and draping of the national colors and the presence of plants and flowers. The scene when the curtain went up was such as to inspire general applause. Surmounting the stage, and in beautiful color and gilt, was the class motto, "Perseverantia ad Fortuna Ducit."

The members of the committee on high school entered while the American orchestra was playing the opening overture. The committee members took seats at the front of the stage.

The opening chorus was Bonheur's "The Red Scarf," by the whole class with Frederick O. Blunt, directing. The salutatory, entitled "A Vision of Fair Women," was next in order and was given by Miss Ellenore Frances Murray, the salutatorian of the class. Her address, which was given in a most pleasing manner, was as follows:

A VISION OF FAIR WOMEN.

"At last I thought that I had wandered far
In an old wood fresh-washed with cool est dew.
And from within me a clear undertone Thrilled through mine ears in that un-
blissful clime,
Pass freely thro' this wood is all thine
own
Until the end of time.

At length I saw a lady within call,
Still and chiselled marble standing there.
A daughter of the gods, divinely tall
And most divinely fair.

Tennyson's "Dream of Fair Women,"
Helen of Troy stood before me, following her, one by one, Cleopatra, Joan d'Arc
and Rosamond, until Tennyson's dream was broken, and the vision faded. How beautiful they were! Fit heroines for ancient story! But thought I, how different from the women we admire today. The fair women of today are fair in another sense—fair because they have used their great gifts to make the world better and more beautiful.

If I could call into Tennyson's wood
some of these fair women, among them would be Rosa Bonheur. She was not a figure with Helen's grace and beauty,
but a plain sturdy woman, dressed in a long black coat with black frogs, a man's white collar and cuffs and a plain black skirt. She could be found not with princes and warriors, but working hard in her studio, often out of doors in the horse market and frequently in the farm yard, studying and painting the animals about her. Her genius has made the world richer with her pictures, and her womanhood has been as noble as her genius is great.

Rosa Bonheur would not stand alone
—with her I would call Jenny Lind, whose glorious gift of song held multitudes enchanted. She would be counted among the fair women, not simply because of her talent, but as well for the courage, the self-reliance and the resolution with which she developed it, and most of all for the use she made of it.
When she was at the height of her fame,
she devoted the proceeds of her crowded
concerts to the needs of the poor.

Julia Ward Howe, who passed her 84th birthday a few weeks ago is perhaps the most widely honored and loved of any woman in America. She has not sung as Jenny Lind did, but she has made the people sing. "Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord." is heard through all the land, and wherever it is heard, men's faith and patriotism grow stronger. She has stood among the leaders in the work of anti-slavery and woman suffrage. But not only as author and reformer is she honored; her social grace and brilliant wit command admiration. With her varied gifts and her perfectly rounded character, surely she counts for more than Helen, or Cleopatra,
or Iphigenia.

There should be remembered, too, the one who has made easier the lot of the wounded and dying, wherever battle or accident has brought the sufferer to the world's Red Cross. All over the world the Red Cross is the symbol of mercy, and Clara Barton, who organized the Red Cross Society, is one of my fair women.

Francis Willard, too, should be there,
Clara Barton's equal in her power to organize and execute. As a public speaker she held hundreds of thousands by her earnest enthusiasm and winning speech. She won the love and admiration of all with whom she came in contact, and then inspired in them the spirit of reform to help her in her work for temperance.

Nor ought we to forget the quiet woman of Chicago, who is bringing all her learning and all her influence to bear on the problem of the very poor of our great cities; Jane Addams does this work, not only as author and lecturer, but as the superintendent of Hull house. Here she studies the problem, face to face with the people whom she wants to help. Nor is she alone. This same work is being carried on in hundreds of college settlements in our great cities.

Should I call all fair women, who would respond? There would be Dorothea Dix, rightly known and praised for her efforts in behalf of the poor, the neglected, the ignorant and the insane. There would be Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke seminary, representing the spirit that has stood for the highest education of women. There would be Elizabeth Frye, Lucretia Mott and Sister Dora. There would come women of every land, and of every condition, who, some in narrow spheres and some in broad ones, exemplify
the same spirit and love of humanity.
Poets may not look like the heroines of poetry, of tragedy or romance, but nevertheless they are the truly "fair women"
of today.

In the name of the class of 1908, I welcome all of you—friends and relatives who have gathered at our graduation exercises tonight. We thank you for the interest that has brought you here to speed us on our way, as we leave the Lowell High School.

There was no mistaking the appreciation of Miss Murray's effort, and when she had finished there was great applause. Miss Murray was presented a beautiful bouquet.

Spencer's "Hark! the Lily Bells Are Ringing," was beautifully given by a semi-chorus of young ladies, and it was followed by a selection by a quartet of the American orchestra.

PROFESSOR FENN OF HARVARD.

The address of the evening was delivered by Prof. William Wallace Fenn of Harvard University. He said in part:
"There is education won by the discipline of life, as well as education won by the discipline of the school. Far be it from me, who am devoting my life to the cause of education to say a single word in disparagement of a college education. But not all men who receive an academic education come out educated men. It is also true that many men and women who never had a college education become very highly educated.

Functionally, education means the development of the mind. Utility is the measure and meaning of all things.
The mind has arisen in men who wish to man may adjust himself more surely to his environment. If the function of education is to develop the mind, it means that it enables him to meet wisely and well the changes of life.
Education ought to make the mental powers more flexible and supple.

"I once heard a story of an army friend of mine, who told of a certain general in the Civil war who wished to throw a bridge across a stream. A petty officer was told to get his plans and proceed. The next morning the petty officer came to him and told him, that although the 'pictures had not arrived, the bridge was built.' It often happens that while an academically trained man is drawing his plans,

the man who has been trained in the school of life has built his bridge.

"In the care of an academically educated man, the response that his mind makes to a new situation is apt to be less efficient than the response of one who has been fitted in the school of life.

"Put your mind on your work, so that your work is well done. So, also,
the mind gets its training from the work which is well done.

"There is one respect in which an academically educated man has an advantage. The function of the mind is to make a man find a prompt and appropriate response. An academically trained man is apt to make a more appropriate response, while the response of the other might be more prompt.

"If one would win a non-academic education, he should cultivate the habit of close and accurate observation, to learn to see with his mind if not with his eyes, that is, keeping his mind back of his eyes.

"Two centuries ago there was a man in Boston, who had enormous erudition. That man was Cotton Mather.
The secret of his mental activity was that which he was listening to an address of any kind, he used to write down at the close of each paragraph one sentence in his own words, thus keeping his mind alert. Everything that he heard he kept in his mind. That was the secret of Cotton Mather's power.

"Learn to see back of the eyes, cultivate the habit of inquiry, and ask for the meaning of things. There is a great deal said about the newspapers of today. Many a man takes his paper in the morning, looks at the headlines, glances at the news, and throws
it aside saying that there is nothing in it. There is nothing in it because there is nothing in his mind. Every column in that newspaper has facts of the utmost importance of which he is totally ignorant.

"The question mark is the shepherd's crook by which men are led into the fields of knowledge. Find the answer to your questions in the daily course
of life.

"Hold your facts and ideas in their true proportion and true balance.
There is nothing like reading literature of culture to give one this power.
To the reader, the moral purpose superior in the novelist's mind will become regnant in his own mind.
"Adopt these principles, then. Put your mind into your work; get the habit of accurate observation; get the habit of inquiry, and through reading literature, gain a just valuation of facts.

"In this class of young men and women, I am told that not 25 percent will go to college. I can very well believe that with all the happiness of this decade there is also a feeling of grief, perhaps even a feeling of envy toward those who are to have those privileges which are denied them. My word tonight is that it is possible for any man or woman to become a non-academically educated man or woman. It would be strange if this were not so when our democracy rests upon educated men and women, while history shows that many men and women have been educated who never went to college.

"With the institution of the Christian Sabbath, it is especially possible for anyone to read great books and to gain an education of facts.

"Young ladies and gentlemen, your education depends upon your leisure moments. Your spare time is your rider on the sea of life."

Following Prof. Fenn's address, the whole class was heard in the chorus
"CLASS GIFT PRESENTED."

John Johnson Mahoney, president of the class, in a brief and appropriate speech, presented the class gift to the school, a prize.

essays upon "The Makers of Lowell."
The winners were: First prize, Miss
Lillian M. Smith; second prize, Al-
bertine Bernier.

The tenth number of the program
was a semi-chorus, which sang Mendelsohn's "Sleep, Gentle Babe," and immediately after followed the presentation of the Carney medals, and the reading of the list of those pupils given honorable mention. The Carney medal scholars are as follows: Grover Franklin Fox, Herbert Barney Cady, Marshall Cotting Pratt, Ellenore Frances Murray, Irene Eugenie Gauthier, and Alice Lucille Cluin. The honorable mention students, who received a rank
of 90 or more for the four years' course, are Maude Anna Fowler, Maud E. Curtis, Mary E. Quirbach, Marion E. Mc-Knight, Helen E. Hartford, Leona H.
Deaght, Lora Genevieve Gervais and Catherine Pratt.

Another semi-chorus followed the presentation of the Carney medals,
with an obligato by Miss Kathleen Wright. The selection given was Gray's "A Dream of Paradise."

THE VALEDICTORY.

The valedictory, entitled "Industrial Education," which follows, was by Grover Franklin Fox:

"Education is the root of all success," it has been said, and as years go by, the nations, the world over, are recognizing more and more, the fact that education not only for professional and business life is essential for the prosperity of a country, but also, education for the various trades, or industrial education.

The objects of industrial training
are: First, to benefit the individual who earns his livelihood by the work of his hands, so that he may become a skilled workman, and receive a better compensation for his services. People who come in contact with the harder side of the workman's life, believe that they see in some form of industrial education, a way of securing higher wages, more self-reliance and self-respect, and better industrial conditions. Second, to provide a sufficient number of skilled workmen on whom employers may depend to do their work in the most satisfactory manner. Today, in almost every mill or shop a large force of sub-foremen, or expert mechanics, has to be kept to repair the machinery and keep it in working order.

In the ordinary working man, there is lack of what may be called "industrial intelligence." This term is defined in the "Report of the commission on industrial education," appointed by Governor Douglas in 1896, as "mental power to see beyond the task which occupies the hands for the moment to the operations which have preceded and to those which will follow it, power to take in the whole process, knowledge of materials, means of costs, ideas of organization, business sense, and a conscience which recognizes obligations."

At present, manufacturers everywhere state that because of the lack of men who possess this "industrial intelligence," the processes of manufacture are made more expensive, the grade of the manufactured goods is lowered, and the quantity lessened;
they also maintain that by the industrial school this intelligence will be developed.

In the greater part of the prisons, and in the truant and reform schools throughout the country, industrial training is given. Now, if this training is the means of helping those who have done wrong to a better life, why it was begun earlier, might it not be a means of preventing them from wrong doing.

In former times the training for all occupations was provided for by the aprenticeship system. A boy was set to work to learn his trade, and when he finished his apprenticeship he was considered to have part of the work learned. Today, however, in learning a trade, because of the division of labor, brought about by the introduction of modern machinery, one is confined to a single part of the work, and is not given a chance to learn any other part.

The apprentice of former days did not have the advantages for scholarly attainments that the boy now has, yet
he often became an influential man.
Today there is a better opportunity for intellectual training, for the school year has been gradually lengthened,
the age limit raised and attendance at school, up to a certain age, has become compulsory. Because of this, there should be some form of industrial training to take the place of the apprenticeship system, or where will the workmen for future years come from?

In respect to trade schools, the United States is far behind all other nations. At the Centennial Exposition
at Philadelphia, in 1876, manufactured articles from all parts of the world were displayed. Of these, the exhibits from France, which had been supporting trade schools for many years previous, ranked first. Germany learned her lesson from this and today her trade schools are the best in the world.
England also was aroused to the fact that if she wished to keep her industrial supremacy, she must also provide similar schools. Other nations followed her example, until now almost every European country maintains schools for training her workmen.

The American technical and textile schools are doing much in the industrial line. But these schools are not by any means within the reach of all,
for they are only for boys with a high school education or an equivalent.
Another important branch of industrial education is the agricultural training which is carried on in separate departments of many colleges and also in some colleges, established and carried on expressly for that purpose.
But, like the technical and textile schools, a higher education than the grammar schools furnish, is required for admission into the greater part of these colleges, and so they are not in the reach of those who leave school at 14 or 16 years of age. Therefore, there are a few schools in which subjects are taught that prepare the student for these colleges, schools where the boys who leave school at 14 and 16 will find so many attractions that they will be glad to attend.

It is estimated that there are no fewer than 25,000 children in Massachusetts between 14 and 16 who are out of school, most of these because they do not attend the grammar schools.
Many of these 25,000 children, if they had the chance and knew that these schools would fit them for some vocation that would be beneficial to them, and the first two or three years after leaving school, would not be wasted
as they practically are, for employers
of the more desirable industries say that they do not want a boy of 16 years of age. Without industrial training boys become lazier, elevator boys or work in the juvenile industry which requires a little skill that is not of real value in fitting them for a vocation, and at the age of 18 or 20 they are not fitted for any trade requiring skill. So, if there is to be a system of industrial education, it must reach the youth of 14 as well as the youth of 18 and 20.

The large number of people who are availing themselves of the opportunities afforded by the correspondence schools, the school of the General Electric Co. at Lynn, Mass., and the Mass.
Trade School for Girls, a number
which is estimated at 25,000 in Massachusetts alone, the large classes in the evening high schools, and textile schools, those maintained by Y. M. C.
A's and those under private management, such as those that wage education, and that they would be glad of an opportunity to attend a school that would make them more efficient workmen in a shorter time than it takes to learn a trade in the shop.

The combination of intellectual training with industrial education,
such as a well equipped trade school,
would not only elevate manual labor,
dignify industry and make more efficient workmen, but it would bring about a mutual appreciation between the professional and the working classes.

Graduates of the class of 1908, most of us are leaving the high school, some to go to higher institutions of learning, others to take up work in the industrial lines and others to enter business. But, though separated and following different pursuits, we shall always remember the Lowell
high school, and strive to bring honor and credit to her.

Although in time there will be industrial schools, they can never take the place of the high school, for that will always be needed to prepare the boys and girls who wish to go on to higher schools and colleges. Even if,
after going through the high school,
one should desire to take up the industrial training, the individual attending the high school will be a great benefit to him. Whatever changes may come in educational lines the high school will always stand for broad and liberal culture, and we feel sure that our school to which we had devoted our youth will always stand as a great asset.

"Send the Lily Bells" was sung by the whole class, and then came the presentation of diplomas, from the hands of Mayor Frederick W. Farnham, who made a brief and appropriate speech.

Upon receiving their diplomas, the class members sang the class song, written by Miss Lillian Aker.

Presentation of diplomas,
His Honor, the Mayor, Frederick W.
Farnham.

The class ode was as follows:
The time has come for us to part
Our school-day tasks are o'er;
We leave our school with aching heart
to return to her no more.

We'll all look back at the happy years,
We've spent within her walls;
Then dry our tears and forget our fears,
For we know that duty calls.

Farwell, dear schoolmates, one and all.

Dear teachers, too, farewell;
We waste with joy to leave the call,
Yet with grief our bosoms swell.

Although we soon may drift away,
Fond memories with us dwell;
We trust that we shall meet some day,
No more to say farewell.

ST. JOHN'S DAY

TO BE OBSERVED ELABORATELY BY
KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

BOSTON, June 23.—What the festival of St. John, otherwise Bee, is to be, craft Masonry, June 24, or St. John the Baptist, is to be Knights Templar. Those who in the bounds of the grand community of Massachusetts and Rhode Island have always made the occasion one of special significance, but the public observance has never been on so elaborate a scale as will be given this year. Such demonstrations have been made possible by the formation of a certain number of communities into groups or associations, and each of these, in turn, selects the best of its members to represent the day in a manner best suited to themselves, and so have not only their own associations, but the three in existence have determined that this year they will all observe anything attempted in the past.

BARBERS' OUTING

HELD AT MOUNTAIN ROCK YESTERDAY.

At Mountain Rock, yesterday afternoon and evening, the Lowell master and journeymen barbers had an outing which proved a highly enjoyable one. A delightful feature of the occasion was a baseball game between the journeymen and the master barbers, the former winning by a score of 15 to 11. The features of the game were the playing on first of Stone, the catching of Nadeau and the pitching of McAlister. After the ball game Donahoe and DeLisle gave an exhibition of wrestling. During the afternoon Chris. Royalt gave some good old air magic. Refreshments were served. Outing outings are planned during the summer.

ball throughout. On account of a lack of funds the boys must go without sweaters. Raymond Foye, catcher and first baseman of the high school baseball team, was chosen captain for next year at a meeting of the L members of this year's team, held at the school yesterday. Foye is a sophomore and has played on the team his two years in high school, and during that time has made a very creditable showing.

Outside of the Merrimack Valley league games, of which they lost two, the Lowell boys did not lose a contest, while they defeated such teams as Everett, winner of the championship of the Suburban league of schools about Boston; Melrose, second in the same league race; Arlington high, St. Joseph's college, and many others. In total points Lowell scored 141 points to 65 for opponents.

The following nine players were awarded their L's at a meeting of the athletic board: Captain George Mahoney, Jack Parker, Raymond Foye, Joseph Donahoe, Clifford Stephens, Lindsay Thompson, Edward McVey, Cecil Dodge and Harry Swann. Of the players that received their L's, Foye, Donahoe, Stephens, Swann and McVey will return to school next year, while Woodies will be the only substitute to return.

AMERICAN VESSELS

TO BE EXCLUDED FROM CANADIAN TRADE ON PACIFIC.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 23.—American vessels will hereafter be excluded from the coasting trade of Canada on the Pacific. For some years the coasting laws of Canada have been suspended as far as the Pacific coast is concerned owing to the fact that there was not enough Canadian and British tonnage to fill the trade requirements. American boats have done a large and profitable business between such ports as Vancouver, Victoria and Skagway. It has been decided by the government that there is enough British and Canadian tonnage on the coast to look after the trade and the same coasting regulation has been put into force for the Pacific coast as applies to the Atlantic.

SHAM WAR

TO BE ENGAGED IN AT BOSTON TOMORROW.

BOSTON, June 22.—The militia men and regular artillery men devoted most of their time today for preparations for the actual beginning of the sham war maneuvers tomorrow. It was expected that the declaration of war should be made at midnight tonight and in participation of this the regular officers were last night allotted to the several ports to instruct the soldiers, conducted the infantry over the entire reservation on which the different forts were situated for the purpose of studying the lay of the land so that lines of defense might be located to properly cover all possible approaches and landing places, whether from the water and mainland. Company drills, bayonet exercises, advances, rear guard and flank formations were also studied and practised during the day.

An Attempt to Poison Thos. May's Cows

CAKE FILLED WITH PARIS GREEN

Thrown About in the Pasture

Somebody, it would appear, is out to poison several cows belonging to Thos. May, the well known employee of the Locks & Canals company, who tends the gate at Pawtucket Falls. Mr. May resides in the house in School street, adjoining the gate house, and his cows pasture in the field along the river bank nearby.

When he went into the pasture this morning he found a large quantity of cake distributed about in the field where the cows graze. Taking it to his house and looking it over carefully, he found it to be filled with Paris Green, a sufficient quantity having been left to kill all of the cows, had they eaten it.

He notified the police, and Lieut. Brosnan, called and took the cake away to the police station. The police will make an investigation.

JOSEPH ALBERT NEW BUILDINGS

Lost Big Roll of Bills at Depot

Undertaker, Joseph Albert, parted with a big roll of money last night in a very mysterious way. He was about to take a train for Canada and stepped into the telephone booth in the northern depot to phone to his place of business in Cheever street.

In his trousers pocket was placed his roll of bills and Mr. Albert is under the impression that in delving into his pocket to bring up the nickel required for a telephone toll, he unwittingly pulled up the money now missing.

After discovering his loss Mr. Albert repaired to the telephone booth. But there was no money there.

The loss of the money will not, however, prevent Mr. Albert from making his contemplated visit to Canada to meet his boy who is a student at college there, for he will leave for Montreal tomorrow night.

CITY IS FIRE SWEPT

Damage of $3,000,000 to Three Rivers, Quebec

THREE RIVERS, Que., June 23.—Fanned by a high wind, a fire which broke out shortly before noon yesterday in a stable did not pause in its work of destruction until the greater part of the lower town, containing the business section of the city, had been consumed. Then, with the assistance of firemen from Montreal, Quebec, Sherbrooke and Grande Mere, it was held in check.

Almost every building of any consequence in that section of the city was destroyed, including the post office, the city hall, every hotel worthy of the name with one exception, the fine building of the Hochlaga bank and almost all of the leading stores. Over 300 buildings were burned.

The narrow streets of the town and the inflammable nature of many of the buildings in the path of the fire rendered the task of the firemen a hard one. Outside the town is located the camp of the sixth military district, and soon after the fire started 1000 men were sent in to help fight the flames, but it was not until nearly four hours after the fire had assumed threatening dimensions that organized effort by the fire fighters from the other cities was available.

Among the buildings burned, in addition to those mentioned above, are the

St. James Anglican church, the oldest Anglican church building in Canada; the Roman Catholic church; Drolet, La Londe & Co.'s big department store; the Dufresne, Windsor, Dominion and Richelieu hotels, the telegraph offices and the Bell Telephone company's exchange.

The loss will certainly reach three million dollars. So far no loss of life has been reported.

THE LATEST REPORT.

THREE RIVERS, Que., June 23. About 1000 people are homeless and more than $3,000,000 worth of damage was done by a fire which broke out here yesterday. The heart of the old city has been wiped out of existence and for half a mile square in the business section, only blackened ruins remained with a few gaunt chimneys standing intact while furniture saved from the doomed buildings is piled up in the public square. There was no loss of life.

Five banks and eleven hotels were burned to the ground and the old parish church of Three Rivers, originally built in 1661 and rebuilt in 1714, is destroyed except for the walls which are still standing.

The custom house is also in ruins. The latter building is also a historic one, being used as a barracks in the early colonial days.

OPEN THE DEPOT

Conference Held In This City Yesterday

A committee of the directors of the board of trade, consisting of President Smith, Secretary McKenna and Daniel F. Carroll, held a conference with Mr. H. C. Robinson, superintendent of the southern division of the Boston & Maine, and Mr. Herbert C. Taft, local agent, relative to keeping the northern depot open every evening.

The existing conditions at the depot are rather unsatisfactory, especially in bad weather, and many complaints have been made to the board of trade relative to them. When the 9.30 train for Boston leaves each evening the depot is closed and is not opened again until the arrival of the theatre train at 12.29 o'clock. Those who go to the depot to await the arrival of friends on the 9.35 of the 10.30 trains from Boston are forced to wait on the platform or go into the hotels. In cold and stormy weather this arrangement is most unsatisfactory.

Mr. Robinson stated that in his opinion keeping open the depot throughout the evening would not conserve the interest of the patrons of the road to any great extent and he stated further that aside from the additional expense entailed by such a proposition the opening of the depot would cause the congregating therein of undesirable people and that the railroad officials would be unable to discriminate between the patrons and those who had no right there. Numerous cases in which complaint had been made to the directors of the board of trade were cited to the railroad men and Mr. Robinson suggested that it might relieve this situation to open the depot for 10 minutes before and after the arrival of the 9.35 and 10.30 trains and he stated that he would take the matter under advisement and would report to the committee as soon as possible.

MERRIMACK VALLEY OFFICIALS.

The presidents and secretaries of the Merrimack valley boards of trade will meet in this city on Thursday afternoon for the purpose of discussing plans for the annual outing and any other business they may be brought up. The meeting will be called to order by Dr. M. F. Sullivan, president of the Lawrence board.

SENATOR SMART'S ILLNESS.

BAYON ROUGE, La., June 22.—An announcement late last night by J. J. McLaughlin, chairman of the New Orleans Anti-Racetrack league put an unusual phase on the illness of Senator Smart whose absence was one of the excuses for the Locke bill's failure to pass. Senator Smart was taken violently ill immediately after dinner last night and Mr. McLaughlin's statement says that attending physicians thought the attack might be due to "some foreign substance which resembles poison very much." Senator Smart telegraphed that he would arrive today. The auto sent for him broke down in the mud.

GREAT ROOTING

Lowell Pounded Out a Decisive Victory

Great Stick Work Aroused the Enthusiasm of the Fans—Zinssar Does Some Fine Stick Work

The second game between Lowell and Lawrence started ten minutes after the conclusion of the first game. The only change in the lineup of the teams was in the battery. Greenwell went on the slab for Lowell while Almsmith went behind the bat. For the visitors two former Lowell men were in the lineups, Cameron doing the twirling and Dan Duggan behind the bat.

FIRST INNING

The first inning of the second game was a repetition of the first inning for the first game, for the visitors started off with three runs. Harter hit to Vandergrift and the latter threw bad to first, the runner reaching first in safety. He was nailed, however, while trying to reach second. Flynn singled by Shannon. Vinson struck out. McLean singled and Devine then hit to center field for a three bagger and Wilson and McLean scored. Murch closed the inning flying out to Magee.

In the latter half of the first inning Shannon drew a base on balls and Zinssar followed with a strike out. Magee hit to Flynn who threw to second, getting Shannon and Harter sent the ball to first for a double play.

Score—Lawrence 2, Lowell 0.

SECOND INNING

Neither side scored in the second inning. Duggan opened the inning with a single and went to second on Cameron's sacrifice. Harter hit to Shannon and was out at first while Flynn fled out to Howard.

In the latter half of the inning Howard fled out to Harter, Duff fled out to Vinson and Wolfe hit to Flynn and was out at first.

Score—Lawrence 3, Lowell 0.

THIRD INNING

In the third inning Vinson fled out to Shannon, Wilson hit to Shannon and was out at first and McLean fled out to Magee.

Vandergrift got hit by a pitched ball in the latter half of the third. Almsmith followed with a base on balls. Duggan then caught Vandergrift napping at second and threw him out. Greenwell fled out to Vinson and Shannon hit to Harter forcing Almsmith at second.

Score—Lawrence 3, Lowell 0.

FOURTH INNING

Lowell broke the tie in the fourth inning and sent one man over the plate, while the visitors failed to score. Devine hit to Wolfe and was out at first. Murch singled by Shannon. Duggan hit to Vandergrift and was out at first while Cameron fled out to Magee.

Harter fled out to Howard. Flynn hit to Wolfe who tagged second and the ball was then sent to first for a double play.

Score—Lowell 13, Lawrence 3.

DIAMOND NOTES

At Glen Forest today.

The first game was dandy baseball after Warner woke up; after the first inning.

But the second game was the fun, for there was much excitement and real rooting than at any other game this season. The many ladies present enjoyed the fun hugely.

"Go in yourself, Malachi," cried a rooster to Mal. Easton, and the crowd took kindly to the name "Malachi" and kept it. "Mal" in this case is a contraction of "Malachi".

Zinssar displayed considerable ginger and made five bingos in the two games.

With Zinssar on one side of the score card and Vinson on the other, one would think he was up against a soda fountain.

Magee made a hit in left field. He has a great wing, an hit the ball and is a good runner. He appears to be all that Sharrott said he was.

It was reported at the grounds yesterday that Shannon had been sold to Haverhill.

Dan Duggan is playing a good game for Lawrence.

Little Tommy Devine, when he hits the ball hits it hard and generally safe.

HAZLETON SIGNED

BOSTON AMERICANS GET DARTMOUTH PITCHER.

BOSTON, June 23.—Announcement was made by the management of the Boston American baseball team last night, that Sidney Hazleton, the former Dartmouth college pitcher, had been signed. Hazleton was one of the Dartmouth baseball men who were last year declared ineligible for this year's team on account of charges of professionalism.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Chelmsford Baseball club would like to arrange games with strong amateur teams in and around Lowell for Saturday afternoon, June 27, July 11 and August dates are still open, and we would like to fill them at once. Write to LaRoy A. Cheney, Chelmsford, Mass.

A suggestion to the park commission: Wet down the diamond on the South common on such a day as last Saturday and it will be appreciated by both players and spectators. During the game Saturday the wind blew dust in the faces of the players, making it extremely difficult to play.

The continual wrangles that some of the Catholic league teams are wont to start could be eliminated from the contest by a little cool-headedness on all sides.

The officials of the Catholic league should see to it that those responsible for stopping a game abruptly should be penalized individually, not throw the blame on an entire team.

For an All round ball player, Barry, the first baseman of the St. Patrick's sanctuary choir, takes the palm.

Maloney of the Mathews can run some when the occasion requires. His exhibition Saturday was quite the best seen in years.

The St. John's team of No. Chelmsford, it is said, is to be materially strengthened.

Those who witnessed Saturday's Mathew-St. Patrick's game declare that Jimmy Winn's umpiring was excellent. After the game a fan remarked that "Hank" Dally himself could not satisfy such contestants as were battling there Saturday.

The meeting of the league this week will be interesting for the boys for the Aere are, it is said, out to protest against the awarding of the game to the cold water boys.

Such wrangles as took place Saturday on the South common are calculated to make the league weak in the eyes of the public and are forerunners of times of disruption.

A RECEPTION

AT RESIDENCE OF MR. AND MRS. HUGH C. MOOSER.

The residence of Mr. Hugh C. Mosser and wife, 208 Southpole street, was last night the scene of a highly delightful reception held in honor of Mr. Max Jurschek, L.L.D., of San Antonio, Texas, Mr. James Bradley of this city, and Mr. Joseph Casey of Trenton, N. J. Holy Cross men, and Denis A. O'Brien of this city. The house and grounds were brilliantly lighted and the decorations within were of flowers and the colors of the guests—blue and gold for Notre Dame, of which Dr. Jurschek is an alumnus, and purple and white for Holy Cross, and blue and white for Boston college. There were many young people present and many entertaining features were provided. The reception was throughout one of the most pleasant of the season. Dr. Jurschek with two other Notre Dame men will sail for Europe on Friday. They plan a very extended trip on bicycles specially constructed for mountain travel. Their itinerary includes the northern countries of Continental Europe, with a wheeling trip over the Alps. Italy they expect to reach next March and thence to the Holy Land, with a visit to Russia at the end. They expect to be abroad about a year.

JAPANESE APPOINTMENT.

OSTER RAY, N. Y., June 22.—President Roosevelt today appointed John C. O'Loughlin at Washington as secretary to the American commission to the Japan exhibition at Tokyo in 1911. His salary will be $5000 a year.

6 O'CLOCK

JOHN MELLAS FINED

For Assaulting Constable Savithes, Tax CollectorAn Appeal Taken — Lively Tilts Between the Opposing Counsel, Messrs Donahue and Hill,
City Solicitor

A case of considerable interest, with many points of law involved, was tried in police court this morning, it being the case of John Mellas, charged with assaulting Jordan S. Savithes, a duly-delegated constable of the city of Lowell.

City Solicitor J. Gilbert Hill was the prosecuting officer and Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the defense, and the latter, in his cross-examination of the government's witnesses, asked many pertinent questions and from time to time referred to the grafters at city hall, grafters in the employ of the city, getting pay without doing any work and many other little short-run tacks that were not relished by the witnesses.

The case in question grew out of the attempt to collect a tax bill from one John Mellas. According to the testimony offered the warrant for the bill was given to Constables Savithes and McManus and that they attempted to collect the money last Thursday morning, but Mellas made his escape through a rear door. In the afternoon they called again and in an attempt to make the collection the defendant refused to pay and when placed under arrest by Savithes assaulted the latter.

Joseph Farrell, assistant city treasurer, was the first witness called and testified in part as follows:

"John Mellas, residing at 394 Adams street, was assessed as a poll and a tax bill was sent to him and later a demand was issued. That tax bill has not been paid as yet."

Witness said that to the best of his knowledge all of the ward two tax bills, uncollected, were given to Constable McManus.

Jordan S. Savithes, constable, testified:

"Last week I received a warrant from the city treasurer to collect a tax bill from John Mellas. I called at his place of business in Flood's alley and inquired for him. I learned that he was at his home. I went to his home and saw him and presented the bill. He told me to wait until he got his shoes on and he would pay me. I waited for him about 10 minutes and he never came out."

"In the afternoon I called at the bake shop and saw Mellas outside the door. I asked him if he was going to pay the bill and he said he would if his name was on the warrant. I told him that I was a constable and that if he did not pay the bill I would place him under arrest. He refused to pay and I placed my hand on his shoulder and he pushed me up against the wall and punched me twice in the chest. On cross-examination Lawyer Donahue tried to show that the bill was given to John McManus, constable, to collect and not to Savithes. Mr. Savithes said he knew the defendant as John Mellas and John Maracoulis and knew his financial standing."

Mr. Donahue began a rapid-fire of questions and City Solicitor Hill objected. Mr. Donahue turning around to the solicitor said: "I know the propriety of the argument of the learned solicitor from 'grafters' hall."

Continuing, Mr. Donahue asked: "What do you do?"

"I am a constable."

"What else?"

"I am also a collector of taxes."

"What are your specialties?"

"I am an interpreter."

Again Mr. Hill remonstrated against the examination of the witness and Mr. Donahue said:

"I suppose we can try to identify this man an endeavor to learn if he is another grafter from city hall living on the city without doing anything."

"What else do you do?"

"I deal in real estate."

Peter Harlan testified he was a "trouble" man in the employ of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., and resides in Manchester. Last Thursday he was working on a pole in the vicinity of Flood's alley and saw that fellow and the other fellow, Savithes and Mellas, struggling, but saw no blows struck. Somebody asked him to telephone to the police station and call the patrol. He did so, but when the wagon came the man had gone away.

Special Officer John Regis testified that while he was standing in his coat way a couple of boys ran up to him and said there was trouble in the alley. When he arrived, however, if there was any trouble it was over.

CONSTABLE MC MANUS.

Constable John McManus was the next witness. He testified in part as follows: "Mr. Savithes and myself were given a warrant last Thursday by the city treasurer to collect a tax from John Mellas. We went to his place in Flood's alley and the bill was presented. He said: 'Wait a minute,' and after waiting for ten minutes found that Mellas had left by a back door."

Witness testified to going to the bake shop in the afternoon with Savithes and told the story of the assault. His testimony in part being the same as that offered by Mr. Savithes.

Grant in question was in the hands of Mr. Savithes. Warrant No. 428 was shown to witness and he testified that

The warrant shown him was the warrant given to Savithes.

Mr. Savithes was recalled and testified that the warrant presented in evidence was a copy. He said that the original warrant was torn up in the struggle and he rushed back to city hall and secured another warrant.

After further evidence had been offered by both sides some acrimonious verbal jolts passed by the counsel of both sides, the court adjudged the defendant guilty and he fined him $15.

An appeal was taken and sureties were given in the sum of $50 for the appearance of the defendant before the superior court.

Lawyer Donahue stated that he would bring civil suit in behalf of Mellas against Constable Savithes.

WOMAN COLLAPSED

WHEN ASKED TO PLEAD IN COURT.

Catherine E. Hughes was arrested at Lakeview park yesterday and in court this morning was asked to plead to a complaint charging her with drunkenness. As the clerk started to read the woman collapsed and had to be carried from the court room. After about half an hour she had recovered sufficiently to return to the room and a fine of $3 was imposed.

After making the sentence Judge Hadley said: "I know your history, and you have known it for a number of years. You are here again I will send you to the reformatory prison for women. You had better get out of this jurisdiction as soon as you can. You had better go to your home in Hudson."

MINISTER BRYCE

CANADA DESTINED TO BE OUR FRIEND.

DULUTH, Minn., June 23.—"Canada and the United States are destined by the Almighty to be friends," said James Bryce, ambassador of Great Britain to the United States in a speech at the Commercial club banquet given in his honor last night.

"You have many settlers in the United States from Canada and in Canada we have many from the United States. It is my privilege to try to prevent any misunderstandings or friction between Canada and the United States."

"No British ambassador could have more respect and confidence than I in that great and brilliant man, President Roosevelt, who is honored and esteemed in Great Britain as he is honored and esteemed here."

"During the past few months four treaties have been signed that are designed to overcome difficulties that hereafter may arise between the United States and Canada. These are proofs of the cordial relations that exist between these countries."

JAS. S. SHERMAN

Taken Very Ill and Sent to a Hospital

JAMES S. SHERMAN.

He Has Gall Stones and Will be Operated Upon—Anxiety Felt for His Condition

UTICA, N. Y., June 23.—James S. Sherman, the republican candidate for vice president, has been compelled to go to a hospital in Cleveland for treatment of an old complaint, according to a message received by his family here today. The same message announced that Dr. Finney of Baltimore, who attended Mr. Sherman during an attack of the same trouble in Washington last year, had been summoned by special train. Mrs. Sherman and one of her sons left for Cleveland by the first train.

The news received here is very distressing, and it is said that Mr. Sherman is in a serious condition. Extensive arrangements had been made to give him a great reception on his return this evening.

SHERMAN MAY DIE.

CLEVELAND, June 23.—James S. Sherman, the republican vice presidential candidate, who has been ill here for the past few days, was taken to a severe chill at 4:30 this morning. Physicians were immediately called. It was found that Mr. Sherman was suffering from gall stones. It was decided to remove Mr. Sherman from the home of ex-Gov. Herrick to a hospital at once, and it is possible that an operation will be performed during the day. At 9 o'clock it was stated that Mr. Sherman was resting very comfortably and his temperature had fallen to normal. It had been as high as 102 earlier in the day.

SUMMER CHANGES

IN THE TIME TABLE OF THE BOSTON AND MAINE.

On several of the division of the Boston and Maine railroad yesterday, the summer changes were made, but those chiefly affecting Lowell will not be in vogue until Monday next, June 23.

The regular York beach train, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, has been discontinued entirely; but it is possible to get to the beach by leaving Lowell at 2:30 p.m., making four changes at Lowell Junction, Bradford, Georgetown and Newburyport, arriving at York at 5:30.

The morning train to Portland has been changed from 8:45 to 9:00, and the afternoon train from 4:06 to 3:40. The changes which will be most interesting to Lowell, as above stated, will not be put in working order until next week Monday, and until then the Lowell-Boston service remains unchanged. After Monday, however, there will be several new trains on the Mountain division which will serve this city as locals to and from Boston.

The summer service to the White Mountains begins, June 25. Over the Southern division, via the Merrimack Valley route, the morning express will leave at 9:15 a.m., running through to Berlin Woods, and carrying a parlor car to that point, to North Woodstock and Jefferson. At 1:15 o'clock the fullman service includes cars to Berlin Woods and Plymouth, with a car to North Woodstock Saturdays.

With the assumption of the summer service the mail over the White Mountains division leaving Boston at 9 a.m. will be discontinued beyond Concord. In place of it a new train will leave Boston at 9:30 a.m., running through to Plymouth, where it arrives at 11:35 a.m. Another new train will leave Plymouth at 2 p.m. and is due at Woodsville at 3:45. The Canadian Pacific air-line ferry for Montreal, which will continue to leave Boston at 10 a.m., will make no stops between Concord and Lacena, bound north, and between Lacena and Plymouth, bound south. The Ashland and Merrimack stations will be covered by the 9:15 White Mountain express. The "White" train will carry a Minneapolis sleeper, a cafe car to Montreal, and a parlor car to Plymouth. South bound from Woodsville to Concord, this train will stop at Plymouth, Lacena and Tilton. The other stations being made by the following local, which will run through to Boston instead of to Concord, as in the winter schedule. The Montreal train will be due at the Hub at 8:25 in the morning and the local will arrive at 9:10. The Montreal express will answer as the afternoon train from the White Mountains, the connecting lines leaving Lancaster at 2:15, Bretton Woods at 12:45 and Berlin at 11:50.

IN POLICE COURT

Man Fined for Assault on Officer

Manuel Pitter and Dennis Maher were arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging them with drunkenness and disturbing the peace. Maher entered a plea of guilty, while Pitter, through his counsel, Dennis J. Murphy, pleaded not guilty. Mr. Murphy succeeded in securing Pitter's discharge, while Maher was fined $10. Joseph Loughran represented Maher, who started the trouble.

During the trial of the case a woman, whose name could not be learned, but who was evidently a friend of Maher, created a disturbance in the court room by making loud exclamations and it was necessary to have her removed.

Patrolman Charles H. Hersey who arrested the two men testified that last Friday about midnight while passing through Charles street near the corner of Chapel street his attention was attracted to a fight in the middle of the street. There were three men engaged in the encounter and he managed to arrest two of them, Maher and Pitter.

At this point a woman who was occupying a seat on one of the settees occupied by lady witnesses arose and shouted at the top of her voice: "He was not there at three o'clock in the morning." She kept repeating the remark and while several officers rushed to the woman and endeavored to silence her she refused to stop talking until the court said: "Take that woman out of the courtroom."

Patrolman Simon Lusk called and testified that he was at the scene when the two men were arrested and they were drunk.

Pitter, one of the defendants, when called testified as follows:

"I was sitting outside my door when Maher came along and said: 'Give me some tobacco.' I told him if he wanted tobacco to go and buy it. With that he gave me a punch in the face and in self-defense, pushed him into the road. When the 'cop' (the police officer) came along he said to me that I was drunk and when I started to explain how the affair stood the 'cop' arrested me."

After the testimony had been presented the court said: "An officer arriving on the scene is unnecessarily in the dark as to the merits of the case. One may be the attacking party and the other the resisting party as he has a right to be. It is unwise under the circumstances to treat both parties as offenders of the law. The officer knows nothing of the real merits. When a man is attacked he naturally enough arises and defends himself. Take for instance if a person is walking along the street and a drunken person approaches him and he resists. He is unwittingly a violator of the law. These classes of cases call for a more thorough investigation."

Pitter was found not guilty on both complaints and Maher was found guilty on the charge of drunkenness and a fine of $10 was imposed.

John Loulos, Theodore Limpert and Harry Antanasios were arrested at Lakeview park yesterday and the two first named were charged with assault upon an officer, Special Officer John J. Cox, while the latter was charged with drunkenness.

According to the testimony offered Mr. Cox had arrested Antanasios when the other two came to the latter's assistance and assaulted Mr. Cox. Antanasios was fined $20 while the other two were fined $20 to be paid within three days or spend three months in jail.

Nacoleen Nero, an old timer, was sentenced to four months in jail. The case of Patrick Morrison, drunkenness, was continued till tomorrow morning.

In the case of Frank Caban who had been under a suspended sentence of four months in the house of correction, the suspension was revoked and he was committed.

John J. Burke and Cyrillo Desrosiers, second offenders, were fined $5 each.

Two first offenders were fined $2 each.

William Callahan, assault and battery and threatening, was sentenced to four months in jail, two months on cash complaint.

Louis Forcett appeared in police court this afternoon and pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with the larceny of a watch and $9 from John Auger.

ALDERMAN GRAY

NOW BELIEVES THAT INSPECTOR SMITH IS RIGHT.

It is expected that the opinion asked for by Alderman Gray, chairman of the committee on accounts, relative to the increase in pay of Clerk Bourque of the lands and buildings department, will be forthcoming tomorrow. City solicitor Hill was in Cambridge today and asked when he expected to receive the opinion, Alderman Gray said he expected that the city solicitor would have it ready tomorrow.

It will be remembered that Inspector Smith, head of the lands and buildings department, increased Mr. Bourque's pay from $18 to $24 a week and Alderman Gray, who has voted the power by the committee on accounts to approve or disapprove the pay rolls, struck out the name of Bourque at twenty-four per. and then asked for the city solicitor's opinion in the matter.

It is now generally conceded that Inspector Smith was not exceeding his authority when he advanced Bourque's pay and that the city will have to pay Mr. Bourque at the rate of $24 a week.

Mr. Gray has not drawn any pay for his name was voted by the chairman of the committee on accounts about three weeks ago.

COTTON WASTE

CAUGHT FIRE WHILE ON A WAGON.

The engineers who are in this city representing the national board of fire underwriters tested six engines in Lowell today, three in the forenoon and three in the afternoon. They will report the result of their tests later. Yesterday forenoon a rather unusual accident occurred at the corner of Merrimack and Suffolk streets when two bales of cotton being carried to one of the mills by the Lowell Waste company took fire and the fire was making pretty good headway when the engine took a hard and knocked it out in the first round.

A Delightful Entertainment at School

MARKED CLOSE OF YEAR

Final Exercises Will be Held Tonight

The opening night's entertainment in connection with the commencement exercises of the Sacred Heart parochial school was held last evening and was fully up to the high standard ever maintained by that successful institution.

Among the guests were Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. L., pastor and director of the school, whose careful personal interest in its welfare has been a factor in its success; and his assistants, Rev. Fra Robert Barrett, O. M. L., Bernard Fletcher, O. M. L., and John O'Brien, O. M. L. This evening the guest of honor will be Very Rev. Fr. Fallon, O. M. L., provincial of the order.

The hall and stage were prettily decorated with the national colors, while the front of the stage was set off with potted palms.

Last evening's entertainment was by the younger pupils and the program was as follows:

When Softly Dawns the Golden Light, Opening Hymn

Welcome to All, Recitation Little Misses L. Plunkett, A. Heaton, M. Kierman.

Pantomime, Spring, Summer, Autumn, and the Flowers.

Scientific Treatment That Costs Nothing Unless It Cures.

Neuralgic Anodyne's remarkable cures of rheumatism has probably caused more favorable talk and comment than any other rheumatism cure ever put on the market, as it seems unfailing in curing this dread disease.

It is much more successful than ordinary rheumatism remedies, due to its action being entirely different. It is taken in small doses internally, reaching the nerve centers and driving the Uric Acid from the blood. At the same time, it is rubbed on the affected parts, and thus its curative power goes through the pores of the skin to the aching tissues and throbbing nerves, giving quick relief and cure.

So reliable is the Anodyne in curing rheumatism, neuralgia and all aches and pains that it is sold under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if not satisfactory.

A large-sized bottle costs 25c; nothing if it does not cure. It is made by the Twilchell-Champlin Co., Portland, Me.

Rogers, Village Boys and Hessian Regiment, A Child's Wish, Song, Thirty Little Girls, Patriotic Operetta—Act II, There wasn't a weak number in the entire program and the little ones showed careful training while artistic taste was displayed in selecting the program.

The pantomime, "Spring, Summer, Autumn and the Flowers," was a beautiful number, the flowers being 60 tots dressed in white and wearing wreaths of flowers. These, apparently, were asleep until five little girls dressed in grass green, representing spring, came on the stage singing spring songs, when the flowers slightly raised their heads. Then advanced five more girls dressed in green covered with flowers, representing summer, and singing, when the flowers rose and sang; autumn represented by five more girls dressed in green, covered with autumn leaves and wearing tinsel crowns to represent fall, came on the stage and sang, when the flowers dropped their heads and fell away. One of the best numbers was the tableau, "Grandma's Birthday," with 40 little ones in it. Miss Ethel Sheehan singing a sweet solo while she crowned grandma. In fact all the numbers were worthy of special praise, but special mention should be given Masters J. Harron, L. Rogers, F. Sharkey and G. Rogers, who took individual parts in the "Boys' Patriotic Operetta."

Between the numbers there were artistic piano selections by the talented accompanists of the evening, Misses Helen Kervin and Frances Parker. The program this evening will be given by the older pupils.

The Tabernacle society, which exhibited such excellent needlework Sunday in the vestibule of the church, is comprised of the following pupils: Augusta Barn, Mary Bassett, Elizabeth Bassett, Alice Banger, Mary Craig, Rose A. PRINCE OLAF.

Little Prince Olaf, the heir to the throne of Norway, is most popular with the mass of his subjects, and bids fair to make a fitting successor to his royal father. The little chap is as sturdy as any of the peasants who inhabit his future dominions. The Crown Prince was born on July 2, 1903, and will be five years of age in a short time. He was christened Alexander, but the Norwegians demand that he be known officially as Prince Olaf, after a celebrated ruler of Norway centuries ago, and their wishes have been followed by King Haakon, a democratic and politic ruler.

MAYOR FARNHAM

Charged With Ducking Appointment

Ludicrous Example of System Exposed

The committee on ordinance and legislation met at the city hall last night and one of the members, Councilman Fred Welch, accused Mayor Farnham of "ducking" in the matter of appointing a successor to Engineer Salmon.

Mayor Farnham's recommendation that the membership of the board of fire engineers be reduced from four to three was turned down by the committee. Mayor Farnham says that the recommendation came originally from Fire Chief Hosmer.

Among other things the committee discussed the question of pensions for firemen and the committee members said they would like to get a belt at an ordinance which advances an engineer's pay from $109 which he receives while in active service to $150 when he's on the pension roll.

Chief Hosmer informed the committee that the city had grown so large that permanent assistants rather than call assistants should be appointed. He was not prepared to say, however, that there should be three permanent assistants at the present time, but he was not in favor of filling the vacancy now existing, for the reason that such action would have a tendency to check his plans for permanent assistant engineers.

Relative to districting Chief Hosmer said that the members were given so much territory to cover. At the present time the first assistant, who is a permanent man, receives $1500 a year.

Alderman Wilder moved that the membership be reduced from four to three. It was stated that of the four assistant engineers, one has been a permanent man.

Alderman Wilder's motion was not seconded.

Councilman Welch moved that the present ordinance be not changed. The question of a pension for the assistant engineers was discussed and the committee to a man declared that the ordinance which provides half of the first permanent assistant's pay for an assistant call engineer upon his retirement, should be changed.

Councilman Welch said the ordinance should not be changed. "Mayor Farnham is ducking on this thing," said Councilman Welch. "He's made so many promises that he can't fulfill them and now we ought to make him show his hand."

Councilman Dexter finally seconded the motion made by Councilman Welch which was put and carried, unanimously.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The members of the Betsy Ross Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., held an enjoyable social and supper last night at the residence of Sister Clark in Poyall street. The company was entertained with readings by Sisters Clark, Washburn and Baldwin and recitations by Sister Clark's granddaughter, Gladys Collette. There were remarks by other sisters of the circle. A rising vote of thanks was extended Sister Clark for the pleasant evening.

COURT MIDDLESEX, F. OF A.

The regular meeting of Court Middlesex, F. of A., was held last night, there being a large attendance. During the meeting considerable business of importance was transacted. The feature of the evening was the election of officers for the ensuing year, the new officers being as follows: Chief ranger, John H. Condon; sub chief ranger, Charles J. Martin; recording secretary, James H. Hickey; senior woodward, Terence Quinn; junior woodward, Gustave A. Anderson; senior headle, Thomas F. Quinn; junior headle, Francis Donovan; lecturer, John W. Downing. The installation will take place at the next meeting and refreshments will be served. Three propositions were received and four candidates indicated. Interesting remarks were made by the ways and means committee, J. H. Condon, chairman, on how to further the court's prosperity; also by visiting brothers on the order in general.

KELLEY—MCPHERSON.

Mr. A. G. Kelley and Miss Jane McPherson were married at Brookline, Wednesday, June 17. Mr. William Kelley was best man and Miss Jennie McDonald was bridesmaid. Mr. Kelley is well known in Tewksbury, being an attaché at the state hospital. After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Kelley will live in East Tewksbury.

CARTER—MILLIGAN.

A very pleasant home wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Milligan, Wilmington, on the 18th inst., when their daughter, Emma Mabel, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry D. Carter of Lynn. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. J. Martin of Wilmington, assisted by the double service being used, under an arch of pure roses, evergreens and weree. The wedding party party plants. The open fireplace and potted windows were decorated with roses and trailing vines of evergreen. The bride was charming in her going away gown of black with waist of white for the bridal bouquet. The maid of honor was Miss Anna Quinn, dressed in pale pink. DIED OF INJURY

Young Man Hurt in Collision

Case Involves Charge of Manslaughter

James Stavaropolous, the young man who, while riding a bicycle in Suffolk street Sunday night, collided with a wagon driven by Mathias Vasilzou, died last night at the Lowell hospital. He was suffering from a puncture of the tissues of the right leg and his death was momentarily expected from the time he reached the hospital until he passed away.

As a result of the young man's death, Mathias Vasilzou, owner and driver of the horse which collided with Stavaropolous, who was arrested Sunday night and booked for reckless driving and assault, will now face a charge of manslaughter. Vasilzou has been remanded to jail without bail.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Paul Hervey Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shaw, and Miss Ruth Kilburn Pease, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Pease, were united in marriage last night at the home of the bride's parents, 34 Warwick street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, of the Unit church, and Rev. Ransom A. Greene, D. D., of the Grace Universalist church. The bride was Miss Grace T. Childs of Bondsville, Mass., the bride's cousin, and the groom's brother, Mr. Warren W. Shaw, was bestman. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white mousseline silk and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses, while the bride-maid wore light blue crepe de chine and carried white marguerites. It was distinctively a daisy wedding, the walls and ceilings of the house being decorated with white daisies, while large tubs of them ornamented the floor. There was a most beautiful display of presents, including a large solid silver service, the gift of the Union National bank. Only the near relatives of the two families and a few intimate friends were present. After a summer honeymoon tour of the New England points of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will be at home at 34 Canton street, this city, after September 1.

FULLER—ETHRIDGE.

Mr. Ethridge E. Fuller and Miss S. May Ethridge were united in marriage Saturday evening at 1524 Gorham street by Rev. George E. Tomkinson in the presence of friends and relatives from this city and out of town. Miss Phoebe Ingraham, a cousin of the bride, acted as maid of honor, and Harry G. Lawson was bestman. Little flower girl and Josephine Dows played the wedding march. The bride, becomingly attired in white silk and veil, and carrying a bouquet of white carnations, was given away by her twin brother, George Ethridge of Epsom, N. H. After the ceremony an informal reception was held and light refreshments were served. Many valuable presents were received.

The bridal couple, accompanied by friends, left amid showers of rice and confetti for Watlington, where they will reside. The touring car was gallily decorated with white streamers and placards.

KELLEY—MCPHERSON.

Mr. A. G. Kelley and Miss Jane McPherson were married at Brookline, Wednesday, June 17. Mr. William Kelley was best man and Miss Jennie McDonald was bridesmaid. DIVED FOR BODY

OF BOY DROWNED IN BROOKLINE RESERVOIR.

A diver worked about two hours in the waters of the old reservoir on Boylston street, Brookline, yesterday afternoon, but was unable to locate the body of Andrew Cuniff, who was drowned while taking a swim shortly after midnight yesterday morning. All morning and up to the time of the diver's arrival, members of the Brookline police force dragged the waters with a grappling iron from a boat, but they were unsuccessful.

The news that the body of young Cuniff was still in the water soon reached the lower section of the town and when the diver, George Stone, got ready for business, a crowd of over 500 people had gathered along the bank on the Dudley street side to watch the work.

The annual interstate game between Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be held this year at Providence on the usual day, July 4. The executive committee of the state league held a meeting in Boston on Monday and decided upon the team to represent Massachusetts. Capt. David Bird of the Mohawks was chosen to captain the team while John Priestley was chosen as wicket keeper. William Croft of the Zions would have been given a place but could not accept as he will be out of the state on his vacation.

BRYAN'S REQUEST

NOMINATION TO BE SECONDED BY GOVERNOR SWANSON.

RICHMOND, Va., June 22.—Governor Swanson of Virginia has been invited by Wm. J. Bryan to second his nomination for president at the Denver convention. The invitation came by mail yesterday and Governor Swanson at once made reply, saying that he would be very happy to perform that service for his former congressional colleague. Mr. Swanson is a delegate at large.

DRACUT

At the Collinsville Union mission on Sunday last, "children's day" was observed. The church was appropriately decorated with ferns, flowers and the potted geraniums which were given to the children. Miss E. M. Holden with several assistants, had charge of the decorating. Following is the program:

MAN MURDERED

FOUND IN A HOTEL IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 21.—With a towel knotted securely around his neck and tied behind him, a man, who had registered at the Hotel Empire Sunday night as Jacob Prozello, was found dead in his room late yesterday. Declaring his belief that the man had been murdered, Coroner Harburger has obtained an autopsy. Evidence supplied by the dead man's effects indicates that he had come to this city recently from Philadelphia.

In the town hall, Billerica Centre, yesterday afternoon, before a capacity attendance the graduating exercises of the Howe school, class of 1908 took place. Those graduated were Minnie Seton Dyson, Marion Gertrude Gleason, Harriet Elizabeth Baker, Eleanor Harriet Blaikie, Anna Jaquith, Alice Gertrude Jones, Helen King, Ellen Elizabeth Schult, Lucy Schwartz, four years and Mary Barrington, Evelyn Irene Higgins and Arthur Clarendon Wright, three years.

After a selection by the orchestra and the opening prayer by Rev. T. E. Rogers of the class of 1903, the first honor, "The Genesis of the Sword" was given by Miss Minnie Seton Dyson. The class essay, "Nature's Magician," a clever composition, was favored by Miss Alice Gertrude Jones, and the prophecy by Miss Eleanor Harriet Blaikie, while second honor "Causus Julius Caesar" was given by Miss Marion Gertrude Gleason. Frederick S. Clark conferred the diplomas and J. Nelson Parker spoke for the trustees of the school.

The address of the day was delivered by Rev. Charles E. Park of Boston. Following the exercises the 12th annual reunion of the Howe School Association was held in the banquet hall where a fine dinner was served at 6 o'clock. Prayer was given by Rev. Harry Lutz after which President Charles H. Kohlrausch welcomed the graduating class as members of the association. Reports were heard from the treasurer, E. S. Bull and the acting secretary, Albert H. Richardson. The election of officers resulted in the following being named: President John A. Richardson; vice presidents, J. Frank Casey, Otis S. Brown, Warren L. Floyd; secretary, Albert H. Richardson; treasurer, Everett L. Bull; executive committee, Miss Grace L. Knowles, Mrs. S. A. Bull, Nell R. Mahoney, Homer H. Colby, Miss Olivia H. Norcross, Ralph E. Manning, Warren H. Hanson, Charles H. Kohlrausch, Miss Ethel L. Buckley, Miss Florence R. Ruth, Miss Amy T. Putney, Harry G. Sheldon and Miss Eleanor H. Blaikie.

Addresses were made by the new president, Mr. Richardson, George R. Cutler of Lexington, class of 1883; Selectman Harry G. Sheldon, Town Clerk Herbert A. King, Fred A. Brown, University of Lowell Textile school, Principal E. C. Vining of the Howe school, Wilbur Bull of Dartmouth, John Bowman, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, J. Nelson Parker of the trustees and Warren Stearns of Tufts.

The retiring president, Charles H. Kohlrausch, stated that he had filled the office for five years and he appreciated its duties immensely. He thanked the other officers of the association who had served during his administration, especially the former secretary, T. F. Lyles. President Richardson, who called for a vote of thanks for the outgoing president.

A reception was then held in the upper hall, after which dancing was indulged in until midnight. The grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Kohlrausch and they were followed by about 50 other couples. The dance committee was comprised of Harry G. Sheldon, Neil R. Mahoney and Miss Olivia H. Norcross. The graduating class will hold its reception tomorrow (Wednesday) evening.

WESTFORD

William C. Edwards, the well known contractor of Westford, has been awarded the contract to rebuild the Summit house at Mount Washington, which was recently burned. The frame of the building is to be built in sections at the foot of the mountain, and carried to the top and there put in place.

FIRE IN POOL ROOM.

A small fire was started in Joseph Boisvert's pool room in Moody street, near the junction of Gershon avenue, early this morning, by a cigar or cigarette stub. The fire was the occasion of an alarm from box 75 at 2:15 o'clock. The damage was very slight.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE

The Independence league conducted an enrollment in City Clerk Daddman's office last night and took seven new members to the fold. The league has now a total membership of about 40.

EDSON SCHOOL

BOYS PRESENTED TROPHIES OF
BALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Nine members of the Edson school baseball team, the winners of the championship of the grammar school league, were presented loving cups at the Young Men's Christian association last night for excellence at the national sport. The names of the members of the team are as follows: James McGowan, John Roane, Frank Roane, Wm. O'Connell, Leger Pantone, Thomas Breene, Wm. Curran, James Gallagher, and Andrew Donohue. They have a record of not one defeat, although very close games were played with the Butler, Highland and Varnum teams.

The cups were presented by Mr. H. H. Harris of the Varnum school. In his address to the boys he emphasized the contrast between the games of the English speaking boys and those of other nations, and that it was through that physical training that the English speaking people had been able to advance to the position of the leaders of the world. The greatest need was of being clean, of clean sport, clean speech, and no smoking, and it was sure to develop a boy into a cleaner man inside and outside.

In closing Mr. Harris said that the boys had deserved their cups because all their might, and had succeeded by playing the best baseball. Ice cream and cake were served to all present.

FOR HARVARD

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS HELD
AT HIGH SCHOOL.

In the Lowell high school yesterday was held the Harvard university entrance examinations. Mr. Henry H. Harris, principal of the Varnum school, acted as proctor. The final candidates are Edgar F. Fay of Lowell, John A. Spaulding of Tewksbury, and John S. Hutchinson of the New Haven, Connecticut high school, all of whom are trying for entrance with advanced standing. Those taking the preliminary examinations were Eugene S. Hyman, Jr., Samuel K. Donohue, Edwin Stuart Giles, Joseph M. Donohue, George F. Seede, Edward J. McVey and Clifford A. Wells, all of Lowell, and Franklin F. Spaulding of Tewksbury, and George Van Dyke Trull of this city.

UNIQUE.

If the request of the Lowell Automobile Association that certain roadways in Lowell and Tyngsboro be set apart for the Labor day races be granted the Butler Ames trophy will be given the winner of the 20-mile automobile race. The drawing for the trophy was recently in Lowell. The trophy, of silver, will be 40 inches high, surmounted by an American eagle, and will have upon it the seal of the city of Lowell and a plaque with room for an inscription with the name of the winner. The inscription will be: "20-mile road race over Merrimack valley course for Butler Ames trophy."

CHELMSFORD

The town hall, Chelmsford Centre, was last night, the scene of an unusual large assemblage, the occasion of the graduating exercises of the Chelmsford High school, class of 1908. The hall was prettily decorated in its interior. The class motto, "Nil Sine Labore," in letters of gold occupied a conspicuous position over the arch of the stage platform.

The program was as follows: Selection, Chelmsford orchestra; invocation, Rev. Wilson Waters; salutatory essay, "Girls and the Future," by Ethel P. Parker; songs, "The Rosary," (Nevin) "Dry Ye Eyes," (Laudenberg) school chorus; essay, "Success," Ruth Adams; selection, Chelmsford orchestra; essay, "Little Things," Ellen A. Cudworth; musical selection, "Doris," violin, M. Marion Adams; cello, Ruth E. Adams; voice, Della B. Baker, piano, Bernice M. Knowlton; essay, "Glimpses of Norway," A. Augusta Pasche; song, "Nursery Rhyme Suite," (Custance) school chorus; valedictory essay, "Toward the Selling Sun," Mark W. Reed; presentation of diplomas, Supt. F. L. Kendall; benediction, Rev. L. L. Greene; selection, Chelmsford orchestra.

The graduating class was as follows: Four years' course: Mabel Marion Adams; Della Bertha Baker, Catherine Ellen Dunn, Carrie Blanche Knowlton, Anna Augusta Pasche, Ethel Pauline Parker, Mark White Reed, Raymond Walter Dutton.

Three years' course: Ruth Elizabeth Adams, Harlan Brigham Brown, Fred Edmund Carl, Ellen Achsa Cudworth, Guy Gardner Files, Bernice May Knowlton.

The class officers were: Raymond W. Dutton, president; Catherine E. Dunn, secretary; Ethel P. Parker, treasurer. The ushers for the evening were: Ralph P. Adams, Alvin H. Fletcher, Hosmer W. Sweetser, Charles Perham, Roy Kittredge.

Miss Della Baker, a popular member and vice president of the headmaster class was the surprised and much pleased recipient of a gold watch, the graduation gift of her uncle, V. H. Grover of Boston.

CEMETERY TRUSTEES MET.

The trustees of the Lowell cemetery association met yesterday afternoon and voted to place upon the records a formal vote to the effect that the association hopes that the president of the association, Major Charles A. Stett, who is at present at his country home, Rye, may have a speedy recovery from his illness.

BAND CONCERT.

There will be a band concert tomorrow evening on the Chelmsford Centre common by the band of that village. There is a movement on foot to hold a band concert on the Chelmsford common on the afternoon and evening of July 4.

THE GREAT FLEET

Assembling for Start
Around the WorldFROM SAN FRANCISCO CISCO JULY 7Atlantic and Pacific
Fleets to Celebrate

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—Assembling of the Atlantic fleet of 16 warships and six auxiliaries in this harbor for the start on July 7, on the voyage around the world from San Francisco to Hampton roads already has begun. Seven of the battleships, including the flagship of Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, the Connecticut, are here, and all of the auxiliaries are in this vicinity. Besides the Connecticut, the battleships in the harbor are the Louisiana, Ohio, Minnesota, Kansas, Vermont and Georgia. The West Virginia is at Mare Island. Supplies are already being taken aboard the supply ship Culgoa and the refrigerator supply ship Glacier. The collier Ajax, the repair ship Panther, the hospital ship Relief, and the despatch boat Yorktown are being put in readiness for the long voyage.

By July 8 at the latest, all of the warships of the Atlantic fleet will be in this port, and will remain until after the departure of the Atlantic fleet. The Virginia, which is now at Bremerton navy yard, will arrive here the latter part of the month. The Nebraska, New Jersey and Rhode Island are now at the Naval Station in San Francisco. Bremerton and will arrive here together on Puget Sound, in due time, the Illinois the 24th, the Keokuk the 25th, and the Kentucky July 2. Either at Bremerton or the dry docks at Mare Island or Hunter's Point, the battleships have been hauled out and cleaned or have yet to undergo that operation.

July 4 the combined fleets of the Atlantic and Pacific will take part in the celebration here, and three days later the battleships of the Atlantic fleet will depart for Honolulu, where they are scheduled to arrive July 14. The auxiliaries will have preceded them by one week and will have unloaded supplies for the fleet and steamed away from Honolulu before the battleships arrive.

The Pacific fleet under command of Admiral Swinburn, who will succeed Admiral Dayton soon, will depart August 5 for a cruise to Samoa and the Philippines. The cruisers will take in tow on the cruise the little black vessels comprising the Atlantic and Pacific torpedo flotillas. Previous to the start, the torpedo craft will be taken in tow by the cruisers on a trip to the coast as far as San Diego, and possibly to Magdalena bay as an experiment.

At Honolulu plans for the entertainment of the officers and men of the American fleet are assuming definite shape. One of the features of the program will be an old-fashioned Hawaiian hookey. This is a ceremonial bestowal of gifts. These may include various kinds, but in the present instance, it is the gifts of fruits. From all over the islands, fruits of every sort which grow there and are ripe at this season of the year will be sent to Honolulu while the fleet is there. Very great interest is being taken in this part of the plans by the native Hawaiians all over the islands.

UNION MEETING

OF THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR AT
PAIGE STREET CHURCH.

The Christian Endeavor Union of Lowell and vicinity held a meeting last night in the auditorium of the Paige Street Free Baptist church. After a bountiful supper in the vestry, provided by the entertainment committee, President F. J. Spooner called a fair-sized gathering to order at about 8 o'clock. Important business was transacted, including the incorporation into the union of the Intermediate Junior Society of the First Trinitarian church. The union voted to hold an open-air meeting in July, on the lawn at the Chelmsford Congregational church, with the Christian Endeavor Society there. The roll call consisted of 27 different societies from the vicinity of Lowell. Rev. N. W. Matthews conducted a short devotional service, which was followed by an address by Rev. Elijah Humphries, D. D. of Fall River, the speaker of the evening. His subject, "The Christian Endeavor Union," was very helpful as well as eloquent.

The meeting was in the hands of the following officers: President, F. J. Spooner; secretary, W. A. Chase of the Paige Street Free Baptist church; auditor, Albert W. McQuesten of the Worcester Street Baptist church; junior superintendent, Mrs. J. M. Craig; junior secretary, Miss Anna Wylie, both of the First Presbyterian church; and Rev. A. E. Kenyon of the Chelmsford St. P. B. church, counselor. Miss Clara Chapman presided at the organ.

TO AMEND DECREE
IN CASES AGAINST CENTRAL LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY.

PORTLAND, Me., June 23.—After a preliminary hearing before Judge Bird of the supreme court of Maine, yesterday, the hearing on the motion of counsel for the officers of the Central Life and Security company, to vacate the receiver's decree against that company, was set forward to July 7. Judge Bird allowed the decree to be annulled so as to modify the powers of the temporary receivers.

This company was organized under the laws of Maine with an authorized capitalization of $2,000,000 and has been doing business in this state since 1880. In the bill for a receiver filed at Chicago last Tuesday, charges of fraud were made against the officers of the company and an accounting was asked for. The following day, Judge Kobush of the United States circuit court for the northern district of Illinois, appointed John C. Feltz, of Chicago, as temporary receiver, and Judge Bird also appointed William F. Norton of this city.

RAILROAD SUIT

Has Bearing on Corporation
HoldingsWILL TEST LEGALITY OF MERGERAnd Double Holdings
of New Haven Road

NEW HAVEN, June 23.—A suit has been brought by a number of security holders by which Mackey & Co. of New York, which firm has been handling the securities of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company, seeks of the supreme court of errors of Connecticut an affirmative decision sustaining the action of the New Haven company in issuing securities of the company and securities of the subsidiary companies issued under special authority of the general assembly of Connecticut, but without first obtaining permission of the legislature of Massachusetts.

This suit is brought, it is understood, because of attacks made upon the securities of the New Haven company during discussion of the various bills bearing upon the proposed merger of the New Haven company with the Boston & Maine system.

Frank T. Brown of Norwich, who is of counsel retained by the security holders interested, says he expects to argue the case before the supreme court in October. He further says that the suit is one of the most important, if not the most important, that has ever come before the courts of this state, as it affects many millions of securities in value.

Inquiry in railroad circles here goes to show that the suit is not only of very considerable importance as bearing upon the subsidiary issues of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company, but also is of much importance in connection with the status of the corporation as the holder of double charges in this state and in Massachusetts. It seems highly probable also that this suit, depending upon the final decision of the Connecticut supreme court, will be of great significance as raising clearly an interstate issue between Massachusetts and Connecticut. This would bring up a federal question and result presumptively in a final appeal of the case to the United States supreme court.

CONFIRMS FINES AGAINST STEAM
SHIP COMPANIES.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Deciding that under the immigration law the secretary of state has the right to impose fines upon steamship companies bringing to this country aliens afflicted with a dangerous disease, whose unhealthiness was apparent at the place of embarkment, Judge Hough of the U. S. circuit court yesterday filed a decision dismissing the test suits brought by two steamship companies to recover fines imposed under this clause in the law and paid under protest by the companies. The suits were those of the International Mercantile Marine company, and the Ocean Steam Navigation company limited, against Nevada N. Stranahan, collector of the port of New York. The companies claimed that judicial powers were conferred by this act upon the secretary of commerce and labor—powers which under his appointment he does not possess. Judge Hough's decision is that the imposition of the fines was an administrative and not a judicial act.

As the sum involved in fines collected is more than $200,000, the matter will be carried on appeal to the United States supreme court.

PELHAM

Children's day exercises will be held at the church next Sunday, June 28. Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Marsh are now at home for the summer.

Sometime Sunday afternoon a thief entered the home of Conductor Will Burt in this town and stole a gold watch valued at $50. The owner, at the time of the theft, was doing duty on the "electric" while his wife was at the hospital in Nashua, where she is under treatment.

NEED OF A SWIMMING POND

NOW THAT THE HOT WEATHER IS WITH US WE MAY EXPECT A NUMBER OF DROWNING ACCIDENTS AS A RESULT OF BOYS AND MEN TAKING DANGEROUS CHANCES WHILE BATHING. THERE IS SCARCELY ANOTHER INLAND CITY IN THE UNITED STATES WITH SUCH SPLENDID RIVERS MEETING, WE MIGHT SAY, AT ITS VERY CENTRE, THAT HAS SO FEW OPPORTUNITIES FOR BOYS TO LEARN TO SWIM WITHOUT UNDERGOING THE RISK OF DROWNING.

THE CONCORD AND MERRIMACK RIVERS MEET WITHIN A MINUTE'S WALK OF MERRIMACK SQUARE, THE BUSINESS CENTRE OF THE CITY, AND YET THERE IS NOT ANYWHERE ALONG THEIR BANKS WITHIN A MILE OF MERRIMACK SQUARE A PLACE SUITABLE FOR BATHING PURPOSES.

WE HAVE ARTIFICIAL PONDS IN TWO OF OUR PARKS, BUT THESE ARE MERELY ORNAMENTAL AND NOWHERE IS THERE ANY ATTEMPT MADE TO PROVIDE A PLACE WHERE BOYS CAN BATHE OR LEARN TO SWIM WITHOUT RISK OF DROWNING OR CONTRACTING DISEASE FROM THE POISONED WATERS.

IT WOULD REQUIRE BUT A SMALL EXPENDITURE TO PROVIDE A SWIMMING POND TO BE MAINTAINED ONLY DURING THE HOT WEATHER. THE ABILITY TO SWIM IS SOMETHING OF VERY GREAT IMPORTANCE. WHILE A PERSON WHO IS ABLE TO SWIM MAY BE OVERCOME IN THE WATER BY CRAMPS OR CHILLS, YET SUCH OCCURRENCES ARE RARE. THE PERSON WHO CAN SWIM, ESPECIALLY IF ACCOMPANIED BY OTHERS IN THE WATER, IS USUALLY IN LITTLE DANGER OF DROWNING. EVERY SUMMER OUR CITY HAS HALF A DOZEN DROWNINGS AS A RESULT OF BOYS BATHING IN CANALS AND AT VARIOUS POINTS IN THE RIVERS, STEALING A MARCH, AS IT WERE, ON THE POLICE, AS BATHING IN SUCH PLACES UNDER PUBLIC VIEW IS FORBIDDEN.

TO PEOPLE OF PHILANTHROPIC TENDENCIES IT MUST APPEAR WORTH WHILE TO PROVIDE FOR A CITY LIKE LOWELL, SOME PLACE IN WHICH BOYS AND EVEN GIRLS CAN LEARN TO SWIM WITHOUT DANGER OF DROWNING. NO PUBLIC BENEFACTOR COULD USE HIS MONEY FOR A BETTER PURPOSE THAN TO PROVIDE A SWIMMING POND OR PUBLIC BATH HOUSE FOR LOWELL THAT IN ALL PROBABILITY WOULD SAVE SIX LIVES EVERY SUMMER.

TO CONSTRUCT AN ARTIFICIAL SWIMMING POND WOULD BE COMPARATIVELY EASY AND INEXPENSIVE. IT COULD BE MADE OF CEMENT IN BOTTOM AND SIDES AND THE CITY WOULD SUPPLY THE WATER. THIS COULD BE TAKEN EITHER FROM ONE OF THE CANALS OR FROM THE CITY MAINS. THE POND AFTER BEING FILLED COULD BE KEPT SUFFICIENTLY CLEAN BY KEEPING A GOOD STREAM ENTERING AND ANOTHER PASSING OUT CONTINUOUSLY WHILE IN USE. A DEPTH VARYING FROM 3 TO 5 FEET WOULD BE SUFFICIENT AND THE SHAPE MOST DESIRABLE WOULD RESEMBLE A STRAIGHT SECTION OF ONE OF THE CANALS.

IT IS REALLY PITIFUL TO SEE BOYS BATHING IN THE CONCORD RIVER, BACK OF THE TANNERY ON PERRY STREET, WHERE THE WATER IS ACTUALLY THICK AND BLACK WITH FILTH. IF THE LADS DID NOT GO SWIMMING THERE THEY WOULD, PERHAPS, HAVE SELECTED THE WAMESIT CANAL, WHICH ON ACCOUNT OF THE DEPTH, THE WALLED SIDES AND THE SWIFT CURRENT WHEN ANY OF THE MILLS ARE WORKING IS EXTREMELY DANGEROUS.

GOOD FOR PRESIDENT ELIOT

IT SPEAKS WELL FOR THE DISCIPLINE OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY THAT NOT EVEN THE APPEALS OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IN BEHALF OF OARSMEN FISH AND MORGAN HAVE MOVED PRESIDENT ELIOT TO RESTORE THEM TO THE CREW FROM WHICH THEY WERE REMOVED FOR WHAT IS TERMED DISHONORABLE CONDUCT.

THE INTERFERENCE OF THE PRESIDENT HAS ONLY GIVEN THE MISBEHAVIOR OF THE TWO MEN GREATER PUBLICITY. IT IS A PITY THAT SOME PEOPLE ARE ALWAYS MEDDLING WITH OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS.

IT WOULD CERTAINLY ESTABLISH A BAD PRECEDENT IF PRESIDENT ELIOT WOULD RELAX THE DISCIPLINE OF HIS UNIVERSITY AN iota BECAUSE OF INFLUENCE FROM HIGH SOURCES. EVERYBODY WILL SAY THAT PRESIDENT ELIOT'S DECISION IS RIGHT.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Will you have Ayer's hair restorer?" asked the barber of the fellow with the stinky hair.

"Hood's farsaparilla for mine," said the fellow in the chair.

Ex-Alderman Dodge has made one convert to the "Barbed Club." First Judge Fisher in Prescott street yesterday and he was minus his chapeau.

It's the day's best bet that the but-lusky female talks woman suffrage from morning till night.

The only cure for the end seat hog is a rainy day.

Please, dear, write only on one side of the paper when you send your communications in.

In the editorial room the boss says to the bulletin or the messenger boy "will thou," and to the reporter, "go deest."

An Englishman who had undertaken to represent a London firm in New York gave one of his business cards to a stranger in town.

"Thank you," said the stranger. "Now will you kindly tell me how to get down to your office?"

The Englishman pointed to the back of the card.

"There is a map of the immediate neighborhood," he said. "It shows how to reach my street from Broadway."

"Whew-ew-ew," whistled the stranger. "Isn't that a new wrinkle?"

It may be here," said the Londoner. "But cards of that kind are by no means rare at home."

"Well," the stranger admitted, "there are a few things we Americans can learn from you Britishers, after all."

"A couple of wild ducks in Central Park was a sight that startled me the other day," said a former westerner, now a resident of this city, yesterday.

"The soft whistle of wings overhead was a sound I had not heard since my boyhood duck shooting days in the Missouri river bottoms, and looking up I saw a pair of ducks flying just over the treetops. They looked like wildgeese, and I presume were a couple of strays that had wandered far from the beaten paths of wild ducks and found a temporary haven on one of the park lakes. The last I saw of them they were circling over the Museum of Natural History."

"It is curious," remarked the grocer on the corner, "that there is no fruit in the world which people are such poor judges of as canteloupes, and what is more curious is that they do their best to spoil them after they buy them. The first thing a woman does with a canteloupe is to stick it into the ice box. Now canteloupes, like most of our fruit, are picked a trifle green and when they come from the grocer's they should be put out in the sun for a while, turning them over every few hours, and then putting them into the ice box at night."

They were two sewer men and they were working in Prescott street. The quiet of a moment was broken by the penetrating shrieks of a woman.

"Be gorrah he's hocking her," said one.

"Licking who?" said the other.

"Don't you hear that terrible shriek? Some drunken husband is flailing the life out of his poor wife."

Another shriek, louder than before, rent the air and fairly raised the roof of the Swan building.

"Is there no officer around at all, at all?" said the sewer man who first spoke.

"O—the one can you find when there's trouble around," said the other.

Another shriek that seemed to go with a broken heart or a punctured rib shook the currents on the wires and bored a hole at the feet of the sympathetic sewer men.

"I'll see to that myself," said one of them. "I'll not have it said that a woman was killed while I was in hearing of her cries for help."

"That's the way to talk and I'm with you," said the other fellow and up in—

Worth Knowing

To remove Pimples, Blackheads, Blisters and all forms of skin eruptions, is, according to a well known physician, a very easy matter; he says that many are afflicted with some one of the above ailments, and are subject to a great deal of embarrassment on account of the unsightly appearance which they present, and recommends the following simple harmless and inexpensive treatment. Go to your druggist and get this prescription filled: Clearol one-half ounce, Ether one ounce, Alcohol seven ounces; mix, shake well and apply to the parts affected night and morning, allowing it to remain for at least ten minutes, then wipe off the powder from the skin. Use a soft cloth or sponge in applying the mixture and in from ten days to two weeks your face will be smooth and clear as a marriage bell. Get the Pure Clearol, which is only put up in one-half ounce packages. Ask to see it.

to the Swan building they went, three steps at a time. They didn't have any use for an elevator and if they thought of it at all they allowed they could beat it to the top floor.

The yelling continued and was still in session when the sewer men, breathless as well as hatless arrived at the scene of the supposed tragedy. It was simply a case of voice culture. The lady was taking a singing lesson. We would like to tell you what those two sewer men said, but we don't dare to.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Fra Hennings, who has just retired from the royal theatre at Copenhagen, after a service there of 25 years, is accepted as without question the foremost Danish actress of her day.

Years ago she has given herself mainly to the plays of Ibsen, notably "A Doll's House," "The Wild Duck," and "Ghosts."

A Mrs. Maynard of Meratham, Eng., had seven sons and seven daughters, and they married seven sons and daughters of a man named King.

The last ship which headed for the coast of Alaska carried a shipment of 100 Leghorn chickens for a man at Fairbanks. He is going to sell them to people who want to start chicken coops of their own and pay less than 25 cents apiece for eggs.

M. Arriveaud of Paris has offered a prize of $500 for the first aeroplanist who remains in the air for 24 minutes.

Mrs. Carleton G. Ferris of Detroit has given $25,000 toward the establishment in Indianapolis of a missionary training school by the Christian women's board of missions of the Church of Christ. In addition to this donation $11,600 has been raised toward the proposed school. The board is also seeking to raise funds for a school among the mountain whites of Tennessee.

General Lord Grenfell, who was recently promoted to the rank of field marshal, received his name at the hands of Miss Eunice Manderson, speaking to a peace society in England. "He has been a soldier for about 45 years," she said, "and his men have killed human beings in many parts of the world. But let us remember to his credit that he published an order as general commanding the forces in Ireland against cigarette smoking by the troops."

Pennsylvania has a law enacted 72 years ago which requires road supervisors to erect and maintain guide boards at the intersection of public roads for the guidance of travelers. The law has never been repealed, but it has been sadly neglected in recent years. Judge Swartz of Montgomery county has resurrected the law and, assembling the constables of the county, has instructed them to see that the road supervisors put up the proper signs.

Following the wedding at Haverhill of Paul R. Dickson of Cambridge to Miss Verrie M. Moore of Haverhill, the newly married couple left for Cavite, P. I., where Mr. Dickson ranks as "leading man" and is under contract with the United States government in the naval construction and repair department in that place. They will sail from San Francisco July 5 on an army transport. Mr. Dickson has been transferred from the Kingsley manual training school in 1898, took a special course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in naval architecture and marine engineering. Leaving Technology in 1902, he was employed in San Francisco in his profession and going to the Philippines he was appointed a member of the board of inspection of the navy. He resigned from that position in July, 1907.

A department of immigration has been instituted as one of the agencies of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, and Rev. Charles Steizie has been placed in charge of it. Mr. Steizie has been for several years at the head of the same board's department of church and labor, and he is known all over the country among workmen because of his many contributions to the pages of labor journals. He will continue in charge of the labor department, adding the immigration department to his present duties. The plan of the department of immigration is to establish mission work among the immigrants in the many centres where they settle, and also to arouse the people of the churches to a realization of their obligations in this regard. This new bureau will emphasize, it is said, the patriotic as well as the religious aspects of work among the alien peoples and its office will constitute a clearing house for information, methods, suggestions and literature for other churches, and religious bodies which purpose to undertake this new form of home mission effort. The office of the bureau will be in New York, where is the headquarters of the Presbyterian Home Board.

Aunt Becky Young, said to be the first woman to offer her services as a nurse with the Civil war broke out, died recently at her home in Indiana on the fortieth anniversary of her marriage. She was a school teacher of 25 when the war began. Her services for her country began by making bandages and picking flat after school hours. After a few months she decided to go to the field as a nurse for the sick and wounded. It was something new in this country, although Florence Nightingale had done it during the Crimean war in the middle '50s. Aunt Becky's friends did all in their power to discourage her, but without avail. She went direct to General Grant, who accepted her services.

AN UNKNOWN MAN

Ground to Pieces Under a Train

BARRINGTON, R. I., June 23.—An unknown man, evidently from his clothing a freeman, was struck down and ground to pieces beneath an electric train on the Bristol branch of the New Haven railroad between Crescent park and West Barrington at about 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning. His legs were severed, his head battered in and he received multiple bruises about the body. The stricken man was treated by Dr. Russell Church, a passenger on the train, but died a few minutes later.

TAFT'S PROGRAM

AS ARRANGED FOR THE NEXT FEW DAYS.

NEW HAVEN, June 23.—The secretary met Mrs. Taft and their second son, Charles P. Taft in New York yesterday and they just caught the 11 o'clock train for this city at the Grand Central station. Robert A. Taft, Yale '10, the elder son, is already in town, having returned directly from the Chicago convention.

An informal dinner was tendered Secretary and Mrs. Taft last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Farnham at whose home they will remain until Thursday. Mr. Taft will tonight attend the banquet of the class of '78. Mrs. Taft will be the guest of President and Mrs. Hadley this evening. On Wednesday a formal dinner will be given Secretary and Mrs. Taft at the Farnham residence. The guests will include Dr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Hadley, Admiral and Mrs. Sheffield Cowles and others.

SPELL BINDERS

AND LITERARY PRODUCTIONS WILL WAGE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The republican campaign book will be out unusually early this year, probably six weeks sooner than it was issued four years ago. The book will follow quite closely along the lines of the last campaign book except that some new issues will be introduced and others that have ceased to be of interest will be dropped out. Considerable space will be devoted to the questions of injunctions. At the latest the book will be issued August 1. The committee is planning its work with the idea that this year more than ever before the campaign will be waged by means of literary productions through the press and by pamphlets and speeches and by the active work of spell binders.

AT AMHERST

CLASS REUNIONS AND SWIMMING EXHIBITION.

AMHERST, June 23.—Class reunions and a swimming exhibition followed by a ball game between Amherst and Williams in the afternoon made up yesterday's events in connection with commencement week at Amherst college. Carleton R. Blades, captain, and a team of twelve Amherst students exhibited their ability in many forms of swimming and diving in the Fox natatorium. At the close of the exhibition Ralph Smith of New London, Conn., one of the team, was awarded a certificate by the Massachusetts Humane Society for his ability to swim a mile in less than 32 minutes and for his general efficiency in methods of rescuing drowning persons. The classes of '92 and '93 had luncheons and the class of '92 defeated the class of '93 in a baseball game.

AMERICAN ICE CO.

GIVEN SHORT TIME TO MEET FIVE INDICTMENTS.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Counsel for the American Ice company yesterday were given until next Friday by Justice Goff, in the supreme court, to file a reply to the five indictments found against the company last week. The case will be tried next fall.

STOCK TRANSFER TAX.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 23.—State Controller Nathan H. Glynn announced yesterday that he has begun an investigation to force corporations to obey the law taxing the transfer of shares of capital stock. Mr. Glynn said the investigation already has disclosed that there has been a wholesale disregard of this law on the part of corporations with an attending loss of a large revenue to the state. There are about 25,000 companies in this state which come under the provisions of the stock transfer tax act.

RECEIVERS APPOINTED.

PITTSBURGH, June 23.—F. H. Skelton, president of the First National bank, and H. W. McMillan, of the Wabash railroad, who were recently appointed receivers of the Wabash and Pittsburgh terminal railroad were yesterday also appointed receivers for the West Side railroad, by the United States circuit court. The receivers were appointed on petition of the Wabash Railroad company.

GREAT RECEPTION

Commencement

HE MEETS HIS OLD

CLASSMATES

And Shows Interest in

His Alma Mater

NE WHAVEN, Conn., June 23.—Secretary of War William H. Taft returned to Yale, his alma mater, yesterday, to attend the reunion of his class, that of '78, and although his intentions were to join his classmates as Taft of '78, he found himself to be the chief guest of the commencement exercises, and scarcely had he entered the shadow of the university buildings, before he took up the duties of a member of the corporation. Very few opportunities came to him to clasp the hands of the many '78 reunions, who had gathered in the old Edwards mansion on Elm street, selected as class headquarters, for he was immediately escorted to Woodbridge hall for the corporation meeting, then into Commons to speak to the young men, who are about to be given their law school sheepskins, then to the law school and finally to the college hall, where the medical school exercises were held.

MEET AT THE STATION.

Mr. Taft reached the city at 1 o'clock accompanied, Mrs. Taft and Master Charles Taft, having reached here on an earlier train and gone to the home on Prospect street of Mr. and Mrs. W. Farnham, whose guests they are to be until Thursday. Mr. Taft was met at the station by a delegation from his class, and after an exchange of greetings, he stepped into an automobile and was whisked away to the Edwards house where about 40 '78 men were ready to extend a welcoming hand.

After a short day, Secretary Taft went to Woodbridge hall, where the corporation was in session. He left this a little later and walked across the university campus to the side door of the Commons and passing in, was met by a cheer from those who first got a glimpse of him.

NINE TAFTS AT MEMORIAL.

Mr. Whitney, the toastmaster, had risen to introduce Judge John Proctor Clark, when the entire alumni body rose and cheered Mr. Taft with nine "Tafts," which made Memorial echo and re-echo. Later on, Mr. Taft spoke to the young men, who, in caps and gowns, sat at a long table in front of him. The alumni then went to Hendrie hall, where the class day exercises were held. Secretary Taft returned to the corporation meeting, and at its conclusion donned the robes of a doctor of laws, and walked to the law school. As he passed into the auditorium, John W. Foster was making an address, but the audience rose and wildly cheered. At the close of these exercises, Secretary Taft, accompanied by President Hadley, and escorted by the faculty of the medical school, walked through College street to College hall, where he attended the exercises there. On the steps of Osborn hall were gathered groups of Yale men back for their reunions, most of them in fantastic garb, and they all lustily cheered Mr. Taft. The street was filled with young women in their summer gowns, who had been attending the exercises on the old campus, and the picture as the late afternoon sunlight filtered through the overhanging eaves was a charming one. At College hall, Secretary Taft was joined by his brother, Horace D. Taft, of Watertown, Conn., who accompanied him back to Woodbridge hall, when the exercises were ended. This, in effect, ended Mr. Taft's first official day at Yale.

The Lowell Opera House was the scene last night of the graduation exercises of the Lowell High school and every seat was taken. The relatives and friends of the seniors were gathered there to witness the farewell to the school by the graduates and while the occasion was tinged with the sorrow of parting, the relieving of the pleasures and sweet companionships of four years, yet there was the inevitable future to be looked squarely in the face and the young men and women who have been honorably discharged from that very valuable seat of learning, the High school, are the possessors of a foundation sufficiently solid to build a future upon.

Last night's little army of graduates, 163 in all, presented a very striking picture, not the blue and the gray, but the black and the white. To the left of the stage were the young ladies in white, while the young men, in black, occupied space to the right. Then there was the ever beautiful folding and draping of the national colors and the presence of plants and flowers. The scene when the curtain went up was such as to inspire general applause. Surmounting the stage, and in beautiful color and gilt, was the class motto, "Perseverantia ad Fortuna Ducit."

The members of the committee on high school entered while the American oratorio was playing the opening overture. The committee members took seats at the front of the stage.

The opening chorus was Donheur's "The Red Scarf," by the whole class with Frederick O. Blunt, directing.

The salutatory, entitled "A Vision of Fair Women," was next in order and was given by Miss Ellenore Frances Murray, the salutatorian of the class. Her address, which was given in a most pleasing manner, was as follows:

A VISION OF FAIR WOMEN.

"At last I thought that I had wandered far. In an old wood fresh-washed with cool dew. And from within me a clear undertone Thrilled through mine ears in that unblissful clime. Pass freely thro; this wood is all thine own. Until the end of time."

At length I saw a lady within call. Still there chiselled marble standing there. A daughter of the gods, divinely tall. And most divinely fair."

Summoned by the magic words of Tennyson's "Dream of Fair Women," Helen of Troy stood before me, following her, one by one, Cleopatra, Joan d'Arc and Rosamond, until Tennyson's dream was broken, and the vision faded. How beautiful they were! Fair heroines for ancient story! But thought I, how different from the women we admire today. The fair women of today are fair in another sense—fair because they have used their great gifts to make the world better and more beautiful.

If I could call to Tennyson's wood some of these fair women, among them would be Rosa Bonheur. She was not a figure with Helen's grace and beauty, but a plain sturdy woman, dressed in a long black coat with black fringes, a man's white collar and cuffs and a plain black skirt. She could be found not with princes and warriors, but working hard in her studio, often out of doors in the horse market and frequently in the farm yard, studying and painting the animals about her. Her genius has made the world richer with her pictures, and her womanhood has been as noble as her genius is great.

Rosa Bonheur would not stand alone with her I would call Jenny Lind, whose glorious gift of song held multitudes enchanted. She would be counted among the fair women, not simply because of her talent, but as well for the courage, the self-reliance and the resolution with which she developed it, and most of all for the use she made of it. When she was at the height of her fame, honored and admired by the whole world, she devoted the proceeds of her crowded concerts to the needs of the poor.

Julia Ward Howe, who passed her 53rd birthday a few weeks ago is perhaps the most widely honored and loved of any woman in America. She has not sung as Jenny Lind did, but she has made the people sing. "Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord," is heard through all the land, and wherever it is heard, men's faith and patriotism grow stronger. She has stood among the leaders in the work of anti-slavery and woman suffrage. But not only as author and reformer is she honored; her social grace and brilliant wit command admiration with her varied gifts and her perfectly womanly character, surely she counts for more than Helen, or Cleopatra, or Iphigenia.

There should be remembered, too, the one who has made easier the lot of the wounded and dying—wherever battle or accident has brought calamity. All over the world the Red Cross is the symbol of mercy, and Clara Barton, who organized the Red Cross Society, is one of my fair women.

Francis Willard, too, should be there, Clara Barton's equal in her power to organize and execute. As a public speaker she held hundreds of thousands by her earnest enthusiasm and winning speech. She won the love and admiration of all with whom she came in contact, and then inspired in them the spirit of reform to help her in her work for temperance.

Nor ought we to forget the quiet woman of Chicago, who is bringing all her learning and all her influence to bear on the problem of the very poor of our great cities. Jane Addams does this work, not only as author and reformer, but as the superintendent of Hull house. Here she studies the problem, face to face with the people whom she wants to help. Nor is she alone. This same work is being carried on in hundreds of college settlements in our great cities.

Should I call all fair women, who did rightly known and praised for their efforts in behalf of the poor, the neglected, the ignorant and the insane. There would be Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke seminary, representing the spirit that has stood for the higher education of women.

There would be Elizabeth Frye, Lucretia Mott and Sister Dora. There would come women of every land, and of every condition, who, some in narrow spheres and some in broad ones, exemplify the same spirit and love of humanity. They may not look like the heroines of poetry, of tragedy or romance, but nevertheless they are the truly "fair women" of today.

In the name of the class of 1908, I welcome all of you—friends and relatives who have gathered at our graduation exercises tonight. We thank you for the interest that has brought you here to speed us on our way, as we leave the Lowell High school.

There was no mistaking the appreciation of Miss Murray's effort, and when she had finished there was great applause. Miss Murray was presented a beautiful bouquet.

PROFESSOR FENN OF HARVARD.

The address of the evening was delivered by Prof. William Wallace Fenn of Harvard university. He said in part:

"There is education won by the discipline of life, as well as education won by the discipline of the school. Far be it from me, who am devoting my life to academic education to say a single word in disparagement of a college education. But not all men who receive an academic education come out educated men. It is also true that many men and women who never had a college education become very highly educated."

"Functionally, education means the development of the mind. Utility is the measure and meaning of all things. The mind has arisen in men so that man may adjust himself more surely to his environments. If the function of education is to develop the mind, it means that it enables him to meet wisely and well the changes of life. Education ought to make the mental powers more flexible and supple."

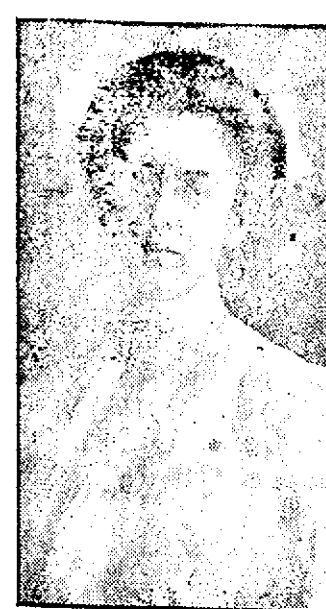

"I once heard a story of an army friend of mine, who told of a certain general in the Civil war who wished to throw a bridge across a stream. A petty officer was told to get his plans and proceed. The next morning the petty officer came to him and told him that although the 'plans' had not arrived, the bridge was built." It often happens that while an academically trained man is drawing his plans, the man who has been trained in the school of life has built his bridge.

"In the case of an academically educated man, the response that his mind makes to a new situation is apt to be less efficient than the response of one who has been fitted in the school of life."

"Put your mind on your work, so that your work is well done. So, also, the mind gets its training from the work which is well done."

"There is one respect in which an academically educated man has an advantage. The function of the mind is to make a man find a prompt and appropriate response. An academically trained man is apt to make a more appropriate response, while the response of the other might be more prompt."

"If one would win a non-academic education, he should cultivate the habit of close and accurate observation, to learn to see with his mind if not with his eyes, that is, keeping his mind back of his eyes."

"Two centuries ago there was a man in Boston, who had enormous erudition. That man was Cotton Mather. The secret of his mental activity was that when he was listening to an address of any kind, he used to write down at the close of each paragraph one sentence in his own words, thus keeping his mind alert. Everything about him prompted a like alertness. That was the secret of Cotton Mather's power."

"Learn to see back of the eyes, cultivate the habit of inquiry, and ask for the meaning of things. There is a great deal said about the newspapers of today. Many a man takes his paper in the morning, looks at the headlines, glances at the news, and throws it aside saying that there is nothing in it. There is nothing in it because there is nothing in his mind. Every column in that newspaper has facts of the utmost importance of which he is totally ignorant."

"The question mark is the shepherd's crook by which men are led into the fields of knowledge. Find the answer to your questions in the daily course of life."

"Hold your facts and ideas in their true proportion, and true balance. There is nothing like reading literature of culture to give one this power. To the reader, the moral purpose supreme in the novelist's mind will become a reality in his own mind."

"Adopt these principles, then. Put your mind into your work; get the habit of accurate observation; get the habit of inquiry, and through reading literature, gain a just valuation of facts."

"Here in this class of young men and women, I am told that not 25 per cent. will go to college. I can very well believe that with all the happiness of this occasion there is also a feeling of grief, perhaps even a feeling of envy toward those who are to have those privileges which are denied them. My word tonight is that it is possible for any man or woman to become a non-academically educated man or woman. It would be strange if this were not so when our democracy rests upon educated men and women, while history shows that many men and women have been educated who never went to college."

"With the institution of the Christian Sabbath, it is especially possible for anyone to read great books, and to gain an education of facts. 'Young ladies and gentlemen, your education depends upon your leisure moments. Your spare time is your rudder on the sea of life.'"

Following Prof. Fenn's address the whole class was heard in the chorus.

CLASS GIFT PRESENTED.

John Joseph Mahoney, president of the class, in a most appropriate speech, presented the class gift to the school, a picture.

PRIZE ESSAYS.

Franklin B. Johnson accepted the gift for the school, and Albert L. Bacheller presented two prizes, awarded by the Lowell Historical society for the best essays upon the "Makers of Lowell." The winners were: First prize, Miss Lillian M. Smith; second prize, Albertine Bernier.

The fourth number of the program was a semi-chorus, which sang Mendelssohn's "Sleep, Gentle Babe," and immediately after followed the presentation of the Carney medals, and the reading of the list of those pupils given honorable mention. The Carney medal scholars are as follows: Grover Franklin Fox, Herbert Barney Cady, Marshall Cotting Pratt, Ellenore Frances Murray, Irene Eugenie Gauthier, and Alice Lucille Cluin. The honorable mention students, who received a rank of 90 or more for the four years' course, are Maudie Anna Fowler, Maud E. Curtis, Mary E. Quirbach, Marion E. McKnight, Helen E. Hartford, Leona H. Dearth, Lora Genevieve Gervais and Catherine Pratt.

Another semi-chorus followed the presentation of the Carney medals with an obligato by Miss Kathleen Wright. The selection given was Gray's "A Dream of Paradise."

THE VALEDICTORY.

The valedictory, entitled "Industrial Education," which follows, was by Grover Franklin Fox:

"Education is the root of all success," it has been said, and as years go by, the nations, the world over, are recognizing, more and more, the fact that education not only for professional and business life is essential for the prosperity of a country, but also, education for the various trades, or industrial education."

The objects of industrial training are: First, to benefit the individual who earns his livelihood by the work of his hands, so that he may become a skilled workman, and receive a better compensation for his services. People who come in contact with the harder side of the workman's life, believe that they see in some form of industrial education, a way of securing higher wages, more self-reliance and self-respect, and better industrial conditions. Second, to provide a sufficient number of skilled workmen on whom employers may depend to do their work in the most satisfactory manner. Today, in almost every mill or shop a large force of sub-foremen, or expert machinists, has to be kept to repair the machinery and keep it in working order.

In the ordinary working man, there is lack of what may be called "Industrial Intelligence." This term is defined in the "Report of the commission on industrial education," appointed by Governor Douglas in 1906, as "mental power to see beyond the task which occupies the hands for the moment, and to those which will follow, to the operations which have preceded and to those which will follow, to power to take in the whole process, knowledge of materials, ideas of costs, ideas of organization, business sense, and a conscience which recognizes obligations."

At present, manufacturers everywhere state that because of the lack of men who possess this "Industrial Intelligence," the processes of manufacture are made more expensive, the grade of the manufactured goods is lowered, and the quantity lessened; they also maintain that by the industrial school this intelligence will be developed.

In the greater part of the prisons, and in the transient and reform schools throughout the country, industrial training is given. Now, if this training is the means of helping those who have done wrong to a better life, why, if it were begun earlier, might it not be a means of preventing them from doing wrong?

In former times the training for all vocations was provided for by the apprenticeship system. A boy was taken to work to learn his trade, and when he finished his apprenticeship he was competent to do any part of the work required. Today, however, in learning a trade, because of the division of labor, brought about by the introduction of modern machinery, one is confined to a single part of the work, and is not given a chance to learn any other part.

The apprentice of former days did not have the advantages for scholarly attainments that the boy now has, yet he often became an influential man. Today there is a better opportunity for intellectual training for the school year has been gradually lengthened, the age limit raised and attendance at school, up to a certain age, has become compulsory. Because of this, there should be some form of industrial training to take the place of the apprenticeship system, or where will the workmen for future years come from?

In respect to trade schools, the United States is far behind all other nations. At the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia, in 1876, manufactured articles from all parts of the world were displayed. Of these, the exhibits from France, which had been supporting trade schools for many years previous, ranked first. Germany learned her lesson from this and today her trade schools are the best in the world.

England also was aroused to the fact that if she wished to keep her industrial supremacy, she must also provide similar schools. Other nations followed her example, until now almost every European country maintains schools for training her workmen.

The American technical and textile schools are doing much in the industrial life. But these schools are not by any means within the reach of all who are only for boys with a high school education or an equivalent.

Another important branch of industrial education is the agricultural training which is carried on in separate departments of many colleges and also in some colleges, established and carried on expressly for that purpose. But, like the technical and textile schools, a higher education than the training for admission to these schools, these colleges, and so they are not in the reach of those who leave school at 14 or 15 years of age. Therefore, there ought to be schools in which subjects are taught that prepare the student for these colleges, schools where the boys who leave school at 14 and 15 will find so many attractions that they will be glad to attend.

It is estimated that there are no fewer than 45,000 children in Massachusetts between 14 and 15 who are out of school, most of these because they do not find the work of the schools attractive. Many of these 25,000 would attend trade schools if they had the chance and knew that these schools would fit them for some vocation that would be beneficial to them. Ending the first two or three years after leaving school, would not be wasted as they practically are, for employers of the more desirable industries say that they do not want a boy under 16 or 18 years of age. Without this industrial training boys become errand boys, delivery boys or work at some juvenile industry which requires so little skill that it is of no real value in fitting them for a vocation, and at the age of 18 or 20, they are not fitted for any trade requiring skill. So, if there is to be a system of industrial education, it must consider the youth of 14 as well as the youth of 18 and 20.

The large number of people who are availing themselves of the opportunities afforded by the correspondence schools, the school of the General Electric Co., at Lynn, Mass., and the Mass. Trade School for Girls, a number which is estimated at 55,000 in Massachusetts, about the large classes in the evening high schools, and textile schools, those maintained by Y. M. C. A.'s and those under private management, such as prove that wage-earners are desirous of bettering their education, and that they would be glad of an opportunity to attend a school that would make them more efficient workmen in a shorter time than it takes to learn a trade in the shops.

The combination of intellectual training with industrial education, such as a well ordered trade school, would not only elevate manual labor, dignity industry and make more efficient workmen, but it would bring about a mutual appreciation between the professional and the working classes.

Graduates of the class of 1908, most of us are leaving the high school, some to go to higher institutions of learning, others to take up work in the industrial lines and others to enter business. But, though separated and following different pursuits, we shall always remember the Lowell High school and strive to bring honor and credit to her.

Although in time there will be industrial schools, they can never take the place of the high school, for that will always be required to prepare the boys and girls who wish to go on to higher schools and colleges. Even if, after going through the high school, one should desire to take up the industrial training, the industrial training will be a great benefit to him. What over classes may come in education at times, the high school will always stand for broad and liberal culture, and we feel sure that our school to which we bid farewell tonight will always stand among the first.

"Send Out Thy Light" was sung by the whole class and then came the presentation of diplomas from the hands of Mayor Frederick W. Farnham, who made a brief and appropriate speech.

Upon receiving their diplomas, the class members sang the class ode, written by Miss Lillian Akers.

The class ode was as follows:

The time has come for us to part

Our school-day tasks are o'er;

We leave our school with aching heart

To return to her no more.

We'll all look back at the happy years

We've spent in this dear town,

That have been years of tears and joys and fears,

For we know that duty calls.

Farewell, dear schoolmates, one and all

Dear teachers, too, farewell;

We haste with joy to heed the call,

Yet with grief our bosoms swell.

Although we soon may drift away,

Fond memories with us dwell;

We trust that we shall meet some day,

No more to say farewell.

The list of graduates and star scholars was published in yesterday's paper.

ST. JOHN'S DAY

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

BOSTON, June 23.—What the festival of St. John, otherwise Dec. 21, is to craft Masonry, June 24, or St. John the Baptist, is to Knights Templar. Those within the bounds of the grand commandery of Massachusetts and Grand Island have always made the occasion one of special significance, but the public observance has never been on so elaborate a scale as will be shown this year. Such demonstrations have been made possible by the formation of a certain number of commanderies into groups or associations, and each of these in turn exists the best for its particular organization.

A few of the commanderies have preferred to recognize the day in a manner best suited to themselves, and so have not joined any associations, but the three in existence have determined that this year they will go beyond anything attempted in the past.

GIRL LOST LIFE

In Lighting Fire at Point of Pines

She Poured Kerosene On the Fire

BOSTON, June 23.—Rosa Violet, aged 13, attempted to hurry up a fire in the kitchen stove of a cottage at Point of Pines yesterday afternoon by pouring kerosene into the stove, and as a result she died at 5:50 p. m. in the Lynn hospital. The cottage was entirely destroyed.

Members of the class of '08, Harvard, were having an outing near the place, and in addition to trying to save the young girl, contributed toward a fund for the 16 persons rendered homeless by the blaze.

The cottage was a two-story affair, situated about 25 feet from the Point of Pines. It was owned by Joseph O'Brien, an employee of the electric works at Lynn. He occupied one portion of the house with his wife and six children, while Frank Violet, and his wife and six children occupied the other section.

FIERCE RACE RIOT EXPRESS RATES

Nine Negroes Lynched by Furious Mob
BECAUSE WHITE MEN WERE KILLED

Fearful Slaughter of Prisoner

To be Probed by Amos D. Albee
WILL SIFT THE AM. EXPRESS RATES

Expert Appointed by Railroad Commission

HOUSTON, Tex., June 22.—During Sunday night nine negroes met death at the hands of a mob in the vicinity of Hempfield in Sabine county. Yesterday both races seemed arms and the tension is such that a race clash appears imminent.

The dead: Jerry Evans, aged 22; Will Johnson, 24; Mose Spellman, 24; Cleveland Williams, 27; William Manuel, 25; Frank Williams, 22; two unknown men; and William McCoy.

All the dead are negroes. The lynching followed the killing of two white men by negroes. Two weeks ago, Hugh Dean and several other white men visited a negro schoolhouse, where a dance was in progress, probably in quest of liquor, it being the custom of some of the negroes to sell whiskey during such affairs. During the evening Dean was killed and six negroes were held for the killing. At the preliminary examination the evidence tended to show that the plot was formed at the dance to kill Dean.

Saturday night, Aaron M. Johnson, a prominent farmer, was assassinated while seated at the dining-table with his wife and children, the bullet being fired through the window. For this crime, Perry Price, a negro, was arrested, and it is stated, confessed, implicating Robert Wright, a relative of one of the negroes held for Dean's murder. Price declared he was offered $5 to kill Johnson.

Then followed the forming of the mob, the overpowering of the jail at Hempfield and the lynching of the six negroes held for the murder of Dean. Five were hanged to the same tree, while another attempted to escape and was shot to death. Later in the night William McCoy, another negro, was shot and killed while standing at the gate of the Johnson home. This morning the bodies of two more negroes were found in the creek bottom. Price, the negro, who confessed to killing Johnson, and the men he implicated, were taken to Baunton for safe keeping under guard of the military company of San Augustine.

Sabine county is situated in the most remote of the eastern section of the state, with a lack of railroad and telegraph facilities and thickly timbered.

PAID LOBBYISTS

Report Their Receipts for Work

BOSTON, June 23.—In accordance with the law requiring every person, firm, corporation or association employing agents in connection with legislation, to make a sworn statement of the amounts of money paid or promised to such agent, the following returns have been filed with the secretary of state:

Boston Merchants' association paid Dunbar, Rackemann & Brewster for services in connection with insurance matters $200; James F. Jackson, in connection with stock issues by railroad corporations, $200.

The Massachusetts liquor league paid John F. Gilligan $200, but Thomas F. Strange, who also represented the league, is paid a yearly salary.

The New England Bill Posters' association paid John A. Sullivan $300 and H. Heustiss Newton $150.

The Essex company of Lawrence paid J. Otis Wardwell $1500 for services in regard to the defeated bill requiring that company to construct and maintain a service above the dam in the Merrimack river at Lawrence.

William B. Sullivan, who represented several brewery interests at the hearings on the Boston district option bill, was paid by the following: Roesch brewery $25, Boston brewery company $25, Boston brewery $25, Suffolk brewery company $25, Frank Jones brewing company $100.

The Master Builders' association paid the firm of Elder & Whitman $200 for services in connection with legislation affecting labor.

Levi's plate glass insurance company paid J. Otis Wardwell $2000 for services above the dam in the Merrimack river at Lawrence.

The Business Men's League paid James F. Jackson $1000 for his argument in favor of a bill to permit a consolidation of the New Haven and Boston & Maine system.

BALTIMORE, June 23.—The trustees of the Johns Hopkins hospital and university have elected Dr. Adolph Meyer of New York to the directorship of the recently founded Henry Phipps psychiatric clinic and the professorship of psychiatry. Dr. Meyer has accepted.

MORE GAINS FOR HEARST.
NEW YORK, June 23.—The recount of the majority election of 1905 shows its close and it is expected that by Thursday all the ballot boxes will be examined and the exact number of votes cast for Mayor McCellan and William R. Hearst officially determined. One hundred and sixty ballot boxes examined yesterday showed a gain of 195 votes for Hearst. There have been 1450 boxes re-opened so far and they disclosed a gain for Hearst of 588 votes.

Worcester, June 23.—George E. Holt, who was recently sentenced to serve 18 months in the house of correction for misconduct with Frances E. MacQuinn, was married in jail today to Norine L. Lewis Madden of San Francisco, by Rev. Charles E. Shannon, chaplain of the jail.

Holt attracted attention in Worcester a year ago by organizing lodges of what he styled the MacQuinn Fraternity. He was caught with the MacQuinn woman and held for the superior court. He went to San Francisco while on bail, and when he returned to Worcester to stand trial, the Madden woman, who had been married before, followed him and the wedding yesterday resulted.

AMOS D. ALBEE.

whether that basis is fair and proper. Mr. Albee was formerly in the banking business, connected years ago with the firm of Fogg Brothers & Bates, note brokers. Recently he has been acting as expert in transportation cases, notably for the receiver for the Consolidated Steamship lines.

A good deal will depend on his finding with reference to the express company. If he concludes that the company indicated the conditions of its business fairly when it worked out results on a percentage basis, as it did in presenting its case before the board, then the merchants will find themselves confronted with the necessity of proving that charges are unreasonable and excessive, even although they do not cover the alleged expense of carrying on the business. But if, in the expert's opinion, the basis of figuring the result was unfair, the complainants are likely to find their task before the board somewhat easier. It seems to be generally conceded that rates for New England have been relatively less than for other parts of the country; but the complainants may be able to show that the density of traffic here is sufficient to make the lower rate only reasonable.

Not all the business men's representatives who have been instrumental in bringing this protest are confident of establishing their contention that the American and National increase was unjust and excessive; but even those who fear the case may be decided against them feel that the protest will have advantageous results with reference to the general problem of state supervision of the express business. Up to the time of the bringing of this case the authority of the railroad commission over the express companies had been stated only in the broad and general terms employed in the railroad law. This indicated that the board was to have the same destructive powers over express companies as over railroad corporations. But express companies, being partnerships or voluntary associations instead of corporations, were found to be considerably more difficult to get at. There was some question whether necessary information, which the board had found easily obtainable from the corporations, could be acquired readily from the express firms. In default of the regular returns from the express companies, similar to those made by the railroad and railway corporations, the board and the public had less real knowledge of express companies and their conditions.

So a good deal hinges on the decision, and interest in the case will doubtless continue, even though final arguments are not to be reached until July 12.

LIFE SAVER

DROWNED WHILE TRYING FOR TIME RECORD.

PITTSFIELD, June 23.—William Zach, 22 years old, an athlete and captain of the Y. M. C. A. Life Saving crew of this city, was drowned in Pontiac lake last night. He was an expert swimmer, and was trying for a time record for 150 yards when he approached the finish line, he suddenly sank. The medical examiner said that death was due to acute indigestion.

JIM KNOX, LOBSTER CATCHING.
Mr. James Knox, formerly of Third street, Centralville, writes from Prince Edward Island, where he is engaged in lobster catching, of a busy and highly satisfactory season. The lobsters, he writes to the old college chum, Bill Alexander, of this city, are so large that they would make those caught in the old Bay State look, in comparison, like herrings.

Features of Interest In Major League Baseball Races

How St. Louis, New York and Cleveland Americans and Cincinnati and Philadelphia Nationals Upset Calculations of Experts—Breezy Gossip of the Game

THE present major league baseball season has been one of the most interesting of recent years in several particulars. First, because of the unexpectedly strong showing of teams considered at the start of the season to be of debatable caliber; second, the record breaking closeness of the race in the American league and the material cutting down of the long lead obtained by the Chicago in the National; third, because of the large number of new and young men who have successfully surprised the baseball "talent" of the country are the St. Louis Americans, the New York Americans, the Cincinnati Nationals, the Philadelphia Nationals and the Cleveland Americans.

Griffith's Game Grabbers.

As regards the success of the New York American team in occupying the top rung in the championship ladder most of the season, there is much that could be said. The team is not a championship team. Only at times does it really put up a simon pure pennant quality of ball. Its pitching staff Niles and Chass) has been second rate, in some instances execrable. On form the team is outclassed by Philadelphia, Detroit and Cleveland. Manager Clark Griffith has by his excellent generalship and drill in team work practically held the team at the head of the procession by main strength.

The Cleveland Climbers.

The Cleveland Blues finally succeeded in ousting New York from first place with a weaker team than that of the last three years, for Terry Turner, shortstop par excellence, and Elmer

They lose a game when they're seven runs ahead or win a game when seven runs behind with equal facility, and all as a matter of course. The Blues seem to inherit this trait from the great Captain Lajoie. Larry is never more unconcerned or diffident than when rounding third base on a home run hit with 18,000 or 20,000 human catpaws rearing on their hind legs and gashing the ambient atmosphere with their mappillaries. As long as the team makes money Larry doesn't care whether his troubadours win the pennant or not. That is the key to the Cleveland situation.

McAleer's Missourians.

The St. Louis Americans by ranking above Chicago and Detroit most of the season and by sticking to the first division equally persistently have, it must be conceded along the banks of the Mississippi, exceeded the most lurid dreams of their backers, and they achieved this without aid from Monsieur Charles Edward Waddell, nee Roistering Rube, on whose occasionally exercised pitching prowess Manager Jimmy McAleer foolishly thought he could depend. Then, too, St. Louis has had to get along without Harry Niles, a brilliant all around fielder and one of the fleetest men in the American league, and Outfielder Hemphill, both obtained by New York.

The Rise of the Roseate Reds.

The Cincinnati Nationals have shown this year with a roseate incandescence that may be termed unnatural without hurting any one's feelings. Captain John Ganzel ("Poppy John" of yore) is the man who has won credit for the Reds' performances. Think of a Cincinnati team leading the New York Giants! Think of a Cincinnati team having a firm hold on the first division for a considerable part of the season! Well, those are two of the accomplishments of the Reds this year.

The Phillies.

The Philadelphia Nationals were admitted on all sides to be of stellar timber when the season opened, but they have more than fulfilled expectations to date by putting up a hair raising battle for second place and maintaining consistent form at all times. The Phillies are of championship caliber, and whether or not they maintain this standard depends principally on their pitchers, for the other departments are holding up well.

Letting Strang Down Easy.

Here is an instance of an attempt on the part of baseball reporters to save from injury the feelings and in a measure the reputation of a player whom personally they like: Sammy

Strang, the utility man of the New York Nationals for several years, was recently announced to be on Manager McGraw's bargain counter for release. The New York scribes were fond of Sammy, so they stated in their columns almost unanimously that "Nicklin" was about to be released. Nicklin is Strang's right name, and very

my's correct name) is a native of Nashville, Tenn., and comes of a wealthy family, the members of which do not approve of his diamond career.

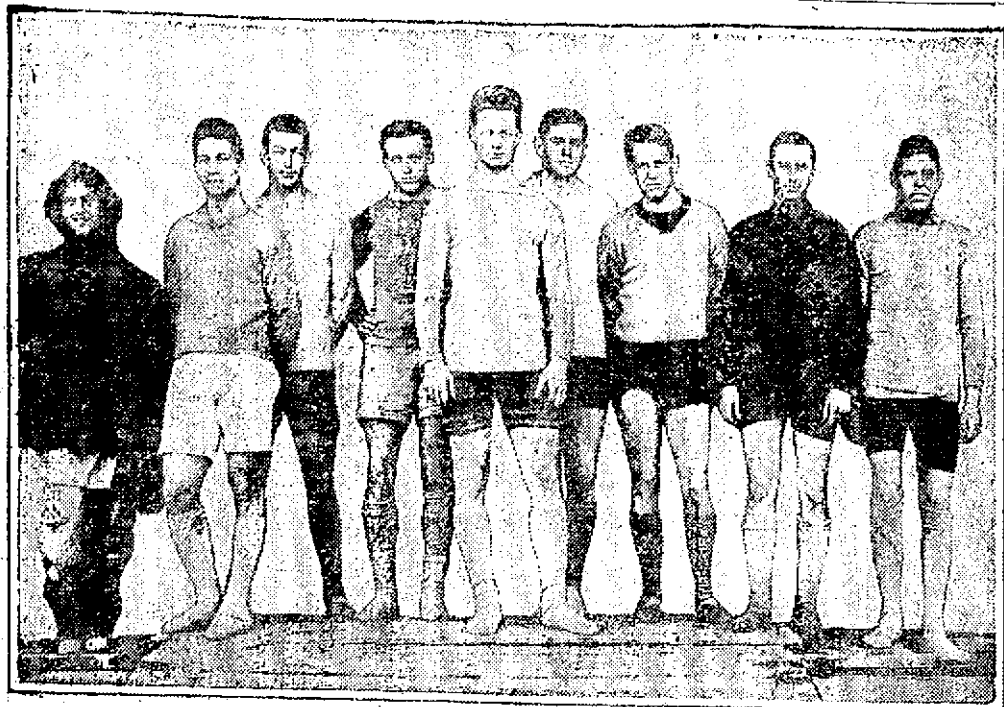

National Fight For Second Place.

In the National league the number of teams within hailing distance of second place has been unusual. Pitts-ence between the leaders and the tail enders was but 14½ and only thirty-two points separated the leaders from the fifth team—quite unprecedented in latter day big league ball.

A Beantown Boom.

The Boston Nationals also deserve credit for their improved showing. Al-

MEMBERS OF THE PROMISING COLUMBIA VARSITY CREW ENTERED AT POUGHKEEPSIE REGATTA.

"broken into" the big league game, and, fourth, because of the advance among players generally in the science of batting. Whether or not the improvement in batting is due to a regression in pitching, however, is a point that may well be seriously considered.

The teams that have particularly is weak. Its infield, with the able batsman, but immature shortstop, Ball, was wobbly. Without Elberfeld its infield has been fair; but, while almost all possible outfield balls are caught or stopped, they have been too frequently handled badly after being caught or stopped. The team has been batting well, but its base running (excepting

Pick, right field, have not been in good health of late. That was just like the Lajoie larruppers—to sag off when their team was strongest and to play pennant ball when weakened by the absence of two of their most reliable players. Nobody ever successfully guessed twice what the Blues would do at any given stage or in any stated situation.

MEMBERS OF THE YALE VARSITY ROWING SQUAD.

few people knew this. So Sammy escaped considerable humiliation, while scores of fans were wondering and asking: "Who is this man Nicklin that McGraw is going to turn loose? Guess he must be some nearly pitcher from the gas house league that didn't make good." Sammy Strang Nicklin (Sam-

burg and Philadelphia have been closest to the Chicago leaders for the longest period, but New York, Cincinnati and Boston have for the most part been dangerous competitors.

The closeness of the American league race has been extraordinary. A few days ago the number of points differ-though they have the aid of Outfielder George Browne, First Baseman Dan McGann and Catcher Frank Bowerman, they suffered a big loss when they lost their veteran and wise king pin of the infield, Captain Fred Tenney, whose generalship is high class. CHARLES E. EDWARDS.

Talk of the Summer Stage World—"Mary's Lamb"—Plans For Next Fall

(From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.)

RICHARD CARLE, who freely admits that "as a Romeo he is an onion," but fails to confess that as a comedian he is a very rare and superior sort of flower, has hung out his sign in front of the New York theater for a run in his latest musical production, "Mary's Lamb."

Light productions, pronounced scantiness or suggestiveness of costume. "Mary's Lamb" is daring because of an artist's model chorus which sings and poses to loud applause and which concludes with a living picture effect, reminding one of the performances in the Parisian music halls scattered along the Champs de Elysees.

Mr. Carle as Leander Lamb.

Mr. Carle is seen in the role of Leander Lamb, a henpecked husband, whose wife, Miranda, is obsessed by an obsession to the effect that she is the one peachy pippin on the premises. Leander may quite improbably agree with her, but there are other premises, as he well knows, even though he is a resident of Haverstraw, N. Y.

For instance, in the second act, in Haverstraw, a most proper town, situated on the west bank of the Hudson river, he makes an appointment to meet a model in a studio, but wife Miranda, who has all the instincts of a Mrs. Sherlock Holmes, locates him, lean, lanky Leander, who is alone, pretends to be asleep and promptly proceeds to put himself through a series of somnambulistic maneuvers. He walks across the floor (in his "sleep") and talks of the one he loves, the beautiful, queenly girl he loves, his lovely Miranda. So, of course, wife Miranda is appeased. She has wonderfully misjudged her Leander. Evidently matrimony in Haverstraw has its disadvantages. But who is there to say that matrimony anywhere else is any way different?

No Other Comedian Like Carle.

Mr. Carle's diverting style of comedy is, as usual, the chief feature of his production. There is no other comedian just like him. No other comedian could be just like him. The principal female roles are well played by Elita Proctor Otis as the termagant wife and Henrietta Lee as the young lady with whom Leander is in love. Any one who saw Elita Proctor Otis as the old widow Rouchard in the all star revival of the "Two Orphans" a few years ago will readily agree that she could ably picture the role of a household termagant.

The play is full of color and action and is diversified enough to enjoy a long New York engagement.

Some Plans For Next Season.

Plans for next season are rapidly maturing, and some managers have been seriously handicapped in completing their programmes for 1909 because of the hard times of the past season, which have depleted their financial resources.

Some of the prominent New York successes for which extensive road tours have been arranged are "The Witching Hour," the latest Augustus Thomas success; "The Thief," in which Kyle Bellow and Margaret Illington scored; "Girls," by Clyde Fitch; "The Servant in the House," by Charles Rann Kennedy; "The Honor of the Family," in which Otis Skinner and his company have scored; "The Wolf," by Eugene Walter, author of "Paid in Full," and "Lord Dundreary," the E. H. Sothern revival.

Some of the new productions announced are a play for E. H. Sothern by Justin Ihumly McCarthy, two Clyde Fitch plays, one of which will be for Maxine Elliott for her inaugural of the Elliott theater, now being built for her by the Shuberts; "What Happened Then," which Austin Strong is writing for De Wolf Hopper; "The Girl Who Dared," in which Lulu Glaser will reappear as a musical comedy star; a new comic opera for Louise Gunning by Glen McDonough and Victor Herbert; "Her Highness Radish," a musical comedy by Glen McDonough and F. Hollander; "Marcella," a Pixley-Luders operetta; "The Paradise of

SCENE FROM "THE TOP OF THE WORLD."

Kathleen Clifford, at the top; Anna Laughlin and Arthur Hill (as the bear) have been largely responsible for the success of "The Top of the World" in New York and elsewhere.

Mohammed" by Harry B. Smith; musical comedies for Eddie Foy, Jeff de Angeles, James T. Powers, Marguerite Clark, Sam Bernard and Lew Fields, a Robert Hughes drama for Mme. Nazimova, and "Utopia," in which Julia Marlowe will appear. Mary Manning will again be seen in "Glorious Betsey," by Rida Johnson Young.

When it is realized that the foregoing is but a fractional part of the programme for next season it will be realized that the leading managers have outlined an active campaign for the public's dollars. Evidently a concerted effort will be made to recoup the unfortunate losses in many quarters during the last year. There is of course the danger that every manager will be so anxious to participate in the inevitable revival of good theatrical times that fatal overproduction will result and cause a relapse. It should be remembered by such managers as have not heavy financial backing or resources at this time that every year in which a presidential election has occurred in the past has been a poorly paying one for the drama. Of course road companies have been the worst sufferers, but the cloud has spread over the big city attractions as well. Therefore the coming winter should be approached in conservative fashion.

Vassar Girls Produce Play on Boat.

The Junior class at Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., recently gave a moonlight sail on the Hudson and a stage performance to the senior class on a large river boat, on the main deck of which a temporary stage had been erected. All of which is a reminder that there are a large number of plays and players which are well adapted to marine presentation. But the boat used should be a freight barge with sixteen 9x12 inch holes cut in the hull. There is nothing personal in this, of course.

At the present writing there are 31,372 theatrical press agents out of work. The brain energy represented by these men is estimated to be $33,422,902 horsepower when working under a full head of steam. This power now idle could supply more force for mechanical use than Niagara falls or the engines of all the woolen mills of New England. Is it an wonder that foreign critics write epics on the wasted resources of America? Think how much of our diminishing national supply of wood and coal could be preserved for posterity merely by harnessing the press agents disengaged each summer to electric dynamo!

Frederick Truogles

WHERE ARE THE OLD ACTORS?

Where do all the actors go? It's a poor week in which one does not hear of this actor or that actress retiring from the stage. It's a poorer week in which some actor or actress whose name once was a household word does not retire unhonored by brass or cymbals. Where do they go? What becomes of all these players?

Who does not remember Pinero's delightful "The Amazons," the pretty comedy in which three girls were shown as having been raised as boys, but who, nevertheless, fell in love with three likable men and spoiled the plans of their parents? The prettiest and cleverest of the three was Georgia Cayvan. A couple of years ago she died in a public institution and in poverty. Della Fox, formidable once as the Prince Mataya in "Wang," lost her voice and had to accept vaudeville engagements at a figure at which she once would have snapped her fingers. In the days of the old David Henderson extravaganzas at the Chicago Opera House, when Eddie Foy was chief comedian, who was more popular than May Yoke? Later she married Lord Hope. She has since lost the diamonds that made his family notable and was last seen in New York "on her uppers."

For instance, how many of the thousands that used to applaud Joseph Haworth know what became of him? Where is Modjeska and what is she doing? How about Rhea or Helen Dauvray, Ebon Plympton, one of the greatest Romances that ever sighted to a Juliet? Kate Claxton, known from one end of the country as the creator of the big part in "The Two Orphans," the most successful melodrama of them all? How about Lotta, the wonderful soubrette whose twinkling shoes never have quite been filled?

Lawrence Hanley up to a few years ago was regarded as perhaps the best Shakespearean actor on the American stage. Who knows that when careless living caught him by the lungs at last he died in an obscure village in California, his once magnificent voice wrecked, his once powerful frame ruined, Modjeska, a costar with Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett, what of her? She lives in idyllic Arcadian ease on a ranch in southern California with her husband, the Count Bozenta.

FUJI-KO, CELEBRATED JAPANESE ACTRESS, IN "THE LOVE OF A GEISHA."

Fuji-ko is a dainty little stage lady from Japan who has scored in this country, in the west and middle west, in a picturesque playlet entitled "The Love of a Geisha." She will present the play in New York and other eastern cities in the fall.

BARBERS' OUTING

HELD AT MOUNTAIN ROCK YESTERDAY.

At Mountain Rock, yesterday afternoon and evening, the Lowell master and journeyman barbers had an outing which proved to be highly enjoyable. A delightful feature of the occasion was a baseball game between the journeymen and the master barbers, the former winning by a score of 15 to 11. The features of the game were the playing on first of Stone, the catching of McAllister, and the pitching of McAllister. After the game, an exhibition of wrestling, during the afternoon, Chris. Polity gave some good air magic. Refreshments were served. Other outings are planned during the summer.

hall throughout. On account of a lack of funds the boys must go without sweaters.

Raymond Foye, catcher and first baseman of the high school baseball team, was chosen captain for next year at a meeting of the 14 members of this year's team, held at the school yesterday. Foye is a sophomore and has played on the team his two years in high school, and during that time has made a very creditable showing.

Outside of the Merrimack Valley league games, of which they lost two, the Lowell boys did not lose a contest, while they defeated such teams as Everett, winner of the championship of the Suburban league of schools about Boston; Melrose, second in the same league race; Arlington high, St. Joseph's college, and many others. In total points Lowell scored 141 points to 65 for opponents.

The following nine players were awarded their L's at a meeting of the athletic board: Captain George McInerney, Jack Parker, Raymond Foye, Joseph Donahue, Clifford Stephens, Lindsay Thompson, Edward McVey, Cecil Dodge and Harry Swann.

Of the players that received their L's, Foye, Donahue, Stephens, Swann and McVey will return to school next year, while Woodley will be the only substitute to return.

AMERICAN VESSELS

TO BE EXCLUDED FROM CANADIAN TRADE ON PACIFIC.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 22.—American vessels will hereafter be excluded from the coasting trade of Canada on the Pacific. For some years the coasting laws of Canada have been suspended as far as the Pacific coast is concerned owing to the fact that there was not enough Canadian and British tonnage to fill the trade requirements. American boats have done a large and profitable business between Seattle and Nome, carrying between such ports as Vancouver, Victoria and Skagway. It has been decided by the government that there is enough British and Canadian tonnage on the coast to look after the trade, and the same coasting regulations has been put into force for the Pacific coast as applies to the Atlantic.

SHAM WAR

TO BE ENGAGED IN AT BOSTON TOMORROW.

BOSTON, June 22.—The militia men and regular artillery men devoted most of their time today to the preparations for the annual sham war of the city. The actual beginning of the sham war was announced tomorrow. It was expected that the declaration of war should be made at midnight tonight and in anticipation of this the regular officers who had been assigned to the several forts to instruct the militia, considered the militia as the entire reserve force, and the different forts were situated for the purpose of studying the lay of the land so that lines of defense might be located to properly cover all possible approaches and landing places, whether from the water and landward.

An Attempt to Poison Thos. May's Cows

CAKE FILLED WITH PARIS GREEN

Thrown About in the Pasture

Somebody, it would appear, is out to poison several cows belonging to Thos. May, the well known employee of the Locks & Canals company, who lends the gate at Pavvettuck Falls. Mr. May resides in the house on School street, adjoining the gate house, and his cows pasture in the field along the river bank nearby.

When he went into the pasture this morning he found a large quantity of cake distributed about in the field where the cows graze. Taking it to his house and looking it over carefully, he found it to be filled with Paris Green, a sufficient quantity having been left to kill all of the cows, had they eaten it.

He notified the police, and Lieut. Brosnan, called and took the cake away to the police station. The police will make an investigation.

JOSEPH ALBERT NEW BUILDINGS

Lost Big Roll of Bills at Depot

Undertaker Joseph Albert parted with a big roll of money last night in a very mysterious way. He was about to take a train for Canada and stepped into the telephone booth in the northern depot to phone to his place of business in Cheever street.

In his trousers pocket was placed his roll of bills and Mr. Albert is under the impression that in delving into his pocket to bring up the nickel required for a telephone toll, he unwittingly pulled up the money now missing.

After discovering his loss Mr. Albert repaired to the telephone booth, but there was no money there.

The loss of the money will not, however, prevent Mr. Albert from making his contemplated visit to Canada to meet his boy who is a student at college there, for he will leave for Montreal tomorrow night.

CITY IS FIRE SWEEP

Damage of $3,000,000 to Three Rivers, Quebec

THREE RIVERS, Que., June 23.—Fanned by a high wind, a fire which broke out shortly before noon yesterday in a stable did not pause in its work of destruction until the greater part of the lower town, containing the business section of the city, had been consumed. Then, with the assistance of firemen from Montreal, Quebec, Sherbrooke and Grande Mere, it was held in check.

Almost every building of any consequence in that section of the city was destroyed, including the post office, the city hall, every hotel worthy of the name with one exception, the fine building of the Hochlags bank and almost all of the leading stores. Over 300 buildings were burned.

The narrow streets of the town and the inflammable nature of many of the buildings in the path of the fire rendered the task of the firemen a hard one. Outside the town in located the camp of the sixth military district, and soon after the fire started 1000 men were sent in to help fight the flames, but it was not until nearly four hours after the fire had assumed threatening dimensions that organized effort by the fire fighters from the other cities was available.

Among the buildings burned, in addition to those mentioned above, are the

St. James Anglican church, the oldest Anglican church building in Canada; the Roman Catholic church; Drolet, La Londe & Co.'s big department store; the Dufresne, Windsor, Dominion and Richelleu hotels; the telegraph offices and the Bell Telephone company's exchange.

The loss will certainly reach three million dollars. So far no loss of life has been reported.

THE LATEST REPORT.

THREE RIVERS, Que., June 23. About 1000 people are homeless and more than $3,000,000 worth of damage was done by a fire which broke out here yesterday. The heart of the old city has been wiped out of existence and for half a mile square in the business section, only blackened ruins remained with a few gaunt chimneys standing intact while furniture saved from the doomed buildings is piled up in the public square. There was no loss of life.

Five banks and eleven hotels were burned to the ground and the old parish church of Three Rivers, originally built in 1664 and rebuilt in 1714, is destroyed except for the walls which are still standing.

The custom house is also in ruins. The latter building is also a historic one, being used as a barracks in the early colonial days.

OPEN THE DEPOT

Conference Held In This City Yesterday

A committee of the directors of the board of trade, consisting of President Smith, Secretary McKenna and Daniel F. Carroll, held a conference with Mr. H. C. Robinson, superintendent of the southern division of the Boston & Maine, and Mr. Herbert C. Taft, local agent, relative to keeping the northern depot open every evening.

The existing conditions at the depot are rather unsatisfactory, especially in bad weather, and many complaints have been made to the board of trade relative to them. When the 9:30 train for Boston leaves each evening the depot is closed and is not opened again until the arrival of the theatre train at 12:20 o'clock. Those who go to the depot to await the arrival of friends on the 9:35 of the 10:30 trains from Boston are forced to wait on the platform or go into the hotels. In cold and stormy weather this arrangement is most unsatisfactory.

Mr. Robinson stated that in his opinion keeping open the depot throughout the evening would not conserve the interest of the patrons of the road to any great extent and he stated further that aside from the additional expense entailed by such a proposition the opening of the depot would cause the congregating there of undesirable people and that the railroad officials would be unable to discriminate between the patrons and those who had no right there. Numerous cases in which complaints had been made to the directors of the board of trade were cited to the railroad men and Mr. Robinson suggested that it might relieve the situation to open the depot for 10 minutes before and after the arrival of the 9:35 and 10:30 trains and he stated that he would take the matter under advisement and would report to the committee as soon as possible.

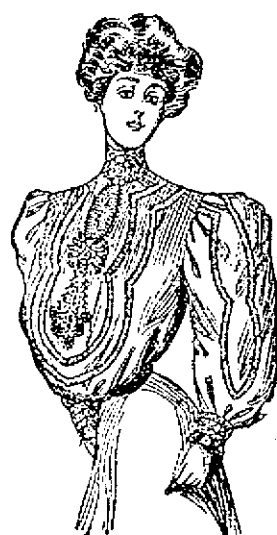

MERRIMACK VALLEY OFFICIALS.

The presidents and secretaries of the Merrimack valley boards of trade will meet in this city on Thursday afternoon for the purpose of discussing plans for the annual outing and any other business that may be brought up. The meeting will be called to order by Dr. M. F. Sullivan, president of the Lawrence board.

SENATOR SMART'S ILLNESS.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 23.—An announcement late last night by J. J. McLaughlin, chairman of the New Orleans Anti-Racetrack league put an unusual phase on the illness of Senator Smart whose absence was one of the excuses for the Locke bill's failure to pass.

Senator Smart was taken violently ill immediately after dinner last night and Mr. McLaughlin's statement says that attending physicians thought the attack might be due to "some foreign substance which resembles poison very much." Senator Setton telegraphed that he would arrive today. The auto sent for him broke down in the mud.

YALE'S GREAT DAY

Second Day of the Commencement With Taft as Guest

NEW HAVEN, June 23.—Officially as well as unofficially the second day of Yale's commencement week was a crowded one. This morning the annual meeting of the alumni occurred at Alumnae hall where President Hadley delivered his annual address. During the morning the election of a member of the Yale corporation was going on at Woodbridge hall and at noon the exercises connected with the Ledyard memorial flagstaff on the campus presented to the university took place, the chief feature of which was an address by Secretary Taft. This afternoon the Yale-Harvard baseball game will be played at Yale field and tonight will occur the various class reunion dinners about town and the fourth annual graduates' dinner in University hall, the gathering comprising those whose classes do not regularly take part in reunions this year.

ALUMNI DAY OBSERVED.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 23.—Alumni day at Trinity college which is being celebrated today was given added interest by reason of the fact that it marks the 25th anniversary of President Flavel's connection with the college. The alumni association's annual meeting occurred this morning.

With the promise ahead of him of a strenuous day, Secretary Taft seized the opportunity of obtaining as much rest as possible in the early morning hours. He did not appear on the veranda of W. W. Furness's handsome residence which he and Mrs. Taft are making their home while in New Haven until about 9.30.

Despite the excessive heat and fatigue of yesterday and last night he expressed himself as feeling in excellent condition and spirits.

No over-night communication of importance was received by him. Before coming to New Haven the secretary directed that he should not be disturbed by either political or official business unless it should be absolutely necessary. Matters of that sort are being handled in Washington.

Secretary Taft and his host left the residence immediately after breakfast to attend the meeting of the alumni on the old campus. It was a rousing reception he received from the thousands of men grouped about and inside the hall.

TAFT'S RECEPTION.

The alumni meeting was presided over by Hart Lyman, class of '73 and editor of the New York Tribune who is back with his class for their thirty-fifth reunion. Mr. Lyman after extending a welcome to the representatives of the many classes, said:

"A man whom it will soon be extremely inopportune to address as 'Bill,' a man in short whom we look upon as the next president of the country is the indication of the kind of graduates Yale gives to the country. Perhaps the university is not turning out better graduates now than thirty years ago, but at least she is turning out more of them."

The entire audience rose and applauded Mr. Lyman's reference to Mr. Taft. The secretary had not arrived at that time. Mr. Lyman introduced President Arthur T. Hadley of the university who made his annual report to the alumni.

PRESIDENT HADLEY'S REPORT.

President Hadley's report says: "The relations between the two undergraduate departments have passed through three stages. First, their problems were treated as entirely separate. This lasted until about 1850.

Then they were regarded as competitors representing rival theories of education. But as time has gone on we are fortunately outgrowing this conception, also. The idea of competition is giving place more and more to the idea of co-operation.

"The scientific school of today is, in general, a place of training for the boy who has chosen his profession and wishes to adapt his course of study directly to it. The academic department on the contrary here and elsewhere is for the boy who, when he has left school, either has not chosen his profession or at any rate wishes to delay the commencement of special studies."

The report then takes up the cost of university education. The average cost of instruction for students in different departments of the university is as follows:

Academic, $158; scientific, $165; theological, $432; law, $115; medical, $134; music, $152; forestry, $238.

The total number of students in all departments was $3,306.

The total charges to the students of the university during the year 1906-07 were $514,832, or a little over $158 per capita.

The report continues: "The university has lost by death during the last year three of the most valued members of its professional force—Thomas Day Seymour, Edward Gaylord Bourne, and Angelo Hellprin. Two more professors it loses by retirement—Tracy Peck and John H. Niemeyer.

"An event of the very highest importance is the selection of Prof. Frederick Schetz Jones of the University of Minnesota, to succeed Prof. Wright as dean of the college at the close of the next academic year."

"From the financial standpoint the year may be characterized as a difficult but in no wise disastrous one. The commercial crisis prevented us from obtaining some of the large gifts which we have previously expected with more or less confidence, but it did not interfere with our income from investment as much as would have been expected."

The generosity of the alumni also prevented the commercial crisis from resulting in any loss of disposal income from the alumni fund. Outside the alumni fund the actual increase of the general university funds by gift since the beginning of the fiscal year, about $200,000 of this came in the form of gifts to the endowment of the extension fund.

"We shall also receive in the immediate future a sum, the amount of which is not yet exactly known but which cannot fall far short of $350,000, from the estate of Archibald Henry Blount of Orleton manor, Herefordshire, England."

"By a gift of $150,000 received from Mrs. James Brown Oliver of Pittsburg, the Sheffield trustees were enabled to erect a building in memory of her son, Daniel Lee Oliver, who was a member of the Sheffield class of 1908 at the time of his death. It will be used for the work of the Sheffield school in modern languages, history and economics."

"With the funds realized from the estate of the late Dr. William M. Lane arrangements are made for the building of an academic dormitory to be known as Haughton hall."

DOHERTY TRIAL

Today's Testimony in Full
The Defense Opens

Government Rested at Noon, Its Witnesses Were Messrs. Thomas F. Garvey, Thomas J. Mulligan, Wm. F. Thornton, James B. Casey, Thomas J. Beane and Dr. Huntress. For Defense, Frank B. Dow, William C. Doherty and Major Crowley Who Was on Stand at Adjournment.

Considerable progress was made in the trial of the Doherty case before Judge Aiken in Cambridge today. On resumption this morning, Thomas F. Garvey was called to the stand and was examined at considerable length. After he was excused the witnesses who testified were: Thomas J. Mulligan, Thomas J. Beane, Dr. L. F. Huntress, William F. Thornton, ex-Mayor James B. Casey.

The defense opened at noon and after the noon recess Frank B. Dow was called as the first witness. William C. Doherty, the defendant in the case, was next called and testified at considerable length, dealing with the inside workings of the health department and claiming that Mr. Garvey was removed as a measure of economy.

When the trial of the case against William C. Doherty was resumed in superior court at East Cambridge at 9.30 this morning the attendance of spectators was not so large as yesterday. Some of the witnesses were tardy this morning, but this did not delay the opening of the morning session.

THOMAS F. GARVEY RECALLED.

Thomas F. Garvey was recalled and Lawyer Mayberry resumed cross-examination of the witness where he had left off yesterday afternoon.

"Since the examination yesterday afternoon, Mr. Garvey, have you thought of anything else that Mr. Crowley said to you in your office?"

"No sir."

"Are you sure it was Mr. Crowley who spoke to you over the telephone and asked you to go to his office?"

"Yes, sir. He said it was Crowley who was speaking."

"When you went to Mr. Crowley's office did he say 'your friends have been interceding for you' or did he say 'Mr. Doherty wants to see you'?"

"I think the former statement is correct."

"Did you hear Mr. Doherty say anything during that talk in which Mayor Casey's name was mentioned?"

"Yes. He said, 'I have been up against Casey and asked him to appoint me to the board of health before election and he said to wait until after election. To be with Casey, I would not take his word before or after election.'"

Lawyer Mayberry then took up the testimony given by Mr. Garvey in the superior court when Mr. Garvey's suit against the city was on trial, and compared it with the direct testimony of the witness yesterday afternoon by Mr. Garvey to show that they were at variance in relation to the names of persons and the arrangements for the appointment to

CHARMING WEDDING

Daughter of America and Son of England

United in Marriage in Presence of King and Queen—Chapel Royal of St. James Palace Scene of Ceremony—Most Fashionable of Recent Weddings in London

LONDON, June 23.—With King Edward and the queen smiling approval from their private gallery, Jeanne Reid, daughter of Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador to England, was married this afternoon in the chapel Royal of St. James palace to the Hon. John Hubert Ward, brother of the earl of Dudley and equerry-in-waiting to the king. The ancient chapel, one of the few remains of the old palace of the Tudors in which Queen Victoria and several of her daughters were married, was prettily decorated with flowers for this, the most fashionable of recent weddings in London.

A great crowd assembled in St. James square to watch the arrival of the bride party and the king and queen and other members of the royal family who, by their attendance at the chapel and the subsequent reception at Dorchester house, the city residence of Ambassador Reid, paid a compliment to the American ambassador and his daughter seldom accorded even to members of the English nobility.

The invitations, which were limited to less than one hundred on account of the smallness of the chapel, set the time of arrival at 2.45 p. m. and by that hour all the guests had found their seats.

A few minutes before 3 o'clock King Edward and Queen Alexandra accompanied by their suites drove up from Buckingham palace and proceeded at once to the royal gallery where the prince and princess of Wales, the duke and duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia already had arrived.

As is customary in the church of England service by the officiating clergyman, accompanied by a surpliced choir, met the bride procession at the door and preceded it up the chapel, the choir singing "Lead Us, Heavenly Father, Lead Us."

The Rev. Edgar Sheppard, canon of St. George's chapel, Windsor, where the king and queen attend services when in residence at Windsor castle, officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. William Grosvenor, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, New York, a church of which Mr. and Mrs. Reid have been members for many years.

and the Rev. Hiers Cloughton, rector of Hutton-Brentwood, a cousin of the groom. The bride's dress was of soft white satin trimmed with old rose point lace given her by her grandmother. The fronts of the skirt and waist were practically covered with this beautiful lace which was caught up with tiny white rose buds and orange blossoms. The court train was of the same material as the dress and like it was trimmed with rose point lace. The veil, too, had a lace centre and edging and was held by a wreath of orange blossoms.

The bride wore but three pieces of jewelry and these all were old fashioned clasp bracelets, the wedding presents of King Edward, Queen Alexandra and Mr. Ward. She looked charmingly beautiful as she walked up the aisle of the historical old chapel on the arm of her father, Miss Jennie Crocker of San Francisco attended her cousin and on account of the smallness of the chapel, which even with all the precautions taken was rather overcrowded, was the only bridesmaid.

She wore a shiny costume of white embroidered muslin with blue wash and a large picture hat trimmed with flowers. There were also in attendance five little children, two boys and three girls, all in quaint costumes of blue and white, taken from one of Reynolds's famous child pictures. They made as pretty a little troupe as has ever followed a bride to the altar. The children were: Hon. Robert Ward and Miss Margaret Ward, son and daughter of the Earl and Countess of Dudley; the Hon. Nigell and Marion Glyn, children of Lord and Lady Wolverton; and Miss James, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James. Major George L. Holford, equerry-in-waiting to the king, through whom the bride and groom first met, supported Mr. Ward and the ushers were Messrs. Cyril Robert and Gerald Ward, brothers of the groom, Ogden Reid, Craig Wadsworth, Grant Smith and E. Sheldon Whitehouse. Among those invited to the ceremony in the Chapel Royal were included all the ambassadors of foreign countries accredited to the Court of St. James.

HELD IN $10,000

For Blowing up Railroad Bridge

FALL RIVER, June 23.—George O'Donnell of New York City was adjudged probably guilty of the charge of blowing up the iron work of the passenger bridge of the New York, New Haven and Hartford road with dynamite on June 15 and held in $10,000 bail for the superior court by Judge McDonough of the second district court here.

The damage to the bridge was estimated at the trial at between $200 and $300. The government called ten witnesses and adduced three in defense. O'Donnell pleaded not guilty and presented no witnesses. The police are trying to establish O'Donnell's connection with the parties that attempted to blow up the iron work on the lower county bridge over the Taunton river some months ago.

SUIT FOR $40,000

Suffered in Accident on Rhode Island Trolley Car—He Was Thrown From the Car and Badly Hurt

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 23.—Harlan P. Young, a Lowell manufacturer, is suing for $40,000 damages in the United States court before Judge Arthur L. Brown, the defendant being the Rhode Island company. The plaintiff is represented by A. B. Crafts and the defendant by Attorney Hayes of the Rhode Island company.

The plaintiff while on the stand yesterday testified as to the accident as a result of which he claims heavy damages. It is alleged in his declaration that he suffered permanent injury and loss of health as the result of getting off a moving car in Pawtucket, which had no car crew, and which had been started by a leak in the air brake. "The car was standing still when the plaintiff boarded it in Trinity square, it is claimed, but started soon after he entered it, there being no conductor or motorman aboard. It is claimed that, hearing shouts that the car was moving toward the river, and being unfamiliar with the city, the plaintiff, in attempting to get off, was thrown and injured so that he has failed in health ever since and has been under doctors' care."

BECAME HYSTERICAL.

met Mr. Doherty at the latter's foundry.

"I do not remember whether Mr. Thornton's name was mentioned in connection with the matter when he had his talk with Mr. Doherty in the latter's office."

"Were you convicted of maintaining a liquor nuisance in Lowell?"

"I was convicted in 1889 of maintaining a public bar, the same as the other 13 licenses did. Since then the law has been changed and the public bar is allowed. I was convicted of maintaining a liquor nuisance."

"Did you have a talk with William Hunt of Lowell in August, 1907, and did you say to him that you would get square with Doherty if it took you a life time?"

"I do not know Mr. Hunt."

"That's all," said Mr. Mayberry.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION.

"You said yesterday," said Mr. Higgins, "that the first notice of your discharge was received on March 2. What did you do after that discharge?"

Mr. Mayberry objected to the question and the district attorney said that he wished to show that Garvey was put out of his position by Doherty because he refused to perform public service and the supreme court has passed on that point.

Lawyer Mayberry objected to the district attorney's statement and said it was unbecoming for him to say that he should not have been made. He denied that the supreme court had passed on this question. He said he did not care to go into the matter leading up to Mr. Garvey's final discharge by the vote of the board of health.

Mr. Higgins said that the matter of Mr. Garvey's discharge was brought up by Mr. Mayberry and he felt that he should be allowed to press the question that the jury might understand the conditions.

Mr. Mayberry said that he did not think the question competent, but if the court wanted to admit the question, he was willing to meet the issue and produce witnesses to show and prove facts concerning Garvey's discharge.

Mr. Higgins replied that he wanted to show by his questioning along this line that Mr. Garvey has no bias against Mr. Doherty because he is now receiving his pay for the position he formerly held though he does not perform the service.

The court, however, excluded the question and said that the district attorney could ask witness if he had any bias against Doherty.

Mr. Higgins then asked Mr. Garvey if he had any bias against Mr. Doherty.

"I have not," replied Mr. Garvey.

"Did you bring this matter to the attention of the grand jury?" asked Mr. Higgins.

"I did not," said Mr. Garvey.

"All I want is to get my money."

"Did your counsel bring the matter before the grand jury?"

"No sir." He never mentioned it to me.

"Did you ever see me or confer with me before you appeared as a summoned witness before the grand jury?"

"No sir."

"Then the district attorney attempted to question Mr. Garvey as to the evidence he gave before the grand jury but Lawyer Mayberry objected and the court sustained the objection."

Mr. Mayberry objected to the question and the district attorney said that he wished to show that Garvey was put out of his position by Doherty because he refused to perform public service and the supreme court has passed on that point.

Lawyer Mayberry objected to the district attorney's statement and said it was unbecoming for him to say that he should not have been made. He denied that the supreme court had passed on this question. He said he did not care to go into the matter leading up to Mr. Garvey's final discharge by the vote of the board of health.

Mr. Higgins said that the matter of Mr. Garvey's discharge was brought up by Mr. Mayberry and he felt that he should be allowed to press the question that the jury might understand the conditions.

Mr. Mayberry said that he did not think the question competent, but if the court wanted to admit the question, he was willing to meet the issue and produce witnesses to show and prove facts concerning Garvey's discharge.

Mr. Higgins replied that he wanted to show by his questioning along this line that Mr. Garvey has no bias against Mr. Doherty because he is now receiving his pay for the position he formerly held though he does not perform the service.

The court, however, excluded the question and said that the district attorney could ask witness if he had any bias against Doherty.

Mr. Higgins then asked Mr. Garvey if he had any bias against Mr. Doherty.

"I have not," replied Mr. Garvey.

"Did you bring this matter to the attention of the grand jury?" asked Mr. Higgins.

"I did not," said Mr. Garvey.

"All I want is to get my money."

"Did your counsel bring the matter before the grand jury?"

"No sir." He never mentioned it to me.

"Did you ever see me or confer with me before you appeared as a summoned witness before the grand jury?"

"No sir."

"Then the district attorney attempted to question Mr. Garvey as to the evidence he gave before the grand jury but Lawyer Mayberry objected and the court sustained the objection."

and I said I would like to see it fixed up."

Mr. Doherty said it was too late, that he had told Pat Welch to have Mr. Garvey come and see him (Mr. Doherty) and that Mr. Garvey had not done so. "Then I told him I was not interested in Garvey but I was in his family and would not like to see him lose his position. He said he had gone over that whole matter, but his position was not changed."

"Did you have a talk with Mr. Beane in which he said that he had gone over the matter with Mr. Doherty and told him you felt his position was wrong but that he was still determined to remove Mr. Garvey, and that he (Beane) would vote with him?"

Lawyer Mayberry objected to the question but the court allowed it and an exception was saved.

"Yes sir," was Mr. Thornton's reply. Mr. Thornton was then excused and a recess was ordered.

RECESS TAKEN.

After the recess Mr. Thornton was cross-examined. The cross-examination was very brief. Mr. Thornton merely stated that he took no interest in politics, that he had no feeling against Mr. Doherty and that if he had known at the time he went to see Mr. Doherty that court proceedings were to be inaugurated he would never have gone near him.

JAMES B. CASEY.

Ex-Mayor Casey was called to the witness stand and the first question asked by the district attorney was "Did you have a talk when you were mayor of Lowell with Mr. Doherty?"

Lawyer Mayberry objected but the question was allowed and exceptions saved.

"Yes sir," replied Mr. Casey. "In consequence of what I had heard I sent for Mr. Doherty and he came to the mayor's office. I asked if there was danger of Mr. Garvey losing his place, and he said 'Yes.' He said Mr. Garvey had been ignoring him and he mentioned that he had discharged a man named Cassidy. I also had a talk with Mr. Thornton and Mr. Garvey and I tried to have Mr. Doherty keep Mr. Garvey in his position."

Mayor Casey was briefly cross-examined as to whether or not he had heard why Mr. Cassidy was discharged, and at this point the government rested.

DEFENCE OPENS.

Lawyer Mayberry in opening for the defence said that in his career as district attorney Mr. Higgins has had 197 times as much experience in criminal trials as the speaker has had. "This is the first time in 15 years I have appeared before a jury in the criminal court. What is this offense with which defendant is charged? It is an offense, the legislature of 1884 made it an offense. Now here is the situation: Mr. Doherty was not a supporter or a political friend of Col. Carmichael; he had no reason to go for Carmichael, against Casey or anyone else. He had no idea of getting into a vote for Carmichael. He did not believe in having Mr. Garvey as foreman of the health department yard because he felt he was not using the men right and he told Mr. Garvey so. Mr. Garvey went to see Mr. Dow to see if he could not help him hold his place. Mr. Dow saw Mayor Casey and the latter sent for Mr. Doherty and asked him to give Mr. Garvey another trial and Doherty agreed to do so, but he said that he felt Mr. Mulligan had inspired articles attacking the board of health and that Mr. Garvey had instigated the articles. Mr. Crowley pleaded with Mr. Doherty to reconsider and he agreed to and then Mr. Crowley sent for Mr. Garvey."

There the three talked about the matter and Mr. Garvey agreed to go to have the attacks on the board stopped. Afterwards Mr. Crowley talked with Mr. Garvey and said that inasmuch as he (Crowley) had done so much for him (Garvey) the latter should get out and hustle for his friend, Col. Carmichael's name. That's when Carmichael's name was mentioned and later at the interview between Mr. Doherty and Mr. Mulligan when the latter asked Mr. Doherty about Col. Carmichael Mr. Doherty said: "I don't care about that, he is no friend of mine."

At the opening of the afternoon session the witnesses for the defence were sworn in.

FRANK B. DOW.

Frank B. Dow was the first witness called by the defence and the examination was conducted by Nathan D. Pratt. Mr. Dow testified: "I know Mr. Garvey and also Mr. Doherty. Mr. Garvey came to my place of business in October or November, 1906, and spoke to me in regard to his position. I had known him for ten years. In consequence of the talk I had with Mr. Garvey I communicated with Mayor Crowley and asked him to use his influence with Mr. Doherty to get him to retain Mr. Garvey in his position. That was in October I believe. On the evening of that same day I saw Mr. Garvey again and told him I had seen Mr. Crowley and he had promised to use his influence with Mr. Doherty in Mr. Garvey's behalf."

The defendant, William C. Doherty, was then called and said he is in the foundry business and has lived in Lowell 19 years. "I am a member of the board of health and have been since 1906. Thomas F. Garvey was an employee of the health department yard. The board then was composed of Dr. Holbrook, Dr. Jackson and myself. I was elected chairman in February or March, 1907. Within the last few years there has been trouble between myself and Mr. Garvey. In November, 1906, I was in Mayor Crowley's office one day. Our relations are very friendly. On that day I was in Mr. Doherty's law office and I was telephoned to by Mr. Crowley who had been in the same building and had a talk with him. Mr. Crowley wanted to know if I would say as much to Mr. Garvey as I did to Mr. (Mr. Crowley). When Mr. Garvey arrived at the office I said: 'How do you do, Tom?' and he replied: 'How do you do?' Mr. Crowley then said: 'Now, Billy, think that you have some rights in the department yard that you are not using right. Then again he thinks that you tell stuff to Mr. Mulligan attacking the board of health, and the latter has articles printed.'"

"He said that he did not tell Mr. Mulligan anything about the health department and furthermore that that was not in Mr. Mulligan's line."

"He said he wanted another trial and I told him to use the men in the yard and not make them go to a certain place to do their beer."

"He said he did not do that, and I said I understood he sent them to Jackson street."

"Afterwards Mr. Crowley spoke up and said: 'Now Tom I have done something for you that Casey and your other friends could not do, and I want you to get out and help Carmichael to defeat Casey. I took no interest in the fight between Casey and Carmichael, I was not friendly to Carmichael and I did not vote for either'

Carmichael or Casey at the caucuses. The next day I met Mr. Garvey and Mr. Mulligan in my office at the foundry. They were in the office when I went upstairs. Speaking to Mr. Mulligan, I said: 'Tom I told Mr. Garvey yesterday that you had articles written attacking the board of health and he said he did not think you had.' Then I said I wanted to have it stopped and Mr. Mulligan said he did not do that kind of work."

"I told him I knew the reporters on the different papers got together at night and agreed to 'knock' certain parties. Then he said he had no interest in the morality fight, that Carmichael had promised to vote for my continuance as a member of the board of health and we had not spoken for some time."

"When was the vote taken for the abolition of Mr. Garvey's place?"

"In the following March."

"When taking part in that vote were you animated in that course by any idea to punish Mr. Garvey for anything he had done politically?"

"No sir."

"On four different times I was called to the mayor's office and talked with him about health department matters. On these occasions I was sent for by the mayor."

"I also had an interview with the mayor in Mr. Doherty's office and he wanted health department expenses cut down. I said we could not cut down on the market collection and collect ashes every other week. We finally decided we could drop one plumbing inspector for a time, and also abolish the office of foreman of the department yard. Then the mayor asked if I had not lately engaged a clerk at the yard and I said 'Yes.' But I added, 'that man has saved his salary because we have made more collections of ash and we must have saved in day and grade also. At the meeting of the board of health the following Thursday I told the members that the mayor said we must cut expenses and abolish the position of the foreman of the yard and also drop inspector dignity for a time.'

"I did not testify at the trial of the suit brought by Mr. Garvey against the city of Lowell and have never told my story before."

"I had a talk with Mr. Thornton but nothing was ever said about getting a man from the civil service list to succeed Garvey."

"No sir."

"It is true, isn't it, Mr. Doherty," asked the district attorney, "that the first time you had trouble with Garvey was when he discharged a man named Cassidy?"

"Yes sir."

"Who was chairman when you and Garvey had the trouble?"

"I can't say just now. The records will show that."

"You also charged Garvey with ignoring you in the conduct of his office?"

"I did about four times."

"Did you tell him he ignored you because he had Dr. Jackson and Dr. Huntress with him?"

"I don't think so."

"Did you ever give him to understand that Cassidy was to come some time?"

"I never did."

"You did not testify in the case of Garvey against the city?"

"No sir."

"You know that the charges made by Garvey at that time were the same as these charges?"

"Object," said Lawyer Mayberry.

"Question allowed," said the court and exceptions were saved.

"I did know the charges were the same," said Mr. Doherty.

"You heard Garvey's story in court that day?"

"Yes sir."

"And yet you did not go on the stand to tell your story?"

"I was willing to."

"And do you mean that City Solicitor Hill would not let you testify?"

"Yes."

"And you had told your story to City Solicitor Hill just as you are telling it now?"

"Yes sir."

"And yet Mr. Hill would not let you go on the stand?"

"No."

"Do you have any friendship for Casey?"

"Not much."

"And you had no friendship for Carmichael?"

"I wouldn't do anything to hurt him."

"But you would go out of your way to hurt Casey?"

"I did not care to answer that."

"You didn't vote for Casey or Carmichael?"

"No."

"You would go out of your way to hurt Casey?"

"I did not care to answer that."

"You didn't vote for Casey or Carmichael?"

"No."

"You would go out of your way to hurt Casey?"

"I did not care to answer that."

"You didn't vote for Casey or Carmichael?"

"No."

"You would go out of your way to hurt Casey?"

"I did not care to answer that."

"You didn't vote for Casey or Carmichael?"

"No."

"You would go out of your way to hurt Casey?"

"I did not care to answer that."

not have discharged Cassidy without giving the man a hearing?"

"I think I told that to Mr. Knapp, but I did not mean a civil service hearing."

REDIRECT EXAMINATION.

"What talk had you with Mr. Garvey about the Cassidy affair?"

"I called him to my office and asked him why he had discharged Cassidy. He said Cassidy was drunk and he sent him home for the day. Cassidy wanted to come and see me and he told him not to. Later Garvey told me to send Cassidy around and he would put him to work. I said, 'No, you trimmed him once and you won't trim him again. I told him that friends of his could go there without a leg under them and they would not be sent home.'

Mr. Higgins again took the witness in hand and asked if he had said anything further to Mr. Garvey about Cassidy than what he had testified to."

He said he thought not.

The district attorney then read testimony given by Mr. Garvey at the last trial and Mr. Doherty denied that he said to Garvey: "You know Cassidy was my man." "You better leave my friends alone."

He also denied that he said if Garvey interfered with any more of his (Doherty's) friends he would see that he (Garvey) was discharged.

"Do you remember that on November 8, 1906, that Mr. Garvey asked you if you were going to discharge him and he asked you why?"

"He may have asked that but I did not answer him. I just took it all in."

Mr. Doherty denied that he ever said to Garvey that he now had Beane on the boards and his day had come and he (Garvey) must go.

He also denied that he had ever told Garvey that he had sent Pat Welch to come and see him (Doherty).

The district attorney read a considerable portion of Mr. Garvey's testimony relative to the alleged conference which the latter had with Mr. Doherty and the witness made a general denial.

Mr. Doherty was excused at 3.30 o'clock having been on the witness stand for one hour and forty minutes. During the testimony his counsel saved several exceptions.

MAJOR CROWLEY TESTIFIED.

Robert J. Crowley was the next witness called. He testified in part as follows: "In November, 1906, Mr. Dow talked to me about Mr. Garvey and I telephoned to Mr. Doherty to go and see him. He did so and I said to him: 'Now Bill, you are having considerable trouble in this Garvey matter and many of his friends are interfering for him and you had better let up on him.'

"Mr. Doherty said he had nothing against Mr. Garvey personally but that he did not think he treated the men at the yard fairly and that he had favored some of them. Doherty said that if Garvey would agree to let right he would let him stay there. Garvey said he would let me send for him and have a talk with him. He agreed and sent for Garvey and he met us in my office."

"I told Garvey that a number of his friends had been interfering for him and in consequence of that I had sent for Mr. Doherty in order to talk the matter over with him. I told him that Mr. Doherty was willing to hold him in his place if he would treat the men right and not play any favorites."

MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

"Mr. Garvey stated that he had played no favorites and Mr. Doherty said: 'You know better than that, Tom, and all I want you to do is to mind your own business.'

"Mr. Doherty also said: 'I heard that Tom Mulligan has inspired articles against the board of health that appeared in the Lowell papers and I want that stopped.'

"Mr. Garvey said he did not think that Mr. Mulligan had anything to do with articles published and he would ask Mulligan to see Doherty in order to prove it."

"That being settled," said Mr. Crowley, "I stated to Mr. Garvey, 'Now, Tom, I want to ask you a favor. I have done something for you and I want you to do something for me. I want you to get Mr. Thornton and Mr. Mulligan to get out and hustle for Carmichael against Casey, and if they are so interested in you they will do this.'"

Cross-examination: In reply to the district attorney Mr. Crowley stated that he was politically and socially mixed with Doherty for some time.

"Before Mr

It is now generally conceded that Inspector Smith was not exceeding his authority when he advanced Bourke's pay and that the city will have to pay Mr. Bourke at the rate of $24 a week. In Bourke has not drawn any pay since his name was held up by the board.

AT SACRED HEART

A Delightful Entertainment at School

MARKED CLOSE OF YEAR

Final Exercises Will be Held Tonight

The opening night's entertainment in connection with the commencement exercises of the Sacred Heart parochial school was held last evening and was fully up to the high standard ever maintained by that successful institution.

Among the guests were Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. L. pastor and director of the school, whose careful personal interest in its welfare has been a factor in its success; and his assistants, Rev. Frs. Robert Barrett, O. M. L., Bernard Fletcher, O. M. L., and John O'Brien, O. M. L. This evening the guest of honor will be Very Rev. Fr. Fallon, O. M. L. provincial of the order.

The hall and stage were prettily decorated with the national colors while the front of the stage was set off with potted palms.

Last evening's entertainment was by the younger pupils and the program was as follows:

When Softly Dawns the Golden Light.

Opening Hymn

Welcome to All.....Recitation

Little Misses L. Plunkett, A. Heaton, M. Kieran.

Pantomime, Spring, Summer, Autumn, and the Flowers.

Scientific Treatment That Costs Nothing Unless It Cures.

Neuralgia Anodyne's remarkable cures of rheumatism has probably caused more favorable talk and comment than any other rheumatism cure ever put on the market, as it seems unfailing in curing this dread disease.

It is much more successful than ordinary rheumatism remedies, due to its action being entirely different. It is taken in small doses internally, reaching the nerve centers and driving the uric acid from the blood. At the same time, it is rubbed on the affected parts, and thus its curative power goes through the pores of the skin to the aching tissues and throbbing nerves, giving quick relief and cure.

So reliable is the Anodyne in curing rheumatism, neuralgia and all aches and pains that it is sold under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if not satisfactory.

A large-sized bottle costs 25c; nothing if it does not cure. It is made by The Twitchell-Champlin Co., Portland, Me.

There wasn't a weak number in the entire program and the little ones showed careful training while artistic taste was displayed in selecting the program.

The pantomime, "Spring, Summer, Autumn and the Flowers," was a beautiful number, the flowers being 60 tots dressed in white and wearing wreaths of flowers. These apparently, were asleep until five little girls dressed in grass green, representing spring, came on the stage singing spring songs, when the flowers slightly raised their heads. Then advanced five more girls dressed in green covered with flowers, representing summer, and singing, then the flowers rose and sang; autumn, represented by five more girls dressed in green, covered with autumn leaves and wearing tinzel crowns to represent frost, came on the stage and sang, and the flowers drooped their heads and fell asleep. One of the best numbers was the tabernacle, "Grandma's Birthday," with 40 little ones in it. Miss Ethel Sheehan singing a sweet solo while she crowned grandma. In fact all the numbers were worthy of praise, but special mention should be given Masters J. Harron, L. Rogers, F. Sharkey and G. Rogers, who took individual parts in the "Boys' Patriotic Operetta."

Between the numbers there were artistic piano selections by the talented accompanists of the evening, Misses Helen Kerwin and Frances Parker. The program this evening will be given by the older pupils.

The Tabernacle society, which exhibited such excellent needlework Sunday in the vestibule of the church, is composed of the following pupils: August Barr, Mary Bassett, Elizabeth Bassett, Alice Belanger, Mary Craig, Rose A. STATE ARMY

NOW SHOWS STATE AND NATIONAL COLORS.

According to the order of the governor both the state and national colors now grace the state armory in Westford street.

The rule governing the locations of the flags require that the national flag be at the right and the state flag at the left of the main entrance coming out.

The state flag on the armory is 6x12 feet, and the national flag 9x15. They were raised June 17 and will be seen daily hereafter.

Armorer Carr, speaking of the flags, said that the meaning of the Latin on the state seal had caused some discussion at the armory. The Latin reads: "Euse Petit Placdam sub Libertate Quisquid," the translation reads in English: "with the sword she seeks calm peace under liberty."

RATIFICATION HOLIDAY.

CINCINNATI, June 23.—A general holiday for the day when William Howard Taft will be formally notified of his nomination as republican candidate for the presidency is planned by the local organizations, the celebration to be entirely non-partisan.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

The theatrical season at the Lakeview theatre was opened last night and the presentation was the comedy drama "The College Girl." The play has to do with a young man who has to do with a girl who is a student at a college, and Billy Bullock, the coach of the football team at the Gardner Educational college. The piece presents features and adventures of present, every-day college life, and all in all, is very entertaining.

"The College Girl" will be given twice during the remainder of the week.

PRINCE OLAF.

Little Prince Olaf, the heir to the throne of Norway, is most popular with the mass of his subjects, and bids fair to make a fitting successor to his royal father. The little chap is as sturdy as any of the peasants who will be five years of age in a short time. He was christened Alexander, but the Norwegians demand that he be known officially as Prince Olaf, after a celebrated ruler of Norway centuries ago, and their wishes have been followed by King Haakon, a democratic and politic ruler.

MAYOR FARNHAM

Ludicrous Example of System Exposed

The committee on ordinance and legislation met at the city hall last night and one of the members, Councilman Fred Welch, accused Mayor Farnham of "ducking" in the matter of appointing a successor to Engineer Salmon.

Mayor Farnham's recommendation that the membership of the board of fire engineers be reduced from four to three was turned down by the committee. Mayor Farnham says that the recommendation came originally from Fire Chief Hosmer.

Among other things the committee discussed the question of pensions for firemen and the committee members said they would like to get a belt at an ordinance which advances an engineer's pay from $100 which he receives while in active service to $150 when he's on the pension role.

Chief Hosmer informed the committee that the city had grown so large that permanent assistants rather than call assistants should be appointed. He was not prepared to say, however, that there should be three permanent assistants at the present time, but he was not in favor of filling the vacancy now existing, for the reason that such action would have a tendency to check his plans for permanent assistant engineers.

Relative to districting Chief Hosmer said that the members were given so much territory to cover. At the present time the first assistant, who is a permanent man, receives $1500 a year.

Alderman Wilder moved that the membership be reduced from four to three. It was stated that of the four assistant engineers, one has been a permanent man.

Councilman Welch moved that the present ordinance be not changed.

The question of a pension for the assistant engineers was discussed and the committee to a man declared that the ordinance which provides half of the first permanent assistant's pay for an assistant call engineer upon his retirement, should be changed.

Councilman Welch said the ordinance should not be changed.

"Mayor Farnham is ducking on this thing," said Councilman Welch. "He's made so many promises that he can't fulfill them and now we ought to make him show his hand."

Councilman Dexter finally seconded the motion made by Councilman Welch which was put and carried, unanimously.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The members of the Betsy Ross Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., held an enjoyable social and supper last night at the residence of Sister Clark in Powell street. The company was entertained with readings by Sisters Clark, Washburn and Baldwin and recitations by Sister Clark's granddaughter, Gladys Collamore. There were remarks by other sisters of the circle. A rising vote of thanks was extended Sister Clark for the pleasant evening.

COURT MIDDLESEX, F. OF A.

The regular meeting of Court Middlesex, Foresters of America, was held last night, there being a large attendance. During the meeting considerable business of importance was transacted. The feature of the evening was the election of officers for the ensuing year, the new officers being as follows: Chief ranger, John H. Condon; sub chief ranger, Charles J. Martin; recording secretary, James H. Hickey; senior woodward, Terrence Quinn; junior woodward, Gustave A. Anderson; senior beadle, Thomas F. Quinn; junior beadle, Francis Donovan; lecturer, John W. Downing. The installation will take place at the next meeting and refreshments will be served. Three propositions were received and four candidates invited by the ways and means committee, J. H. Condon, chairman, on how to further the court's prosperity; also by visiting brothers on the order in general.

DIED OF INJURY

Case Involves Charge of Manslaughter

James Stavaropolous, the young man who, while riding a bicycle in Suffolk street Sunday night, collided with a wagon driven by Mathias Vasilzou, died last night at the Lowell hospital. He was suffering from a puncture of the tissues of the right lung and his death was momentarily expected from the time he reached the hospital until he passed away.

As a result of the young man's death, Mathias Vasilzou, owner and driver of the horse which collided with Stavaropolous, who was arrested Sunday night and booked for reckless driving and assault, will now face a charge of manslaughter. Vasilzou has been remanded to jail without bail.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Paul Harvey Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shaw, and Miss Ruth Kilburn Pease, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Pease, were united in marriage last night at the home of the bride's parents, 31 Warwick street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, of the Eliot church, and Rev. Harrison A. Greene, D. D., of the Grace Universalist church. The bride was Miss Grace T. Childs of Ronsville, Mass., the bride's cousin, and the groom's brother, Mr. Warren W. Shaw, was bestman. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white mousseline silk and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses, while the bride-maid wore light blue crepe de chine and carried white marguerites. It was distinguished by a daisy wedding, the walls and ceilings of the house being decorated with white daisies, while large tubs of them ornamented the floor.

There was a most beautiful display of presents, including a large solid silver service, the gift of the Union National bank. Only the near relatives of the two families and a few intimate friends were present. After a summer honeymoon tour of the New England points of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will be at home at 94 Canton street, this city, after September 1.

FULLER-ETHRIDGE.

Mr. Ethridge E. Fuller and Miss S. May Ethridge were united in marriage Saturday evening at 1524 Gorham street by Rev. George E. Tomkinson in the presence of friends and relatives from this city and out of town. Miss Phoebe Ingraham, a cousin of the bride, acted as maid of honor, and Harry G. Lawson was bestman. Little Beatrice Robinson of Melrose was flower girl and Josephine Dows played the wedding march. The bride, becomingly attired in white silk and veil, and carrying a bouquet of white carnations, was given away by her twin brother, George Ethridge, of Ipswich, N. H. After the ceremony an informal reception was held and light refreshments were served. Many valuable presents were received.

The bridal couple, accompanied by friends, left amid showers of rice and confetti for Waltham, where they will reside. The touring car was gaily decorated with white streamers and placards.

KELLEY-McPHERSON.

Mr. A. G. Kelley and Miss Jane McPherson were married at Brookline, Wednesday, June 17. William Kelley was best man and Miss Jennie McDonald was bride-maid. Mr. Kelley is well known in Tewksbury, being an attaché at the state hospital. After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Kelley will live in East Tewksbury.

CARTER-MILLIGAN.

A very pleasant home wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Milligan, Wilmington, on the 18th inst., when their daughter, Emma Mabel, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry D. Carter of Lynn. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. T. Martin of Wilmington, assisted by the Rev. John G. Benson of Topsfield, the double ring service being used under an arch of June roses, evergreens and daisies. Behind the wedding party were banks of trees of spruce and potted plants. The open fireplace, mantel and windows were decorated with roses and trailing vines of evergreen. The bride was charming in her going away gown of mode with waist of white point d'esprit and carried pink roses for the bridal bouquet. The maid of honor was Miss Anna Quinn, dressed in pale pink. Mr. Carter being attended by Mr. Edward Adams of Lynn. A

FOUND IN A HOTEL IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 23.—With a towel knotted securely around his neck and tied behind him, a man, who had registered at the Hotel Empire Sunday night as Jacob Prozzello, was found dead in his hotel room yesterday. Declaring his belief that the man had been murdered, Coroner Harburger has obtained an autopsy. Evidence supplied by the dead man's effects indicates that he had come to this city recently from Philadelphia.

JUDGE GRAY

WILL NOT ACCEPT NOMINATION FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 22.—Federal Judge George Gray would not under any condition accept the democratic nomination for vice president. A definite announcement to this effect was made last night by former Congressman L. Irving Handy, who will make the speech at Denver, placing the judge in nomination for the vice presidency.

LAND CONSPIRACY

WASHINGTON, June 22.—In the land conspiracy case the jury yesterday afternoon returned the following verdict: Guilty, Hyde and Schneider; not guilty, Benson and Diamond.

SEVEN OVERCOME.

CHICAGO, June 23.—Seven prostrations had been reached up to noon yesterday owing to the heat which prevailed with but slight diminution and was responsible for two deaths. The mercury at noon had climbed to degrees which was the high point reached yesterday.

CRICKET NOTES

The annual interstate game between Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be held this year at Providence on the usual day, July 4. The executive committee of the state league held a meeting in Boston on Monday and decided upon the team to represent Massachusetts. Capt. David Hill of the Mohawks was chosen to captain the team while John Bessley was chosen as wicket keeper. William Graft of the Zions would have been given a place but could not accept as he will be out of the state on his vacation.

BRYAN'S REQUEST

NOMINATION TO BE SECONDED BY GOVERNOR SWANSON.

RICHMOND, Va., June 22.—Governor Swanson of Virginia has been invited by Wm. J. Bryan to second his nomination for president at the Denver convention. The invitation came by mail yesterday and Governor Swanson at once made reply, saying that he would be very happy to perform that service for his former congressional colleague. Mr. Swanson is a delegate at large.

DRACUT

At the Collinsville Union mission on Sunday last, "children's day" was observed. The church was appropriately decorated with ferns, flowers and the dotted geraniums which were given to the children. Closing Exercises of Howe School

PLEASANT REUNION OF GRADUATES

The Affair Wound up
With Sociable

In the town hall, Billerica Centre, yesterday afternoon, before a capacity attendance the graduating exercises of the Howe school, class of 1908 took place. Those graduated were Minnie Seton Dyson, Marion Gertrude Gleason, Harriet Elizabeth Baker, Eleanor Harriet Blaikie, Anna Jaquith, Alice Gertrude Jones, Helen King, Ellen Elizabeth Schult, Lucy Schwartz, four years and Mary Barrington, Evelyn Irene Higgins and Arthur Clarendon Wright, three years.

After a selection by the orchestra and the opening prayer by Rev. T. E. Rogers of the class of 1907, the first number, "The Genesis of the World" was given by Miss Minnie Seton Dyson. The class essay, "Nature's Musician," a clever composition, was delivered by Miss Alice Gertrude Jones, and the prophecy by Miss Eleanor Harriet Blaikie, while second honor "Calus Julius Caesar" was given by Miss Marion Gertrude Gleason. Frederick S. Clark conferred the diplomas and J. Nelson Parker spoke for the trustees of the school.

The address of the day was delivered by Rev. Charles E. Park of Boston. Following the exercises the 12th annual reunion of the Howe School Association was held in the banquet hall where a fine dinner was served at 6 o'clock. Prayer was given by Rev. Harry Lutz after which President Charles H. Kohlrausch welcomed the graduating class as members of the association. Reports were heard from the treasurer, E. S. Bull and the acting secretary, Albert H. Richardson. The election of officers resulted in the following being named: President John A. Richardson; vice presidents, J. Frank

Anty Drudge Enjoys Nature.

Mrs. Hardwork—"My, but it is awful to stay indoors and bend over a steamy washtub this beautiful weather."

Anty Drudge—"You are foolish to do it Mrs. Hardwork. Fels-Naptha is doing my washing while I am going out to sit under the trees. If you would try washing the Fels-Naptha way you would have plenty of time to enjoy Nature on wash-days as well as other days."

Summer washing means a day's discomfort every week—unless you use Fels-Naptha soap.

A hot fire on a summer's day is heart-breaking; every woman knows it. If you wash with Fels-Naptha you don't need a hot fire. Boiling is unnecessary.

Fels-Naptha will clean the clothes better and quicker in cold or lukewarm water than any other means. That is why Fels-Naptha is not only a soap, but a different way of washing.

No boiling. No hard-rubbing on a washboard to heat you up. No time wasted. Makes your white clothes whiter and sweeter than you can get them in any other way. Wet the things, soap freely with Fels-Naptha, let them soak for thirty minutes; then rub lightly, rinse and hang out to dry.

Sounds easy, doesn't it? And it is easy. If you have tried it, you know. If you haven't, try it next washday. But be sure and use Fels-Naptha the Fels-Naptha way. Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

EDSON SCHOOL

BOYS PRESENTED TROPHIES OF
BALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Nine members of the Edson school baseball team, the winners of the championship of the grammar school league, were presented loving cups at the Young Men's Christian association last night for excellence at the national sport. The names of the members of the team are as follows: James McGovern, John Roane, Frank Roane, Wm. O'Connell, Leger Pantom, Thomas Breene, Wm. Curtis, James Gallagher, and Andrew Donohue. They have a record of not one defeat, although very close games were played with the Butler, Highland and Varnum teams.

The cups were presented by Mr. H. H. Harris of the Varnum school. In his address to the boys he emphasized the contrast between the games of the English speaking boys and those of other nations, and that it was through that physical training that the English speaking people have been able to advance to the position of the leaders of the world. The greatest need was of being clean, of clean sport, clean speech, and no smoking, and it was sure to develop a boy into a cleaner man inside and outside.

In closing Mr. Harris said that the boys had deserved their cups because they had striven for excellence with all their might, and had succeeded by playing the best baseball. Ice cream and cake were served to all present.

FOR HARVARD

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS HELD
AT HIGH SCHOOL.

In the Lowell high school yesterday was held the Harvard university entrance examinations. Mr. Henry H. Harris, principal of the Varnum school, acted as proctor. The final candidates are Edgar F. Fay of Lowell, John A. Spaulding of Tewksbury, and John S. Hutchinson of the New Haven, Connecticut high school, all of whom are trying for entrance with advanced standing. Eugene S. preliminary examinations. Eugene S. Hyland, Jr., Samuel K. Gibson, Edwin Stuart Giles, Joseph M. Donoghue, George F. Seede, Edward J. McVey and Clifford A. Wells, all of Lowell, and Franklin F. Spaulding of Tewksbury, and George Van Dyke Trull of this city.

UNIQUE.

If the request of the Lowell Automobile Association that certain roadways in Lowell and Tyngsboro be set apart for the Labor day races be granted the Butler Ames trophy will be given to the winner of the 33-mile automobile race.

The drawing for the trophy, which is a silver, will be 10 inches high, surmounted by an American eagle, and will have upon it the seal of the city of Lowell and a plaque with room for an inscription with the name of the winner. The inscription will be: "33-mile road race over Merrimack valley course for Butler Ames trophy."

CHELMSFORD

The town hall, Chelmsford Centre, was last night, the scene of an unusually large assembly, on the occasion of the graduating exercises of the Chelmsford high school, class of 1908. The hall was prettily decorated in its interior. The class motto, "Nihil Sine Labore," in letters of gold occupied a conspicuous position over the arch of the stage platform.

The program was as follows: Selection, Chelmsford orchestra; invocation, Rev. Wilson Waters, salutatory essay, "Girls of the Past and Present," Ethel P. Parker; songs, "The Rosary," (Nevin) "Dry Ye Eyes," (Landsberg) school chorus; essay, "Success," Ruth Adams; selection, Chelmsford orchestra; essay, "Little Things," Ellen A. Cudworth; musical selection, "Doris," Viola M. Marion Adams; cello, Ruth Adams; violin, Della B. Baker; piano, Bernice M. Knowlton; essay, "Glimpses of Norway," A. Augusta Paasche; song, "Nursery Rhyme Suite," (Custance) school chorus; valedictory essay, "Toward the Setting Sun," Mark W. Reed; presentation of diplomas, Supt. P. L. Kendall; benediction, Rev. L. L. Greene; selection, Chelmsford orchestra.

The graduating class was as follows:

Three years' course: Ruth Elizabeth Adams; Harlan Richardson; Brown, Fred Edmund Card, Ellen Leche Cudworth, Guy Gardner Files, Bernice May Knowlton.

The class officers were: Raymond W. Dutton, president; Catherine E. Dunn, secretary; Ethel P. Parker, treasurer.

The ushers for the evening were: Ralph P. Adams, Alvin H. Fletcher, Homer W. Sweetser, Charles Perham, Roy Kiltredge.

CEMETERY TRUSTEES MET.

The trustees of the Lowell Cemetery association met yesterday afternoon and voted to place upon the records a formal vote to the effect that the association hopes that the president of the association, Major Charles A. Stott, who is at present at his country home, Rye, may have a speedy recovery from his illness.

THE GREAT FLEET

Assembling for Start
Around the World

FROM SAN FRAN-CISCO JULY 7

Fleets to Celebrate

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—Assembling of the Atlantic fleet of 16 warships and six auxiliaries in this harbor for the start on July 7, on the voyage around the world from San Francisco to Hampton roads already has begun. Seven of the battleships, including the flagship of Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, the Connecticut, are here, and all of the auxiliaries are in this vicinity. Besides the Connecticut, the battleships in the harbor are the Louisiana, Ohio, Minnesota, Kansas, Vermont and Georgia. The West Virginia is at Mare Island. The West Virginia already being taken aboard the supply ship Culgoa and the refrigerator ship Relief, and the despatch boat Yorktown, are being put in readiness for the long voyage.

By July at the latest, all of the warships of the Atlantic fleet will be in this port, and the ships of the Pacific fleet also will be assembled here before that date, to remain until after the departure of the Atlantic fleet. The Virginia, which is now at Bremerton navy yard, will arrive here the latter part of the month. The Nebraska, New Jersey and Rhode Island are now at Bremerton and will arrive here together, June 30. The Wisconsin, now on Puget Sound, is due the 25th, the Illinois the 24th, the Kearsarge the 24th and the Kentucky July 2. Either at Bremerton or the dry docks at Mare Island or Hunter's Point, the battleships have been hauled out and cleaned or have yet to undergo that operation.

July 4 the combined fleets of the Atlantic and Pacific will take part in the celebration here, and three days later the battleships of the Atlantic fleet will depart for Honolulu, where they are scheduled to arrive July 14. The auxiliaries will have preceded them by one week and will have unloaded supplies for the fleet and steamers away from Honolulu before the battleships arrive.

The entire Pacific fleet under command of Admiral Swinhurn, who will succeed Admiral Dayton soon, will depart August 5 for a cruise to Samoa and the Philippines. The cruisers will take in tow on the cruise the little battle vessels comprising the Atlantic and Pacific torpedo flotillas. Previous to the start, the torpedo craft will be taken in tow by the cruisers on a trip down the coast as far as San Diego, and possibly to Magdalena bay as an experiment.

At Honolulu plans for the entertainment of the officers and men of the American fleet are assuming definite shape. One of the features of the program will be an old-fashioned Hawaiian luau. This is a ceremonial banquet of gifts. These may be of various kinds, but in the present instance it will be gifts of fruits. From all over the islands, fruits of every sort which grow there and are ripe at this season of the year will be sent to Honolulu while the fleet is there. Very great interest is being taken in this part of the plans by the native Hawaiians all over the islands.

OF THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR AT
PAIGE STREET CHURCH.

The Christian Endeavor Union of Lowell and vicinity held a meeting last night in the auditorium of the Paige Street Free Baptist church. After a bountiful supper in the vestry, provided by the entertainment committee, President F. J. Spooner called a fair-sized gathering to order at about 8 o'clock. Important business was transacted, including the incorporation into the union of the International Junior Society of the First Trinitarian church. The union voted to hold an open house in July, on the lawn at the Chelmsford Congregational church, with the Christian Endeavor Society there. The roll call consisted of 27 different societies from the vicinity of Lowell. Rev. N. W. Matthews conducted a short devotional service, which was followed by an address by Rev. Elijah Humphries, D. D., of Fall River, the speaker of the evening. His subject, "The Christian Endeavor River," was very helpful as well as eloquent.

The meeting was in the hands of the following officers: President, F. J. Spooner; of the Highland Congregational church; vice president, Rev. N. W. Matthews of the First Primitive Methodist church; secretary, Miss Ella M. Penn, of the Chelmsford Street Free Baptist church; treasurer, W. A. Chase of the Paige Street Free Baptist church; auditor, Albert W. McQuesten of the Worthen Street Baptist church; junior superintendent, Mrs. J. M. Craig; junior secretary, Miss Anna Wylie, both of the First Presbyterian church; and Rev. A. E. Kenyon of the Robinson St. F. B. church, counselor.

IN CASES AGAINST CENTRAL LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY.

PORTLAND, Me., June 23.—After a preliminary hearing before Judge Bird of the supreme court of Maine, yesterday, the hearing on the motion of counsel for the officers of the Central Life and Security company, to vacate the preliminary decree against that company and was not forward to July 7. Judge Bird allowed the decree to be amended so as to modify the powers of the temporary receiver.

The company was organized under the laws of Maine, with an authorized capital of $2,500,000, and has long been doing business in Illinois with an office in Chicago. In the bill for a receiver filed against last Tuesday, charges of fraud were made against the officers of the company and an accounting was asked for.

The following day, Judge Kohlstedt of the Illinois supreme court for the northern district of Illinois, appointed John C. Fisher of Chicago, as temporary receiver, and Judge Bird also appointed William F. Norrie of this city.

RAILROAD SUIT

Has Bearing on Corporation Holdings

WILL TEST LEGALITY OF MERGER

And Double Holdings
of New Haven Road

NEW HAVEN, June 23.—A suit has been brought by a number of security holders by which Mackey & Co. of New York, which firm has been handling the securities of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company, seeks of the supreme court of errors of Connecticut an affirmative decision sustaining the action of the New Haven company in issuing securities of the company and securities of the subsidiary companies issued under special authority of the general assembly of Connecticut, but without first obtaining permission of the legislature of Massachusetts.

This suit is brought, it is understood, because of attacks made upon the securities of the New Haven company during discussion of the various bills bearing upon the proposed merger of the New Haven company with the Boston & Maine system.

Frank T. Brown of Norwich, who is of counsel retained by the security holders interested, says he expects to argue the case before the supreme court in October. He further says that the suit is one of the most important, if not the most important, that has ever come before the courts of this state, as it affects many millions of securities in value.

Inquiry in railroad circles here goes to show that the suit is not only of very considerable importance as bearing upon the subsidiary issues of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company, but also is of much importance in connection with the status of the corporation as the holder of double charges in this state and in Massachusetts. It seems highly probable also that this suit, depending upon the final decision of the Connecticut supreme court, will be of great significance as raising clearly an interstate issue between Massachusetts and Connecticut. This would bring up a federal question and result, presumably in a final appeal of the case to the United States supreme court.

JUDGE HOUGH

CONFIRMS FINES AGAINST STEAM-
SHIP COMPANIES.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Deciding that under the immigration law the secretary of commerce and labor has the right to impose fines upon steamship companies bringing to this country aliens afflicted with a dangerous disease, whose unhealthy state was apparent at the place of embarkment, Judge Hough of the U. S. district court yesterday filed a decision dismissing the test suits brought by two steamship companies to recover fines imposed under this clause in the law and paid under protest by the companies. The suits were those of the International Mercantile Marine company, and the Ocean Steam Navigation company limited, against Nevada N. Stranahan, collector of the port of New York. The companies claimed that judicial powers were conferred by this act upon the secretary of commerce and labor—powers which under his appointment he does not possess. Judge Hough's decision is that the imposition of the fines was an administrative and not a judicial act.

As the sum involved in fines collected is more than $200,000, the matter will be carried on appeal to the United States supreme court.

PELHAM

Children's day exercises will be held at the church next Sunday, June 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Marsh are now at home for the summer.

TEDDY, JR. GOES TO WORK.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., it is understood, will have his first experience of actual work this summer as distinguished from the labor involved in study, and will get that experience as an employee of the United States Steel Corporation.

$500,000 FIRE LOSS

AT PORT CHESTER, N. Y. LATE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., June 23.—Deyling the efforts of firemen from this and several nearby towns, a fire, raging uncontrolled for two hours last yesterday before it was checked, destroyed a block of buildings, occupied chiefly by business firms, rendered forty families homeless and entailed a loss of $500,000.

The fire broke out in the large building of the Burns livery stables, occupied in part by the Bordens Conserved Milk company, and was soon beyond the control of the firemen. The sparks communicated with adjoining buildings and was asked from Rye, Harrison, East Port, Chester and Greenwich fire departments. The entire block by West Chester avenue and Broad street and Factory place, was burned to the ground and buildings on both sides of Irving avenue were destroyed. The Baptist church, half a mile away from the fire, was not ablaze by sparks and was partially burned.

This is by far the largest net average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE-THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

NEED OF A SWIMMING POND

NOW THAT THE HOT WEATHER IS WITH US WE MAY EXPECT A NUMBER OF DROWNING ACCIDENTS AS A RESULT OF BOYS AND MEN TAKING DANGEROUS CHANCES WHILE BATHING. THERE IS SCARCELY ANOTHER INLAND CITY IN THE UNITED STATES WITH SUCH SPLENDID RIVERS MEETING, WE MIGHT SAY, AT ITS VERY CENTRE, THAT HAS SO FEW OPPORTUNITIES FOR BOYS TO LEARN TO SWIM WITHOUT UNDERGOING THE RISK OF DROWNING.

THE CONCORD AND MERRIMACK RIVERS MEET WITHIN A MINUTE'S WALK OF MERRIMACK SQUARE, THE BUSINESS CENTRE OF THE CITY, AND YET THERE IS NOT ANYWHERE ALONG THEIR BANKS WITHIN A MILE OF MERRIMACK SQUARE A PLACE SUITABLE FOR BATHING PURPOSES.

WE HAVE ARTIFICIAL PONDS IN TWO OF OUR PARKS, BUT THESE ARE MERELY ORNAMENTAL AND NOWHERE IS THERE ANY ATTEMPT MADE TO PROVIDE A PLACE WHERE BOYS CAN BATHE OR LEARN TO SWIM WITHOUT RISK OF DROWNING OR CONTRACTING DISEASE FROM THE POISONED WATERS.

IT WOULD REQUIRE BUT A SMALL EXPENDITURE TO PROVIDE A SWIMMING POND TO BE MAINTAINED ONLY DURING THE HOT WEATHER. THE ABILITY TO SWIM IS SOMETHING OF VERY GREAT IMPORTANCE. WHILE A PERSON WHO IS ABLE TO SWIM MAY BE OVERCOME IN THE WATER BY CRAMPS OR CHILLS, YET SUCH OCCURRENCES ARE RARE. THE PERSON WHO CAN SWIM, ESPECIALLY IF ACCOMPANIED BY OTHERS IN THE WATER, IS USUALLY IN LITTLE DANGER OF DROWNING. EVERY SUMMER OUR CITY HAS HALF A DOZEN DROWNINGS AS A RESULT OF BOYS BATHING IN CANALS AND AT VARIOUS POINTS IN THE RIVERS, STEALING A MARCH, AS IT WERE, ON THE POLICE, AS BATHING IN SUCH PLACES UNDER PUBLIC VIEW IS FORBIDDEN.

TO PEOPLE OF PHILANTHROPIC TENDENCIES IT MUST APPEAR WORTH WHILE TO PROVIDE FOR A CITY LIKE LOWELL, SOME PLACE IN WHICH BOYS AND EVEN GIRLS CAN LEARN TO SWIM WITHOUT DANGER OF DROWNING. NO PUBLIC BENEFACITOR COULD USE HIS MONEY FOR A BETTER PURPOSE THAN TO PROVIDE A SWIMMING POND OR PUBLIC BATH HOUSE FOR LOWELL THAT IN ALL PROBABILITY WOULD SAVE SIX LIVES EVERY SUMMER.

TO CONSTRUCT AN ARTIFICIAL SWIMMING POND WOULD BE COMPARATIVELY EASY AND INEXPENSIVE. IT COULD BE MADE OF CEMENT IN BOTTOM AND SIDES AND THE CITY WOULD SUPPLY THE WATER. THIS COULD BE TAKEN EITHER FROM ONE OF THE CANALS OR FROM THE CITY MAINS. THE POND AFTER BEING FILLED COULD BE KEPT SUFFICIENTLY CLEAN BY KEEPING A GOOD STREAM ENTERING AND ANOTHER PASSING OUT CONTINUOUSLY WHILE IN USE. A DEPTH VARYING FROM 3 TO 5 FEET WOULD BE SUFFICIENT AND THE SHAPE MOST DESIRABLE WOULD RESEMBLE A STRAIGHT SECTION OF ONE OF THE CANALS.

IT IS REALLY PITIFUL TO SEE BOYS BATHING IN THE CONCORD RIVER, BACK OF THE TANNERY ON PERRY STREET, WHERE THE WATER IS ACTUALLY THICK AND BLACK WITH FILTH. IF THE LADS DID NOT GO SWIMMING THERE THEY WOULD, PERHAPS, HAVE SELECTED THE WAMESIT CANAL, WHICH ON ACCOUNT OF THE DEPTH, THE WALLED SIDES AND THE SWIFT CURRENT WHEN ANY OF THE MILLS ARE WORKING IS EXTREMELY DANGEROUS.

GOOD FOR PRESIDENT ELIOT

IT SPEAKS WELL FOR THE DISCIPLINE OF HARVARD UNIVERSITY THAT NOT EVEN THE APPEALS OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IN BEHALF OF OARSMEN FISH AND MORGAN HAVE MOVED PRESIDENT ELIOT TO RESTORE THEM TO THE CREW FROM WHICH THEY WERE REMOVED FOR WHAT IS TERMED DISHONORABLE CONDUCT.

THE INTERFERENCE OF THE PRESIDENT HAS ONLY GIVEN THE MISBEHAVIOR OF THE TWO MEN GREATER PUBLICITY. IT IS A PITY THAT SOME PEOPLE ARE ALWAYS MEDDLING WITH OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS.

IT WOULD CERTAINLY ESTABLISH A BAD PRECEDENT IF PRESIDENT ELIOT WOULD RELAX THE DISCIPLINE OF HIS UNIVERSITY AN iota BECAUSE OF INFLUENCE FROM HIGH SOURCES. EVERYBODY WILL SAY THAT PRESIDENT ELIOT'S DECISION IS RIGHT.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Will you have Ayer's hair restorer?" asked the barber of the fellow with the stringy hair.

"Hood's sarsaparilla for mine," said the fellow in the chair.

Ex-Alderman Dodge has made one convert to the "Barnyard Club." Inet Judge Fisher in Prescott street yesterday and he was minus his chapeau.

In the editorial room the boss says to the bulletin or the messenger boy "will thou," and to the reporter, "go doest."

An Englishman who had undertaken to represent a London firm in New York gave one of his business cards to a stranger in town.

"Thank you," said the stranger. "Now will you kindly tell me how to get down to your office?"

The Englishman pointed to the back of the card.

"There is a map of the immediate neighborhood," he said. "It shows how to reach my street from Broadway."

"Where-ew-cw," whistled the stranger. "Isn't that a new wrinkle?"

"It may be here," said the Londoner, "but cards of that kind are by no means rare at home."

"Well," the stranger admitted, "there are a few things we Americans can learn from you Britishers, after all."

"A couple of wild ducks in Central Park was a sight that startled me the other day," said a former westerner, now a resident of this city, yesterday.

"The soft whistle of wings overhead was a sound I had not heard since my boyhood duck shooting days in the Missouri river bottoms, and looking up I saw a pair of ducks flying just over a treetop. They looked like wildgeese, and I presume were a couple of strays that had wandered from the beaten paths of wild ducks and found a temporary haven on one of the park lakes. The last I saw of them they were circling over the Museum of Natural History."

"It is curious," remarked the grocer on the corner, "that there is no fruit in this world which people are such poor judges of as canteloupes, and what is more curious is that they do their best to spoil them after they buy them. The first thing a woman does with a canteloupe is to stick it into the ice box. Now canteloupes, like most of our fruit, are picked a trifle green, and when they come from the grocer's they should be put out in the sun for a while, turning them over every few hours, and then putting them into the ice box at night."

They were two sewer men and they were working in Prescott street. The quiet of a moment was broken by the penetrating shrieks of a woman.

"Be gorrah he's licking her," said one.

"Licking who?" said the other.

"Don't you hear that terrible shriek? Some drunken husband is flogging the life out of his poor wife."

Another shriek, louder than before, rent the air and fairly raised the roof of the sewer building.

"Is there no officer around at all, at all?" said the sewer man who first spoke.

"D— the one you can find when there's trouble around," said the other.

Another shriek, louder than the first, with a broken heart or a punctured tire shook the currents on the wires and bored a hole at the feet of the sympathetic sewer men.

"I'll see to that myself," said one of them. "I'll not have it said that a woman was killed while I was in hearing of her cries for help."

"That's the way to talk and I'm with you," said the other fellow and up in—

Worth Knowing

To remove Pimples, Blackheads, Blotches and all forms of skin eruptions, is, according to a well known physician, a very easy matter; he says that many are afflicted with some one of the above ailments, and are subject to a great deal of embarrassment on account of the unsightly appearance which they present, and recommends the following simple harmless and inexpensive treatment. Go to your druggist and get this prescription filled: Clearola one-half ounce. Ether one ounce. Alcohol seven ounces. Mix, shake well and apply to the parts affected night and morning, allowing it to remain for at least ten minutes. Then wipe off the powder from the skin. Use a soft tooth or sponge in applying the mixture and in from ten days to two weeks your face will be smooth and clear as a marriage bell. Get the Pure Clearola, which is only put up in one-half ounce packages. Ask to see it.

to the Swan building they went, three steps at a time. They didn't have any use for an elevator and if they thought of it at all they allowed they could beat it to the top floor.

The yelling continued and was still in session when the sewer men, breathless as well as hatless arrived at the scene of the supposed tragedy. It was simply a case of voice culture. The lady was taking a singing lesson.

We would like to tell you what those two sewer men said, but we don't dare to.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Fru Hennings, who has just retired from the royal theatre at Copenhagen, after a service there of 35 years, is accepted as without question the foremost Danish actress of her day. In recent years she has given herself mainly to the plays of Ibsen, notably "A Doll's House," "The Wild Duck," and "Ghosts."

A Mrs. Maynard of Morsham, Eng., had seven sons and seven daughters, and they married seven sons and daughters of a man named King.

The last ship which headed for the coast of Alaska carried a shipment of 100 Leghorn chickens for a man at Fairbanks. He is going to sell them to people who want to start chicken coops of their own and pay less than 25 cents apiece for eggs.

M. Armand of Paris has offered a prize of $100 for the first aeroplane which remains in the air for 30 minutes.

Mrs. Carleton G. Ferris of Detroit has given $20,000 toward the establishment in Indianapolis of a missionary training school by the Christian woman's board of missions of the Church of Christ. In addition to this donation $15,000 has been raised toward the proposed school. The board is also seeking to raise funds for a school among the mountain whites of Tennessee.

General Lord Grenfell, who was recently promoted to the rank of field marshal, received high praise at the hands of Miss Eunice Manderson, speaking to a peace society in England. "He has been a soldier for about 15 years," she said, "and his men have been fighting in many parts of the world. But let us remember to his credit that he published an order as general commanding the forces in Ireland against cigarette smoking by the troops."

Pennsylvania has a law enacted 22 years ago which requires road supervisors to erect and maintain guide boards at the intersection of public roads for the guidance of travelers. The law has never been repealed, but it has been sadly neglected in recent years. Judge Swartz of Montgomery county has resurrected the law and, assembling the constables of the county, has instructed them to see that the road supervisors put up the proper signs.

Following the wedding at Haverhill of Paul R. Dickson of Cambridge to Miss Vertie M. Moore of Haverhill, the newly married couple left for Caville, P. L., where Mr. Dickson ranks as "leading man" and is under contract with the United States government in the naval construction and repair department in that place. They will sail from San Francisco July 8 on an army transport.

Mr. Dickson, after his graduation from the Kings manual training school in 1886, took a special course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in naval architecture and marine engineering. Leaving Technology in 1902, he was employed in San Francisco in his profession and going to the Philippines he was appointed a member of the board of inspection of the navy. He resigned from that position in July, 1907.

A department of immigration has been instituted as one of the agencies of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, and Rev. Charles Stelzie has been placed in charge of it. Mr. Stelzie has been for several years at the head of the same board's department of church and labor, and he is known all over the country among workmen because of his many contributions to the pages of labor journals. He will continue in charge of the labor department, adding the immigration department to his present duties.

The plan of the department of immigration is to establish mission work among the immigrants in the many centres where they settle, and also to arouse the people of the churches to a realization of their obligations in this regard. This new bureau will emphasize, it is said, the patriotic as well as the religious aspects of work among the alien peoples and its office will constitute a clearing house for information, methods, suggestions and literature for other churches, and religious bodies which purpose to undertake this new form of home mission effort. The office of the bureau will be in New York, where is the headquarters of the Presbyterian Home Board.

The physician of Governor William V. O. Dawson of West Virginia has informed him that he has developed tuberculosis. He has left Charleston for Asheville, N. C., where he will spend several months.

Aunt Becky Young, said to be the first woman to offer her services as a nurse when the Civil war broke out, died recently at her home in Indiana on the fortieth anniversary of her marriage. She was a school teacher of 25 when the war began. Her services for her country began by making bandages and picking lint at night hours. After a few months she decided to go in the field as nurse for the sick and wounded. It was something new in this country, although Florence Nightingale had done it during the Crimean war in the middle '50s. Aunt Becky's friends did all in their power to discourage her, but without success. She went direct to General Grant, who accepted her services.

Miss Agnes McAllister, a Methodist missionary in Africa, died the other day in Paris, where she had gone in the hope of restoring her health. For a number of years Miss McAllister lived at Buffalo, N. Y., where she was the head of the Methodist missionary work, and also a Methodist deaconess. She began her foreign work twenty odd years ago and was widely known as one of the most devoted and best informed women among American missionaries. Throughout the world of Methodism she was known as a gifted speaker and devoted worker, having spoken in almost every state in the union and in every country where the English language is understood. She was one of the first women missionaries to enter the dark continent, and she was loyally supported by the members of her church throughout the world.

AN UNKNOWN MAN

Ground to Pieces Under a Train

BARRINGTON, R. I., June 22.—An unknown man, evidently from his clothing a fireman, was struck down and ground to pieces beneath an electric train on the Bristol branch of the New Haven railroad between Crescent park and West Barrington at about 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning. His legs were severed, his head battered in and he received multiple bruises about the body. The stricken man was treated by Dr. Russell Church, a passenger on the train, but died a few minutes later.

TAFT'S PROGRAM

AS ARRANGED FOR THE NEXT FEW DAYS.

NEW HAVEN, June 22.—The secretary met Mrs. Taft and their second son, Charles P. Taft in New York yesterday and they just caught the 11 o'clock train for this city at the Grand Central station. Robert A. Taft, Yale '10, the elder son, is already in town, having returned directly from the Chicago convention.

An informal dinner was tendered Secretary and Mrs. Taft last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Farnham at whose home they will remain until Thursday. Mr. Taft will tonight attend the banquet of the class of '73.

Mrs. Taft will be the guest of President and Mrs. Hadley this evening.

On Wednesday a formal dinner will be given Secretary and Mrs. Taft at the Farnham residence. The guests will include Dr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Hadley, Admiral and Mrs. Sheffield Cowles and others.

SPELL BINDERS

AND LITERARY PRODUCTIONS WILL WAGE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The republican campaign book will be out unusually early this year, probably six weeks sooner than it was issued four years ago. The book will follow quite closely along the lines of the last campaign book except that some new issues will be introduced and others that have ceased to be of interest will be dropped out. Considerable space will be devoted to the questions of injunctions. At the latest the committee is planning its work with the idea that this year more than ever before the campaign will be waged by means of literary productions through the press and by pamphlets and speeches and by the active work of spell binders.

AT AMHERST

CLASS REUNIONS AND SWIMMING EXHIBITION.

AMHERST, June 22.—Class reunions and a swimming exhibition followed by a ball game between Amherst and Williams in the afternoon made up yesterday's events in connection with commencement week at Amherst college. Carleton R. Blades, captain, and a team of twelve Amherst students exhibited their ability in the forms of swimming and diving in the Fox natatorium. At the close of the exhibition Ralph Smith of New London, Conn., one of the team, was awarded a certificate by his ability to swim a mile in less than 32 minutes and for his general efficiency in methods of rescuing drowning persons.

The classes of '83 and '88 had luncheon and the class of '92 defeated the class of '88 in a baseball game.

AMERICAN ICE CO.

GIVEN SHORT TIME TO MEET FIVE INDICTMENTS.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Counsel for the American Ice company yesterday were given until next Friday by Justice Goff, in the supreme court, to file an answer to the five indictments found against the company last week. The case will be tried next fall.

STOCK TRANSFER TAX.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 22.—State Controller Martin E. Glynn announced yesterday that he has begun an investigation to compel corporations to obey the law fixing the transfer of shares of capital stock. Mr. Glynn said the investigation already has disclosed that there has been a wholesale disregard of the law on the part of corporations with an attending loss of a large revenue to the state. There are about 700 such companies in this state which come under the provisions of the stock transfer tax act.

RECEIVERS APPOINTED.

PITTSBURGH, June 22.—F. H. Skellding, president of the First National bank, and H. W. McMahers, of the Wabash railroad, who were recently appointed receivers of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal railroad, were yesterday also appointed receivers for the West Side Belt railroad, by the United States circuit court. The receivers were appointed on petition of the Wabash Railroad company.

GREAT RECEPTION

To Sec. Taft at Yale Commencement

HE MEETS HIS OLD CLASSMATES

And Shows Interest in His Alma Mater

NE HAVEN, Conn., June 22.—Secretary of War William H. Taft returned to Yale, his alma mater, yesterday, to attend the reunion of his class, that of '73, and although his intentions were to join his classmates as Taft of '73, he found himself to be the chief guest of the commencement exercises, and scarcely had he entered the shadow of the university buildings, before he took up the duties of a member of the corporation. Very few opportunities came to him to claim the hands of the many '73 reunionists, who had gathered in the old Edwards mansion on Elm street, selected as class headquarters, for he was immediately escorted to Woodbridge hall for the corporation meeting, then into Commons to speak to the young men, who are about to be given their law school sheepskins, then to the law school and finally to the college hall, where the medical school exercises were held.

MET AT THE STATION.

Mr. Taft reached the city at 1 o'clock unaccompanied. Mrs. Taft and Master Charles Taft, having reached here on an earlier train and gone to the home on Prospect street of Mr. and Mrs. W. Farnham, whose guests they are to be until Thursday, Mr. Taft was met at the station by a delegation from his class, and after an exchange of greetings, he stepped into an automobile and was whisked away to the Edwards house where about 40 '73 men were ready to extend a welcoming hand.

After a short day, Secretary Taft went to Woodbridge hall, where the corporation was in session. He left this a little later and walked across the university campus to the side door of the Commons and passing in was met by a cheer from those who first got a glimpse of him.

NINE TAFTS AT MEMORIAL.

Mr. Whitney, the toastmaster, had risen to introduce Judge John Proctor Clark, when the entire alumni body rose and cheered Mr. Taft with nine "Tafts," which made Memorial echo and re-echo. Later on, Mr. Taft spoke to the young men, who, in caps and gowns, sat at a long table in front of him. The alumni then went to Hendrie hall, where the class day exercises were held. Secretary Taft returned to the corporation meeting, and at its conclusion donned the robes of a doctor of laws, and walked to the law school. As he passed into the auditorium, John W. Foster was making an address, but the audience rose and wildly cheered. At the close of these exercises, Secretary Taft, accompanied by President Hadley, and escorted by the faculty of the medical school, walked through College street to College hall, where he attended the exercises there. On the steps of Osborn hall were gathered groups of Yale men back for their reunions, most of them in fantastic garb, and they all lustily cheered Mr. Taft. The street was filled with young women in their summer gowns, who had been attending the exercises on the old campus, and the picture as the late afternoon sunlight filtered through the overh

The Lowell Opera House was the scene last night of the graduation exercises of the Lowell High School and every seat was taken. The relatives and friends of the seniors were gathered there to witness the farewell to the school by the graduates, and while the occasion was tinged with the sorrow of parting, the relegating of the pleasures and sweet companionships of four years, yet there was the inevitable future to be looked squarely in the face and the young men and women who have been honorably discharged from that very valuable seat of learning, the High School, are the possessors of a foundation sufficiently solid to build a future upon.

Last night's little army of graduates, 163 in all, presented a very striking picture, not the blue and the gray, but the black and the white. To the left of the stage were the young ladies in white, while the young men, in black, occupied space to the right. Then there was the ever beautiful folding and draping of the national colors and the presence of plants and flowers. The scene when the curtain went up was such as to inspire general applause. Surmounting the stage, and in beautiful color and gilt, was the class motto, "Perseverantia ad Fortuna Ducit."

The members of the committee on high school entered while the American orchestra was playing the opening overture. The committee members took seats at the front of the stage.

A VISION OF FAIR WOMEN.

"At last I thought that I had wandered far
In an old wood fresh-washed with cool
dew
And from within me a clear undertone Thrilled through mine ears in that un-
blissful clime,
Pass freely thro'; this wood is all thine
own
Until the end of time.

At length I saw a lady within call,
Still, then, as chiselled marble standing
there,
A daughter of the gods, divinely tall
And most divinely fair.

Tennyson's "Dream of Fair Women,"
Helen of Troy stood before me; following
her, one by one, Cleopatra, Joan D'Arc
and Rosamond, until Tennyson's dream
was broken, and the vision faded. How beautiful they were! Fit heroines for ancient story! But thought I, how different from the women we admire today. The fair women of today are fair in another sense—fair because they have used their great gifts to make the world better and
more beautiful.

If I could call to Tennyson's wood
some of these fair women, among them
would be Rosa Bonheur. She was not a figure with Helen's grace and beauty,
but a plain sturdy woman, dressed in a long black coat with black frogs, a

man's white collar and cuffs and a plain black skirt. She could be found not with princes and warriors, but working
hard in her studio, often out of doors in
the horse market and frequently in the farm yard, studying and painting the animals about her. Her genius has made
the world richer with her pictures, and her womanhood has been as noble as her genius is great.

Rosa Bonheur would not stand alone
—with her I would call Jenny Lind, whose glorious gift of song held millions enraptured. She would be counted among the fair women, not simply because of her talent, but as well for the courage, the self-reliance and the resolution with which she developed it, and most of all for the use she made of it.
When she was at the height of her fame,
honored and admired by the whole world,
she devoted the proceeds of her crowded
concerts to the needs of the poor.

Julia Ward Howe, who passed her 83rd birthday a few weeks ago is perhaps the most widely honored and loved of any woman in America. She has not sung like Jenny Lind did, but she has made the glory of the coming of the Lord, as heard through all the land, and wherever
it is heard, men's faith and patriotism
grow stronger. She has stood among the leaders in the work of anti-slavery and woman suffrage. But not only as author
and reformer is she honored; her social grace and brilliant wit command admiration. With her varied gifts and her perfectly rounded character, surely she counts for more than Helen, or Cleopatra,
or Iphigenia.

There should be remembered, too, the one who has made easier the lot of the wounded and dying, wherever battle or disease has brought calamity. All over the world the Red Cross is the symbol of mercy, and Clara Barton, who organized the Red Cross Society, is one of our fair women.

Francis Willard, too, should be there,
Clara Barton's equal in her power to organize and execute. As a public speaker she held hundreds of thousands
by her earnest enthusiasm and winning speech. She won the love and admiration of all with whom she came in contact, and then inspired in them the spirit of reform to help her in her work for temperance.

Nor ought we to forget the quiet woman of Chicago, who is bringing all her learning and all her influence to bear on the problem of the poor of our great cities; Jane Addams does this work, not only as author and lecturer, but as a superintendent of Hull House. Here she studies the problem, face to face with the people whom she wants to help. Nor is she alone. This same work is being carried on in hundreds of college settlements in our great cities.

Should I call all fair women, who would respond? There would be Dorothy Dix, rightly known and praised for her efforts
in behalf of the poor, the neglected, the ignorant and the insane. There would be Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke seminary, representing the spirit that has stood for the higher education of women. There would be Elizabeth Frye, Lu-
cretia Mott and Sister Dora. There would come women of every land, and of every condition, who, some in narrow spheres and some in broad ones, exemplify
the same spirit and love of humanity.
They may not look like the heroines of poetry, of tragedy or romance, but nevertheless they are the truly "fair women"
of today.

In the name of the class of 1908, I welcome all of you—friends and relatives who have gathered at our graduation exercises tonight. We thank you for the interest that has brought you here to speed us on our way, as we
leave the Lowell High School.

There was no mistaking the appreciation of Miss Murray's effort, and when she had finished there was great applause. Miss Murray was presented a beautiful bouquet.

Spence's "Hark! The Lily Bells Are Ringing," was beautifully given by a semi-chorus of young ladies, and it was followed by a selection by a quartet of
the American orchestra.

PROFESSOR FENN OF HARVARD.

The address of the evening was delivered by Prof. William Wallace Fenn of Harvard University. He said in part:
"There is education won by the discipline of life, as well as education won by the discipline of the school. Far be it from me, who am devoting my life to academic education to say a single word in disparagement of that which receives an academic education come out educated men. It is also true that many men and women who never had a college education become very
highly educated."

"Functionally, education means the development of the mind. Utility is
the measure and meaning of all things.
The mind has arisen in men so that man may adjust himself more surely to his environments. If the function of education is to develop the mind, it means that it enables him to meet wisely and well the changes of life.
Education ought to make the mental
powers more flexible and supple."

"I once heard a story of an army friend of mine, who told of a certain general in the Civil war who wished to throw a bridge across a stream. A petty officer was told to get his plans
and proceed. The next morning the petty officer came to him and told him,
that although the 'Pictures' had not arrived, the bridge was built." It often happens that while an academically
trained man is drawing his plans,

the man who has been trained in the school of life has built his bridge.

"In the case of an academically educated man, the response that his mind
makes to a new situation is apt to be less efficient than the response of one who has been fitted in the school
of life.

"Put your mind on your work, so that your work is well done. So, also,
the mind gets its training from the
work which is well done.

"There is one respect in which an academically educated man has an advantage. The function of the mind is to make a man find a prompt and appropriate response. An academically trained man is apt to make a more appropriate response, while the response of the other might be more prompt.

"If one would win a non-academic education, he should cultivate the habit of close and accurate observation, to learn to see with his mind if not with his eyes, that is, keeping his mind back of his eyes.

"Two centuries ago there was a man in Boston, who had enormous credulity. That man was Cotton Mather.
The secret of his mental activity was that when he was listening to an address of any kind, he used to write down at the close of each paragraph one sentence in his own words, thus keeping his mind alert. Everything that he heard he wrote down like a stenographer. That was the secret of Cotton Mather's power.

"Learn to see back of the eyes, cultivate the habit of inquiry, and ask for the meaning of things. There is a great deal said about the newspapers
of today. Many a man takes his paper in the morning, looks at the headlines, glances at the news, and throws
it aside saying that there is nothing in it. There is nothing in it because there is nothing in his mind. Every column in that newspaper has facts of the utmost importance of which he is totally ignorant.

"The question mark is the shepherd's crook by which men are led into the fields of knowledge. Find the answer to your questions in the daily course
of life.

"Hold your facts and ideas in their true proportion, and true balance.
There is nothing like reading literature of culture to give one this power.
The reader, the moral purpose, supreme in the novelist's mind will become regnant in his own mind.

"Adopt these principles, then. Put your mind into your work; get the habit of accurate observation; get the habit of inquiry, and through reading literature, gain a just valuation of facts.

"Here in this class of young men and women, I am told that not 25 percent. will go to college. I can very well believe that with all the happiness of this occasion there is also a feeling of grief, perhaps even a feeling of envy toward those who are to have those privileges which are denied them. My word tonight is that it is possible for any man or woman to become a non-academically educated man or woman. It would be strange if it were not so when our democracy rests
upon educated men and women, while history shows that many men and women have been educated who never went to college.

tian Sabbath, it is especially possible

The winners were: First prize, Miss
Lillian M. Smith; second prize, Al-
bertine Bernier.

The tenth number of the program
was a semi-chorus, which sang Mendelsohn's "Sleep, Gentle Babe," and immediately after followed the presentation of the Carney medals, and reading of the list of those pupils given honorable mention. The Carney medal scholars are as follows: Grover Franklin Fox, Herbert Barney Cady, Marshall Cotting Pratt, Ellenore Frances
Murray, Irene Eugenie Gauthier, and Alice Lucille Cluin. The honorable mention students, who received a rank
of 90 or more for the four years' course, are Maudie Anna Fowler, Maud E. Curtis, Mary E. Quirbach, Marion E. Mc-

Another semi-chorus followed the presentation of the Carney medals,
with an obligato by Miss Kathleen

Gray's "A Dream of Paradise."

THE VALEDICTORY.

The valedictory, entitled "Industrial Education," which follows, was by Grover Franklin Fox:

"Education is the root of all success," it has been said, and as years
go by, the nations, the world over, are recognizing, more and more, the fact that education not only for professionals and business life is essential for the prosperity of a country, but also, education for the various trades, or industrial education.

The objects of industrial training
are: First, to benefit the individual
who earns his livelihood by the work
of his hands, so that he may become a skilled workman, and receive a better compensation for his services.
People who come in contact with the column in that newspaper has facts of the utmost importance of which he is totally ignorant.

the man who has been trained in the school of life has built his bridge.

The apprentice of former days did not have the advantages for scholarly attainments, that the boy now has, yet
he often became an influential man.

Today there is a better opportunity for intellectual training, for the school
year has been gradually lengthened,
the age limit raised and attendance at school, up to a certain age, has become compulsory. Because of this, there should be some form of industrial training to take the place of the apprenticeship system, or where will the workmen for future years come from?

In respect to trade schools, the United States far behind all other nations. At the Centennial Exposition
at Philadelphia, in 1876, manufactured
articles from all parts of the world
were displayed. Of these, the exhibits
from France, which had been supporting trade schools for many years previous, ranked first. Germany learned her lesson from this and today her
trade schools are the best in the world.

England also was aroused to the fact
that if she wished to keep her industrial supremacy, she must also provide similar schools. Other nations followed her example, until now almost every European country maintains schools for training her workmen.

The American technical and textile schools are doing much in the industrial line. But these schools are not by any means within the reach of all,
for they are only for boys with a high school education or an equivalent.

Another important branch of industrial education is the agricultural training which is carried on in separate departments of many colleges and also
in some colleges, established and carried on expressly for that purpose.
But, like the technical and textile schools, a higher education than the grammar schools furnish, is required
for admission into the greater part of these colleges, and so they are not in the reach of those who leave school at 14 or 15 years of age. Therefore, there ought to be schools in which subjects are taught that prepare the student for these colleges, schools where the boys who leave school at 14 and 15 will find
so many attractions that they will be glad to attend.

It is estimated that there are no
fewer than 25,000 children in Massachusetts between 14 and 15 who are out of school, most of these because they do not find the work of the schools attractive. Many of these 25-000 would attend trade schools if they had the chance and knew that these schools would be beneficial to them, and the first two or three years after leaving school, would not be wasted
as they practically are, for employers
of the more desirable industries say that they do not want a boy under 16 or 18 years of age. Without this industrial training boys would be errand boys, elevator boys or work at some juvenile industry which requires so little the skill that it is of no real value in fitting them for a vocation, and at the age of 18 or 19, they are not fitted
for any trade requiring skill. So, if there is to be a system of industrial education, it must consider the youth of 14 as well as the youth of 18 and 20.

The large number of people who are
availing themselves of the opportunities afforded by the correspondence schools, the school of the General Electric Co. at Lynn, Mass., and the Mass.
Trade School for Girls, a number
which is estimated at 50,000 in Massachusetts alone, the large classes in the evening high schools and textile schools, these maintained by T. M. C. A. and those under private management, such as prove that wage-earners are desirous of bettering their education, and that they would be glad of an opportunity to attend a school that would make them more efficient workmen in a shorter time than it takes to learn a trade in the shops.

The combination of intellectual training with industrial education,
such as a well ordered trade school,
would not only elevate manual labor,
dignify industry and make more efficient workmen, but it would bring about a mutual appreciation between the professional and the working classes.

Graduates of the class of 1908, most of us are leaving the high school, some to go to higher institutions of learning, others to take up work in the industrial lines and others to enter business. But, though separated and following different pursuits, we shall always remember the Lowell
High School and strive to bring honor
and credit to her.

Although in time there will be industrial schools, they can never take the place of the high school. For the will always be needed to prepare the boys and girls who wish to go on to higher schools and colleges. Even if,
after going through the high school,
one should desire to take up the industrial training, the industrial training he receives in the high school will be a great benefit to him. Nevertheless, there must be some in educational lines, the high school will always stand for broad and liberal culture,
and we feel sure that our school to which we bid farewell tonight will always stand among the best.

"Send Out Thy Light" was sung by the whole class and then came the presentation of diplomas. Some of the hands of Mayor Frederick W. Parham, who made a brief and appropriate speech.

Upon receiving their diplomas, the class members sang the class ode, written by Miss Lillian Akers.

Presentation of diplomas,
His Honor, the Mayor, Frederick W.
Parham.

The class ode was as follows:
The time has come for us to part
Our school-day tasks are o'er;
We leave our school with aching heart
to return to her no more.

We'll all look back at the happy years
We've spent within her walls;
Then dry our tears and forget our fears,
For we know that duty calls.

Farewell, dear schoolmates, one and all
Dear teachers, too, farewell;
We haste with joy to heed the call,
Yet with grief our bosoms swell.

Although we soon may drift away,
Fond memories with us dwell;
We trust that we shall meet some day,
No more to say farewell.

ars was published in yesterday's pa-

ST. JOHN'S DAY
KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

BOSTON, June 21.—What the festival of St. John, otherwise Dec. 25, is to craft Masonry, June 24, or St. John the Baptist day, is to Knights Templar. Tasso within the bounds of the grand commentary of Massachusetts and Rhode Island have always made the occasion one of special significance, but the public observance has never been so elaborate a social as well as religious affair. Such observances have been made possible by the formation of a certain number of commanderies into groups or associations, and each of these in turn selects the host for its particular organization.

A few of the commanderies have preferred to recognize the day in a manner not suited to themselves, and so have not joined any associations, but the three in existence have determined that this year they will go beyond anything attempted in the past.

In Lighting Fire at Point of Pines

She Poured Kerosene
On the Fire

BOSTON, June 22.—Hosy Violet, aged 15, attempted to hurry up a fire in the kitchen of a cottage at Point of Pines yesterday afternoon by pouring kerosene into the stove, and as a result she died at 6:20 p. m. in the Lynn hospital. The cottage was entirely destroyed.

Members of the class of '95, Harvard, were having an outing near the place, and in addition to trying to save the young girl, contributed toward a fund for the 15 persons rendered homeless by the blaze.

The cottage was a two-story affair, situated about 50 feet from the Point of Pines. It was owned by Joseph O'Brien, an employee of the electric works at Lynn. He occupied one portion of the house with his wife and six children, while Frank Violet, and his wife and six children occupied the other section.

SHAPLEIGH CASE

For Malpractice is Not Prossed

SALEM, June 23.—In the superior criminal court yesterday afternoon, Justice
Stevens presiding, the cases against Dr.
Oran G. Cilley and Dr. John F. Lambert of Boston, and Arthur L. Shapleigh of Salem as accessory in performing an alleged criminal operation on Mrs. Ora M.
Shapleigh, Dec. 18, 1906, were on motion of Dist. Atty. Peters not prossed.
Mr. Peters said among other things that he took this course "as it was doubtful if the government could convict the defendants, and also that the alleged act was committed at the joint solicitation of the husband and wife under the idea that her physical condition demanded an operation to be performed.

Few cases in recent years in this section have attracted more attention.
Mrs. Shapleigh died suddenly at her home,
58 Federal street, Salem, Dec. 27, 1902.
A short time before death occurred her husband summoned Dr. James A. Simpson, and returning to the house remained a few minutes and then left his home. He first went to a bank and drew out $50, then to the B. & M. railroad station and boarded a train. His whereabouts were unknown for several months. Later he returned to Salem and gave himself up to the authorities and was immediately released on a nominal bond.

NOTICE TO BUSY BEES.

The Busy Bee Circle will be entertained
Thursday afternoon and evening, June

Features of Interest In Major League Baseball Races

How St. Louis, New York and Cleveland Americans and Cincinnati and Philadelphia Nationals Upset Calculations of Experts—Breezy Gossip of the Game

THE present major league baseball season has been one of the most interesting of recent years in several particulars—first, because of the unexpected strong showing of teams considered at the start of the season to be of debatable caliber; second, the record breaking closeness of the race in the American league and the material cutting down of the long lead obtained by the Chicago Cubs in the National; third, because of the large number of new and young men who have successfully

Griffith's Game Grabbers.

As regards the success of the New York American team in occupying the top rung in the championship ladder most of the season, there is much that could be said. The team is not a championship team. Only at times does it really put up a simon pure pennant quality of ball. Its pitching staff

Niles and Chase) has been second rate, in some instances execrable. On form the team is outclassed by Philadelphia, Detroit and Cleveland. Manager Clark Griffith has by his excellent generalship and drill in team work practically held the team at the head of the procession by main strength.

The Cleveland Climbers.

The Cleveland Blues finally succeeded in ousting New York from first place with a weaker team than that of the last three years, for Terry Turner, shortstop par excellence, and Elmer

They lose a game when they're seven runs ahead or win a game when seven runs behind with equal facility, and as a matter of course. The Blues seem to inherit this trait from the great Captain Lajoie. Larry is never more unconcerned or indifferent than when rounding third base on a home run hit with 18,000 or 20,000 human catpaws rearing on their hind legs and gashing the ambient atmosphere with their mappillaries. As long as the team makes money Larry doesn't care whether his troubadours win the pennant or not. That is the key to the Cleveland situation.

McAleer's Missourians.

The St. Louis Americans by ranking above Chicago and Detroit most of the season and by sticking to the first division equally persistently have, it must be conceded along the banks of the Mississippi, exceeded the most lurid dreams of their backers, and they achieved this without aid from Monsieur Charles Edward Waddell, nee Rolstering Rube, on whose occasionally exercised pitching prowess Manager Jimmy McAleer foolishly thought he could depend. Then, too, St. Louis has had to get along without Harry Niles, a brilliant all around fielder and one of the fleetest men in the American league, and Outfielder Hemphill, both obtained by New York.

The Rise of the Roseate Reds.

The Cincinnati Nationals have shone this year with a roseate incandescence that may be termed unnatural without hurting any one's feelings. Captain John Gangel ("Poppy John" of yore) is the man who has won credit for the Reds' performances. Think of a Cincinnati team leading the New York Giants! Think of a Cincinnati team having a firm hold on the first division for a considerable part of the season! Well, those are two of the accomplishments of the Reds this year.

The Phillies.

The Philadelphia Nationals were admitted on all sides to be of stellar timber when the season opened, but they have more than fulfilled expectations to date by putting up a hair raising battle for second place and maintaining consistent form at all times. The Phillies are of championship caliber, and whether or not they maintain this standard depends principally on their pitchers, for the other departments are holding up well.

Letting Strang Down Easy.

Here is an instance of an attempt on the part of baseball reporters to save from injury the feelings and in a measure the reputation of a player whom personally they like: Sammy

Strang, the utility man of the New York Nationals for several years, was recently announced to be on Manager McGraw's bargain counter for release. The New York scribers were fond of Sammy, so they stated in their columns almost unanimously that "Nicklin" was about to be released. "Nicklin" is Strang's right name, and very

my's correct name) is a native of Nashville, Tenn., and comes of a wealthy family, the members of which do not approve of his diamond career.

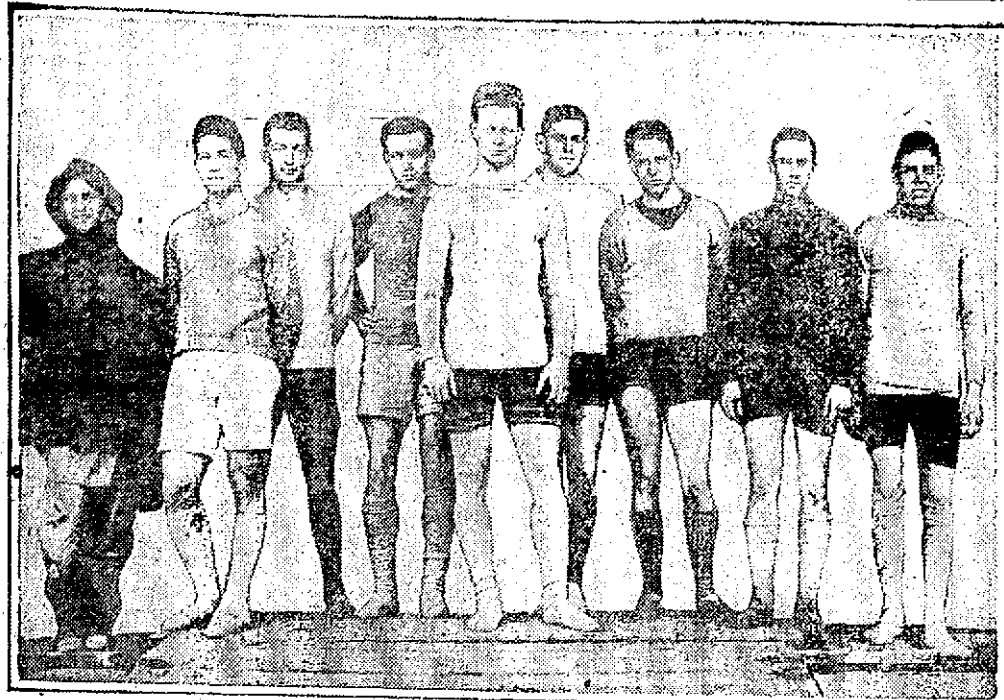

National Fight For Second Place.

In the National league the number of teams within hailing distance of second place has been unusual. Pitts-ence between the leaders and the tail enders was but 145, and only thirty-two points separated the leaders from the fifth team—quite unprecedented in latter day big league ball.

A Bantown Boom.

This photo shows Columbia's varsity crew which will row at the Poughkeepsie races. Six veterans of last year's crew, which came near winning the varsity race, are retained. Left to right—Winslow, coxswain; Ceruss, stroke; Keator, 7; Starbuck, 6; Captain Von Saltz, 5; Dellenbaugh, 4; Spaulding, 3; Jordan, 2; Shevilly, bow.

"Broken into" the big league game, and, fourth, because of the advance among players generally in the science of batting. Whether or not the improvement in batting is due to a retrogression in pitching, however, is a point that may well be seriously considered.

The teams that have particularly is weak. Its infield, with the able batsman, but immature shortstop, Ball, was wabbling. Without Elberfeld, its infield has been fair; but, while almost all possible outfield balls are caught or stopped, they have been too frequently handled badly after being caught or stopped. The team has been batting well, but its base running (excepting Flick, right field, have not been in good health of late. That was just like the Lajoie larrupers—to sag off when their team was strongest and to play pennant ball when weakened by the absence of two of their most reliable players. Nobody ever successfully guessed twice what the Blues would do at any given stage or in any stated situation.

few people knew this. So Sammy escaped considerable humiliation, while scores of fans were wondering and asking: "Who is this man Nicklin that McGraw is going to turn loose? Guess he must be some nearly pitcher from the gas house league that didn't make good." Sammy Strang Nicklin (Sam-

burg and Philadelphia have been closest to the Chicago leaders for the longest period, but New York, Cincinnati and Boston have for the most part been dangerous competitors.

The closeness of the American league race has been extraordinary. A few days ago the number of points differ-

though they have the aid of Outfielder George Browne, First Baseman Dan McGann and Catcher Frank Bowerman, they suffered a big loss when they lost their veteran and wise king pin of the infield, Captain Fred Tenney, whose generalship is high class. CHARLES E. EDWARDS.

Talk of the Summer Stage World—"Mary's Lamb"—Plans For Next Fall

[From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.]

RICHARD CARLE, who freely admits that "as a Romeo he is an onion," but falls to confess that as a comedian he is a very rare and superior sort of flower, has hung out his sign in front of the New York theater for a run in his latest musical production, "Mary's Lamb."

light productions, pronounced scantiness or suggestiveness of costume. "Mary's Lamb" is daring because of an artist's model chorus which sings and poses to loud applause and which concludes with a living picture effect, reminding one of the performances in the Parisian music halls scattered along the Champs de Elysees.

Mr. Carle as Leander Lamb.

Mr. Carle is seen in the role of Leander Lamb, a henpecked husband, whose wife, Miranda, is obsessed by an obsession to the effect that she is the one peachy pippin on the premises. Leander may quite improbably agree with her, but there are other premises, as he well knows, even though he is a resident of Haverstraw, N. Y.

Haverstraw, a most proper town, situated on the west bank of the Hudson river, he makes an appointment to meet a model in a studio, but wife Miranda, who has all the instincts of a Mrs. Sherlock Holmes, locates him and marches in. Whereupon long, lean, lanky Leander, who is alone, pretends to be asleep and promptly proceeds to put himself through a series of somnambulistic maneuvers. He walks across the floor (in his "sleep") and talks of the one he loves, the beautiful, queenly girl he loves, his lovely Miranda. So, of course, wife Miranda is appeased. She has wofully misjudged her Leander. Evidently matrimony in Haverstraw has its disadvantages. But who is there to say that matrimony anywhere else is in any way different?

Gunning by Glen McDougall and Victor Herbert: "Her Highness Radish," a musical comedy by Glen McDougall and F. Hollander; "Marcella," a Flixley-Luders operetta; "The Paradise of Mohammed," by Harry B. Smith; musical comedies for Eddie Fox, Jeff de Angeles, James T. Powers, Marguerite Clark, Sam Bernard and Lew Fields, a Rupert Hughes drama for Mrs. Nazimova, and "Gloria," in which Julia Marlowe will appear. Mary Mannerling will again be seen in "Glorious Betsey," by Rida Johnson Young.

When it is realized that the foregoing is but a fractional part of the programme for next season it will be realized that the leading managers have outlined an active campaign for the public's dollars. Evidently a concerted effort will be made to recoup the unfortunate losses in many quarters during the last year. There is of course the danger that every manager will be so anxious to participate in the inevitable revival of good theatrical times that fatal overproduction will result and cause a relapse. It should be remembered by such managers as have not heavy financial backing or resources at this time that every year in which a presidential election has occurred in the past has been a poorly paying one for the drama. Of course sufferers, but the cloud has spread over the big city attractions as well. Therefore the coming winter should be approached in conservative fashion.

Vassar Girls Produce Play on Boat.

The junior class at Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., recently gave a moonlight sail on the Hudson and a stage performance to the senior class on a large river boat, on the main deck of which a temporary stage had been erected. All of which is a reminder that there are a large number of plays and players which are well adapted to marine presentation. But the boat used should be a freight barge with sixteen 9x12 inch holes cut in the hull. There is nothing personal in this, of course.

At the present writing there are 21,372 theatrical press agents out of work. The brain energy represented by these men is estimated to be $93,422,903 horsepower when working under a full head of steam. This power now idle could supply more force for mechanical use than Niagara falls or the engines of all the woolen mills of New England. Is it any wonder that foreign critics write epics on the wasted resources of America? Think how much of our diminishing national supply of wood and coal could be preserved for posterity merely by harnessing the press agents disengaged each summer to electric dynamos!

WHERE ARE THE OLD ACTORS?

Where do all the actors go? It's a poor week in which one does not hear of this actor or that actress retiring from the stage. It's a poorer week in which some actor or actress whose name once was a household word does not retire unhonored by brass or cymbals. Where do they go? What becomes of all these players?

Who does not remember Piner's delightful "The Anaxions," the pretty comedy in which three girls were shown as having been raised as boys, but who, nevertheless, fell in love with three likable men and spoiled the plans of their parents? The prettiest and cleverest of the three was Georgia Cavan. A couple of years ago she died in a public institution and in poverty. Della Fox, inimitable once as the Prince Mataya in "Wang," lost her voice and had to accept vaudeville engagements at a figure at which she

HELD AT MOUNTAIN ROCK YESTERDAY.

At Mountain Rock, yesterday afternoon and evening, the well known and journeyman barbers had an outing which proved a highly enjoyable one. A delightful feature of the occasion was a baseball game between the journeymen and the master barbers, the former winning by a score of 15 to 11. The features of the game were the play on first of Stone, the catching of Nelson and the pitching of McKeen. After the ball game, Hon. Nelson and Nelson gave an exhibition of wrestling. During the afternoon Chris. Nelson gave some good open air music. Refreshments were served. Other outings are planned during the summer.

Elected Captain of the Lowell High Team

NINE PLAYERS WERE AWARDED "L's"

Season Was Successful Except Financially

The Lowell High school team has closed one of the most successful seasons in history from a baseball standpoint and one of the most unsuccessful from a financial standpoint. Why the patronage dropped off this year is a mystery as the boys played gilt-edged ball throughout. On account of a lack of funds the boys must go without sweaters.

Raymond Foye, catcher and first baseman of the high school baseball team, was chosen captain for next year at a meeting of the L members of this year's team, held at the school yesterday. Foye is a sophomore and has played on the team his two years in high school, and during that time has made a very creditable showing.

Outside of the Merrimack Valley League games, of which they lost two, the Lowell boys did not lose a contest, while they defeated such teams as Everett, winner of the championship of the Suburban league of schools about Boston; Melrose, second in the same league race; Arlington high, St. Joseph's college, and many others. In total points Lowell scored 141 points to 63 for opponents.

The following nine players were awarded their L's at a meeting of the athletic board: Captain George Mahoney, Jack Parker, Raymond Foye, Joseph Donahue, Clifford Stephens, Lindsay Thompson, Edward McVey, Cecil Dodge and Harry Swann.

Of the players that received their L's, Foye, Donahue, Stephens, Swann and McVey will return to school next year. While Woodley will be the only substitute to return.

AMERICAN VESSELS

TO BE EXCLUDED FROM CANADIAN TRADE ON PACIFIC.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 23.—American vessels will hereafter be excluded from the coasting trade of Canada on the Pacific. For some years the coasting laws of Canada have been suspended as far as the Pacific coast is concerned, owing to the fact that there was not enough Canadian and British tonnage to fill the trade requirements. American boats have done a large and profitable business between Seattle and Nona, carrying between two and three hundred tons of cargo. It has been decided by the government that there is enough Canadian and Canadian tonnage on the coast to look after the trade, and the same coasting regulation has been put into force for the Pacific coast as applies to the Atlantic.

SHAM WAR

TO BE ENGAGED IN AT BOSTON TOMORROW.

BOSTON, June 23.—The militia men and regular artillery men devoted most of their time today for preparations for the annual beginning of the sham war maneuvers tomorrow. It was expected that the declaration of war would be made at a military banquet and in anticipation of this the regular soldiers who had been assigned to the several forts to instruct the soldiers, conducted the infantry over the entire reservation on which the different forts were situated for the purpose of showing the lay of the land so that lines of defense might be located to properly cover all possible approaches and leading rivers, whether from the water and landward.

Company drill, bayonet exercises, advances, retreat and other formations were also drilled and practiced during the day.

An Attempt to Poison

Thos. May's Cows

CAKE FILLED WITH PARIS GREEN

Thrown About in the Pasture

Somebody, it would appear, is out to poison several cows belonging to Thos. May, the well known employee of the Locks & Canals company, who tends the gate at Pawtucket Falls. Mr. May resides in the house on School street, adjoining the gate house, and his cows pasture in the field along the river bank nearby.

When he went into the pasture this morning he found a large quantity of cake distributed about in the field where the cows graze. Taking it to his house and looking it over carefully, he found it to be filled with Paris Green, a sufficient quantity having been left to kill all of the cows, had they eaten it.

He notified the police, and Lieut. Brownson, called and took the cake away to the police station. The police will make an investigation.

JOSEPH ALBERT NEW BUILDINGS

Lost Big Roll of Bills at Depot

Undertaker Joseph Albert parted with a big roll of money last night in a very mysterious way. He was about to take a train for Canada and stepped into the telephone booth in the northern depot to phone to his place of business in Cheever street.

In his trousers pocket was placed his roll of bills and Mr. Albert is under the impression that in delving into his pocket to bring up the nickel required for a telephone toll, he unwittingly pulled up the money now missing.

After discovering his loss Mr. Albert repaired to the telephone booth, but there was no money there.

The loss of the money will not, however, prevent Mr. Albert from making his contemplated visit to Canada to meet his boy who is a student at college there, for he will leave for Montreal tomorrow night.
